Ford Pushes Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford says deep cuts in federal spending on space, public works and foreign aid would offset any need for a tax hike this year.

The cuts can be made in defense as well as nondefense spending, Ford said, in reiterating his opposition to the six per cent income tax surcharge proposed by President Johnson.

Here are Ford's responses to questions from The Associated Press:

Q. How much reduction would have to be made to stave off a tax hike?

A. The Congress and the President, working together, can surely achieve whatever spending cutbacks are necessary to match the revenue which might be obtained through a tax increase.

To date, the only definite surtax figure we have heard from the President is six per cent. The administration has estimated the revenue from imposition of a six per cent surtax on income taxes at $4.5 billion to $5 billion.

I feel certain that federal spending can be cut sufficiently to offset the President's demand for additional revenue in that amount.

Q. In what areas would you propose reductions? What specific programs?

A. The House has already cut presidential appropriation requests by $3.47 billion. Additional cuts will be made in the remaining appropriation bills. If the Senate will act accordingly, the Congress can reach the $4.5 billion to $5 billion goal I cited.

I believe the space, public works, foreign aid and military construction programs and non-Vietnam defense items can stand substantial cuts. There is nothing sacred about the man-to-the-moon timetable, and many public works projects could be deferred at least a year without harm.

Q. Could reductions be made in defense spending without impairing the war effort?

A. There is no question in my mind that defense spending for fiscal year 1968 can and should be cut. The House voted reductions of $1.22 billion in defense appropriations bills. The Defense Department could, on its own initiative, achieve further reductions without hurting the war effort.

THE DEXTER SWIMMING POOL is 20 per cent completed. The L-shaped pool, which costs $126,900, will accommodate 624.

Issue Summons To Plumbers

Four plumbers were issued summons by police Thursday charging them with failure to notify the city that work completed was ready for inspection.

Charged with violation of the city ordinance were: Gilbert Dover, 800 Pine, Henry Cook, 330 Luther, Marion A. Freeman, 700 Linn, and Odis Lee Morris, 318 Ruth.

Plumbers are required by city ordinance to notify the plumbing inspector Hugh Garrison when work is ready for inspection and test. The code also provides that all work shall be left uncovered for examination.

Garrison was appointed inspector Sept. 1, 1966, in the wake of a hassle between plumbers and city officials.

Five Years For Bribe

ST. LOUIS (AP)— Donald M. Schwartz of Fairlawn, N. J., a former procurement analyst for the Army Munitions Command at Dover, N. J., was sentenced today to five years in prison for soliciting a bribe from a St. louis defense contractor.

Schwartz was convicted July 13 in U. S. District Court of soliciting a bribe from the Kisco Co. of St. Louis while the Army was negotiating with Ksco for the manufacture of artillery shell shipping containers.

Dog, Press and Hook Injure

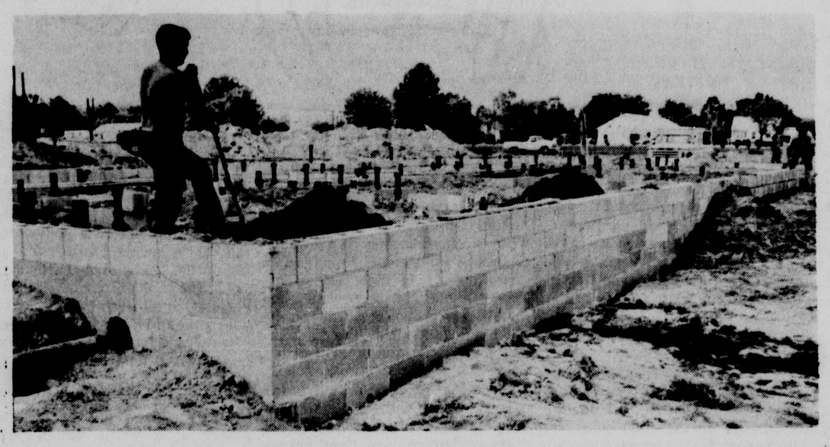
Three emergency patients were treated Thursday at the Missouri Delta Community hospital:

Calvin Taylor, Cape Girardeau, cut his ankle on a bean hook; Mary Stalcup caught the end of a finger in an air press; Randy Robert, Bloomfield, was bitten by a dog.

Correction

It was reported in Thursday's paper that Earnie Merick, 119 South Handy, was fined $6 on a charge of peace disturbance in City Court Wednesday.

He was not fined. The case was dismissed and Merick paid $6 in court costs.



DALE KIRKBRIDE of Dexter, an employe of Spears Construction Company, works on the bathhouse section of the Dexter public swimming pool. The pool is expected to be completed within 60 days.

Dexter Pool Ahead of Schedule

By Warren Sokolis

DEXTER - Construction on the $126,900 public swimming pool in East City Park is 20 per cent completed, Ralph Spears of Spears Construction Company says.

The pool should be completed within 60 days, although the contract calls for completion by Jan. 1. It will not be ready for use this summer.

Equipment for the pool is stored in warehouses at Dexter.

The pool will be L-Shaped, 42 by 165 feet, with a 40 by 40 feet diving well. A wading pool 40 feet in diameter will be provided for smaller children. A bathhouse will be included.

The pool will accommodate 624 persons, which is regulation capacity set by the state.

A $75,000 bond issue was passed last Nov. 15, and the city has received $50,000 in federal matching funds.

Strong Winds Accompany Rain

KANSAS CITY (AP)— Severe thunderstorms with high winds and at least one tornado moved across western and central Missouri early today.

Joplin and Springfield reported damage to power lines and trees. High winds also hit the Camden County area along the Niangua River, Conway and north of Waynesville.

R. T. Howard, a farmer living a mile and a half southeast of Fairgrove in Greene County, reported a tornado destroyed a shed and took the roofs off his barn and house. He said the twister "cleaned out" the trees in a nearby creek.

Power outages were reported in many areas. There was some glass damage in downtown Springfield. Joplin had 1.12 inches of rain.

Some of the heavier rainfalls in the state included: Clifton City 2.67, Harrisonville 2.39, Windsor 2.32, Unionville 2.22, Odessa 2.18 and Sedalia 1.78.

In the wake of the storms the weatherman said temperatures would be more seasonable with less humidity.

Saturday's highs will be mostly in the 80s.

Highs Thursday ranged from 89 at Cape Girardeau and Joplin to 83 at Vichy.

Temperatures through next Wednesday are expected to average near normal in the northwest and a few degrees below normal in the rest of the state.

Special Envoys Wind UP Thailand Visit

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and Clark Clifford, President Johnson's special two-man mission to Asia, conferred with Premier Thanom Kittikachorn for 2-1/2 hours today on developments in the Vietnam war.

The presidential envoys, wrapping up their two-day visit to Thailand, are going to Australia next. They planned to leave for Canberra by special Air Force jet late tonight.

Taylor, a former U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, and Clifford, chairman of the federal Intelligence Advisory Board, reportedly discussed a planned summit meeting of the Vietnam war allies and an increase in allied troop strength.

Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman, in a brief session with newsmen, predicted concrete action would result from the visit, but declined to go into detail.

A decision as to troops, "must wait until exhaustive studies have been made," he said. As to another summit conference, he said: "It will come, but it is not a matter of urgency."

The site of such a meeting is "secondary," he said.

In Manila the decision to drop the Philippines from the itinerary of Taylor and Clifford aroused speculation that opposition by President Ferdinand E. Marcos' administration forced the cancellation.

There were indications that the presence of the two Americans might have proved an embarrassment to Marcos at a time when he is fighting to maintain the Philippines' 2,000-man commitment to the war.

Reliable Electricity Promised Hospital

The board of municipal utilities authorized the purchase of an automatic control switch to be installed on the Missouri Delta Community Hospital electric circuit, E. R. Inman, director, announced today.

The cost of the switching equipment is $3,135. It will be installed this summer or fall.

The switch will increase the reliability of service to the hospital.

When a fault occurs on the primary hospital circuit, the switch will automatically shift the power load to another circuit. After repairs are made on the primary circuit, the load will automatically switch back to it, Inman explained.

Inman said the Sikeston Light and Water Co. received approval from the National Electrical Manufacturing Association to operate gold and bronze medallion home programs for all-electric new homes.

Hornung Retires

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Paul Hornung, Golden Boy of the National Football League for a decade, announced his retirement today rather than risk permanent spinal injuries.

The 31-year-old Hornung, all-NFL halfback three times for the Green Bay Packers, said he received an explicit medical warning of "permanent, detrimental results" to his spinal cord if he received another jarring football-type injury.

Hornung's retirement was announced by John Mecom Jr., owner of the New Orleans Saints, who acquired Hornung in the expansion draft this year.

The retirement confirmed earlier reports from tests at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., which indicated an injury Hornung suffered last year resulted in his present condition.

Hornung said he hurt his neck while scoring a touchdown against the Chicago Bears, when a Bear player fell on him.

Cattle Price Making Looms

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — An agricultural economist said today, "if the cattle industry is to remain independent and not be absorbed by slaughter-retailing, industrywide price-making probably will become necessary."

Dr. Harold F. Breimyer of the University of Missouri addressed an American National Cattlemen's Association conference.

He said such price-making need not require tight control over supply, provided no great lifting of price is sought. For a big gain, effective supply control would, of course, be essential."

Breimyer said an open market can exist only if limits are placed on the size of meat packers and retailers. He said he also favors putting a limit on the extent to which one firm is engaged in all aspects of the industry.

Three Injured in Two Accidents on Highways

Two vehicles were damaged but neither driver received injury in a collision Thursday at 5:20 p.m. on highway 61, 10 miles south of Sikeston.

A 1963 Ford driven by Johnnie Templeton, 46, Sikeston, was traveling north, when struck by a 1965 Chevrolet pickup truck, driven by Charles Workman, 29, route one, Matthews, who pulled out from a stop-sign into the path of the car.

Workman was arrested on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way.

Two persons were treated at the Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in Hayti for injuries received Thursday at 7:05 p.m. on highway 61, four miles north of Hayti.

A 1962 Volkswagen, driven by Louis Mayo Jr., 28, Blytheville, Ark., crossed the center line while an unidentified car was approaching. Mayo lost control, ran off the right side of the road and overturned.

Mayor received possible neck and scalp injuries, while a passenger, Van Whittle, 28, Canalou, received a possible neck and back injuries.

Mayo was given a summons for careless and reckless driving while drinking.

David Wilson, 16, Dexter, received a possible leg and back injury Thursday at 8 p.m. on highway 25, four miles south of Bloomfield.

He was driving a 1965 Chevrolet when he lost control on wet pavement and skidded into a ditch. He was taken to the Poplar Bluff hospital.

DeGaulle Reports

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle called in Premier Georges Pompidou today and presumably the main topic was DeGaulle's interrupted trip to Canada. But the furor seemed to be dissipating.

Spain, originally colonized by the Phoenicians and Greeks, later became a part of the Roman world.

French Protest British Broadcast

LONDON (AP)— The French Embassy protested to the Foreign Office today about a broadcast on British television Thursday night concerning President Charles de Gaulle and the controversy over French Canada.

The broadcast showed an actor dressed similarly to De Gaulle, speaking French and imitating some of the general's well-known gestures.

Hahn Drops Appeal

BENTON -- Harold Hahn has voluntarily withdrawn an appeal to the Supreme Court of Missouri calling for a contest of the election of Aubrey Michael as collector of Scott county on Nov. 8, 1966, Circuit Clerk Lynn Ingram said today.

Hahn withdrew his appeal on the grounds that he is no longer a resident of Missouri, Kenneth Dement, attorney for Hahn said. The withdrawal was filed in open court Tuesday, and will be sent to the Supreme Court for disposition, Ingram said.

Hahn had contested in a notice of contest that 574 votes cast in the November election were voided and should have been counted for him.

Circuit Judge Marshall Craig held Hahn's petition invalid and entered an order to dismiss the election contest Feb. 3, following a hearing on motions filed in the case on Jan. 26.

Hahn is employed by Mutual of Omaha Insurance Co. and has moved to Alabama, Dement said.

Hahn came within 345 votes of winning the Nov. 8, election as a write - in candidate for the office of collector.

Three Arrested on Bad Check Charge

Three believed to be from Fort Payne, Ala., were arrested Thursday and charged with passing bad checks totaling $290 in grocery and variety stores.

Sgt. Ruben Templeton placed the trio under arrest after they were taken into custody in New Madrid by Trooper Robert P. Eddleman.

Charged with passing bad checks were Barbara and Freddie Myrick and Lillian Mae Kelly.

The trio was spotted in Portageville driving north. Trooper Eddleman arrested them in New Madrid.

Nine checks ranging from $18.50 to $36.50 were passed at Barkett's Big Star, Ben Franklin Store, P. N. Hirsch, at the Mid-Towner Village, Quick Shop, North Main, and Learue & McKinney Bet-R-Valu Food Market at Miner.

Six of the checks were passed on June 30, two were passed June 3, and one was passed June 29.

Police put out a dispatch to highway patrol troop E headquarters in Poplar Bluff Tuesday with a description of two women suspected of passing the checks.

They were accompanied when arrested by a 14 - year - old boy identified as the brother of Freddie Myrick and the Myrick's baby when the arrest was made. The boy and the baby are staying with relatives here.

Accident Causes More Power Loss Than Storm

When the lights went out at about 8 p.m. Thursday in the west section of Sikeston, most people thought the heavy lightning caused the power failure. Not so.

An automobile struck a utility pole at South West and Daniel streets at 7:40 p.m. Thursday and knocked out the power supply of about 80 electrical customers.

Police reported that Robert L. Morphis, 17, 1724 Oklahoma, was charged with careless and imprudent driving. The car he was driving struck a utility pole on the northeast corner of the intersection, and damaged the utility and telephone lines.

About 70 customers of the Sikeston Light and Water Co., in Clayton Addition were without power for about two hours following the accident, E. R. Inman, director, said.

The utility pole also supported Missouri Utilities lines and eight to 12 of their customers experienced a brief power failure, Morris French, meter foreman, said.

A telephone line was downed by the same accident, but only one customer was put out of service by the mishap, John Donoho, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. manager, said.

Lightning caused some power shortages Thursday. James Stephenson, manager of REA, said about 50 customers between Catron and Parma had no power between 8 and 9 p.m.

Calls were received for repairs till about 11 p.m., Stephenson said, but damage on the whole was light. An automatic oil circuit and a lightning arrestor were damaged, he said.

Missouri Utilities reported having power lines downed by falling limbs in Morehouse and Miner, but only a few customers were affected. Lightning struck a transformer north of town, but only one customer was affected, French said.

The Sikeston Light and Water Co., reported that lightning struck a line and blew a fuse early in the afternoon Thursday causing an outage of about five minutes. No other trouble was caused by the storm, Inman said.

Cong Leader May Be out

TOKYO (AP) — A broadcast from Hanoi today suggested Tran Nam Trung, once identified as commander of the Viet Cong, has been replaced.

Trung, 53, is a professional revolutionary notable primarily for the lack of information put out about him by the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The North Vietnamese News Agency, quoting a dispatch from the Viet Cong's Giai Phong Press Agency on a meeting in South Vietnam July 23, identified Trung as "vice president of the presidium of the front's CC (Central Committee) and head of the Commission for Foreign Relations."

The foreign relations post had been held by Tran Buu Kiem.

The broadcast said nothing about who may have succeeded him in the guerrilla military jobs or what happened to Kiem.

DMZ Sites Invaded

SAIGON (AP)— The U.S. Marines invaded the southern half of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam today for the second time in the war. Their targets were the North Vietnamese mortar and artillery positions which have been shelling Leatherneck posts just south of the zone.

The U.S. Command also announced another dogfight over North Vietnam with a MIG21 probably shot down and seven U.S. plane losses over the North which had not been revealed before.

Men of the 9th Marine Regiment moved into the demilitarized zone before dawn just north of Con Thien, the Leatherneck outpost 10 miles from the South China Sea where a Red barrage killed 2 Marines and wounded 12 Thursday night.

There was no immediate report that the Marines had encountered any enemy opposition.

It was the first American penetration into the three-mile-wide southern half of the zone since May 19, when the Marines and South Vietnamese troops invaded the southern sector to root out North Vietnamese gun posts. The allied force withdrew after a week.

U.S. Command said since then the Communists have again begun digging in artillery and mortars.

The latest dogfight took place Thursday when a pair of MIG21s tried to jump an Air Force reconnaissance flight north of Hanoi but were attacked by a pair of Air Force Phantoms flying escort.

The MIG's dived with the Phantoms in pursuit and one Phantom pilot fired a Sidewinder missile. The missile was right on the MIG's tail when the Red disappeared into a cloudbank, the pilots said. The Air Force scored it as the 11th probable MIG kill of the war.

The plane losses announced today brought the total number U.S. combat planes reported lost over the north to 624. The rate of losses over the north is now running at slightly more than one plane daily.

U.S. Command said the latest jet downed was an Air Force Phantom Wednesday, with both crewmen listed as missing.

No details were given on the other losses but it was understood they were downed during the past week.

Air strikes against North Vietnam continued undiminished Thursday. U.S. headquarters said 150 missions were flown, mostly against supply lines between the Hanoi-Haiphong area and the 17th parallel border with South Vietnam. But one Air Force group hit the rail line connecting Hanoi with the industrial area of Thai Nguyen 40 miles above the capital.

The Marine penetration of the demilitarized zone was the most significant ground action reported although the U.S. Command said scattered contacts were made throughout the nation and 35 major infantry operations were in progress.

Presumably the Marine operation will be a brief foray into the zone. However, a military spokesman would say only that the Marines were in the zone for "the destruction of neutralization of enemy artillery and mortar positions south of the Ben Hai River."

Plant at West Plains Picketed

WEST PLAINS, Mo. (AP) — Pickets appeared this morning at the plant of the Southwest Body Co., which makes helicopter repair trucks for the Army. The firm employes 223.

There was no immediate comment from the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, but an official from the local headquarters at St. Louis was reported en route here.

The walkout apparently stemmed from the discharge of two employes the company said had violated company policies.

Artillery Fires Free GI From Viet Captors

ALONG THE CAMBODIAN BORDER, Vietnam (AP) — Andrew York bit desperately into the crude ropes binding his wrists, tearing at the stands with his teeth and unmindful of the blood the rough fibers drew.

Minutes earlier the slim, 19-year-old infantryman from the Infantry Division, was being carried into captivity by North Vietnamese soldiers who had overwhelmed his platoon in the rain forest along the border between Vietnam and Cambodia.

Both of York's legs had been shattered by a mortar round as he was firing his machine gun at the dozen brown-clad Vietnamese rushing at him through elephant grass. He fainted. When he came to, the roar of battle was stilled, his wrists were tied to his belt, and his Communist captors stood around him. Two of them grabbed his arms, two others his feet, and York— from the little town of Chelsea, Maine, married on May 5 to his childhood sweetheart and sent to Vietnam a week later— was on his way to captivity.

But the battle last Sunday was by no means over.

Circling overhead in a helicopter was the battalion commander, Lt. Col. Thomas P. Lynch of Spokane, Wash., who called for silence on the busy radio net so he could hear the last man on the platoon's radio set.

"Charger (the battalion commander's code name), everyone else is dead," the voice said. There were some mumbled words about home and mother. Then "Charger, I'm dying". The set went silent.

Lynch assumed everyone in the platoon was killed. Numerous North Vietnamese could be seen below. He ordered in artillery barrages on top of them.

York, numb with pain, was being carried into the jungle as the first rounds came in. The two Vietnamese carrying his legs were killed in the first blast. The men at his shoulders dropped him to the ground.

"I realized they were our shells," York said later at a hospital. "I was sure the Communists would kill me then, what had they to lose? And if they didn't, then our artillery would get me. I thought I was dead for sure. All I could do was pray, and you better believe I was praying."

The barrage ended quickly. York was alone beside the two dead men who had been carrying his legs. He tugged painfully at his belt and pulled his wrists free so he could get his teeth to the ropes. Then he started chewing feverishly.

The North Vietnamese battalion that had overwhelmed the 30-man platoon - killing 18 of the Americans — had reached the company perimeter where another 30 Americans were lying in foxholes.

Commanded by Capt. William C. Pratt of Edinburg, Tex., they were soon under rocket and machine gun attack from the shadowy figures at the edge of the clearing.

The big American guns to the rear slammed shell after shell at the enemy, a total of 6,682 in three hours.

U.S. Air Force bombers roared in as the artillery lifted briefly, searing the jungle and grassy clearings with napalm and heavy bombs. Armed helicopters slashed at trails with their machine guns.

One of Capt. Pratt's platoons fought its way back to the company perimeter. Then Capt. Neill D. Buie of Wisner, La., burst across the clearing with 120 men.

From then on, it became "a mechanical process," Lynch said, "a complete destruction and neutralization of the area" with heavy gunfire.

A total of 170 Communists were killed; 19 Americans were dead.

Alive amid the destruction were Pfc. York and 10 others in his platoon, all wounded. York had managed to bite through his ropes, had dragged his mangled legs through the jungle to join up with some of his buddies, and gave a weak, painful cheer as the rescue troops arrived.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Bruce Barton died this month.

Outside the fields of advertising and business and among old time Republicans probably few Americans remembered him.

But Barton's name will go down in the history of American advertising.

He was the last surviving founder of that mouthfull name advertising agency - Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborne - almost as much the object of musical comedy and stage satire as it is well known in the world of advertising.

B.B.D.&O., as it is more familiarly known to the trade, is one of the world's most highly respected and largest advertising agencies.

Barton had retired as chairman of the agency's board after a quarter of century of service but he maintained an office at the New York headquarters.

He was known as the elder statesman of advertising.

During a long, self-made career the boy who came to Madison Avenue from Robbins, Tenn., wrote many magazine articles.

His book, "The Man Nobody Knows," a life of Christ, became a best seller.

He served part of a term in Congress but went down to defeat for the United States Senate in a landslide of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal.

Barton had a well defined gift of stating any problem in simple English which anyone could understand.

In this country, where critics occasionally attack advertising as an expense instead of an investment, his description of advertising should be repeated again and again long after his death: "Advertising is a creative force that has generated jobs, new ideas, has expanded our economy and has helped to give us the highest standard of living in the world."

Could anyone say it better?

MINI VACATIONS

A Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Federal Charters, Holidays, and Celebrations begins hearings, Wednesday, July 26, on bills to establish more three-day holiday weekends. Typical measures would fix five major holidays on Mondays - Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Veterans Day and Thanksgiving. Labor Day already is fixed on a Monday.

On the House side, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton (D N.Y.) has a measure before the House Judiciary Committee. Stratton has been pushing the idea for eight years.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce also is a sturdy advocate of the fixed long weekend, having distributed about 200,000 booklets expounding the idea across the nation. The Chamber's reasoning is not entirely lacking in self-interest. It costs money to shut down a plant for the weekend, start up Monday, and then shut down again for a holiday Tuesday. The alternative is double pay or more for those working the holiday.

The Chamber last autumn took an opinion poll of its business members. Nearly 10,000 members responded, making it the second most popular poll ever conducted by the organization. A whopping 85 per cent approved the idea.

One hitch. The Senate subcommittee on holidays is headed by Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen (R Ill.). (A practice of long standing has one Judiciary subcommittee chairmanship going to a senator from the opposition party.) And it's hard to see the star of the hit recording, Gallant Men, playing around with the birthdate of the Father of his Country. So far, Dirksen isn't talking.

In any event, the three-day holiday is probably inevitable. Like daylight saving time, it just makes sense.

SENATOR LONG IN TROUBLE

Missouri Senator Edward Long's refusal to identify legal clients he has referred to Morris A. Shenker, a St. Louis attorney, may be in accord with ethical canons of the bar, but it is nevertheless politically damaging. The Senator has acknowledged receiving more than $48,000 in referral fees from Mr. Shenker, whose clients include the Teamsters Union.

Mr. Long has been discussing his affairs with the Senate Ethics Committee and defending his refusal to be specific on the ground of confidential lawyer-client relationships. He reportedly has told the committee the referred legal work involved corporate, trust, estate, personal injury and business cases, but no federal, state or criminal cases. He has made a point that there has been no showing of wrongdoing in his activities.

It is true that there is no proof of wrongdoing. But implications can be read into the situation by political opponents. Unless Mr. Long can produce and explanation that is satisfactory to the voters of Missouri, he may have an uphill fight for renomination and reelection next year.

Mr. Long's plight has already caused a surge of activity among the state's politicians. It has increased the pressure on Representative Thomas B. Curtis of Webster Groves to become the Republican candidate for the Senate. If Mr. Long appears politically vulnerable to the Democrats it would open the way for a Democratic Senate candidate such as Lt. Gov. Thomas Eagleton. And if Mr. Curtis tries for the Senate it would permit a strong GOP candidate - St. Louis County Supervisor Lawrence Roos, for example - to seek his House seat.

So there may be a good deal hanging on the fate of Senator Long. Whether he can identify the clients (which he might do if he obtained their permission) we do not know. But it is plain that unless he can clear himself of all suspicion and remove the matter of the referral fees from the coming campaign, he is in trouble. - Post Dispatch

MRS. KENNEDY'S BIRTHDAY

"You have two compartments," Mrs. John F. Kennedy told a newspaper reporter in October 1960: "Your private life and public life." The first compartment has never been as large or unassailable as Mrs. Kennedy might wish, but it has survived constant battering by communications media and the public. Thus, her 38th birthday anniversary, on Friday, July 28, no doubt will be celebrated quietly by members of the family and perhaps a few close friends.

The past year has been a trying one for Jacqueline Kennedy. Her battle with William Manchester over the contents of Death of a President brought her once again into the limelight. It also gave rise to the widespread criticism of her behavior since the assassination of President Kennedy.

While Mrs. Kennedy cannot prevent her picture from appearing on the covers of movie magazines, she can see to it that her children are shielded from the glare of publicity. Few pictures of Caroline and John Jr. appear in magazines or newspapers, and rarely is anything written about them. In time they will become public figures, as their mother is today, but childhood is a time for privacy.

If it were not for the fact that it is so damn serious the manuevering of President Johnson and Governor Romney in the Detroit burning, destroying, and looting would be ludicrous.

The governor is a candidate for President, so is Johnson, so Romney wants to put the cat on Johnson's back by calling for federal troops instead of using the Michigan national guards.

Local police can handle all of those riots if the ones in charge will tell them to stop the looting and burning.

The shooting to stop it should be aimed at the white looters as well as at the Negroes.

Pictures and wire stories confirm the fact that there are white as well as black that do the rioting and looting.

NEW YORK (AP) — Should the government pay fat people to lose weight?

Why not?

At first glance the proposal may sound ridiculous, but if all factors are considered, it makes at least as much sense as many other government support programs.

If Uncle Sam is willing to pay a farmer an allotment to reduce his acreage under cultivation, why shouldn't he be equally willing to hand a little cash to tubby city dwellers as an incentive to hold down their production of fat?

Such a program is fundamentally sound because all concerned would profit, including the government itself.

How? Well, let's see.

Let us first examine a typical fatty case today, Sam Slugg, a middle-aged breadwinner with a wife and two kids, a $12,000 annual income, and 40 pounds of excess body weight.

"Sam," his doctor warns him, "you've got to take off those 40 pounds or you're going to die 10 years early. It's as simple as that."

"Okay," says Sam, whose conscience already has been bothering him because he knows that fat is unpatriotic and un-American. "I'll go on a diet."

He does go on a diet and begins to count his calories like a miser. He even joins a gym club to get more exercise. The first few pounds evaporate like morning dew under a hot sun.

Then Sam runs into a few hard facts that every dieter learns:

That losing weight is hard, lonely, grueling work.

In time, discouraged by hunger pangs and the lack of any evident reward, Sam relapses into his old pattern.

Just as the doctor promised, Sam dies 10 years early, and soon his family is on government relief.

An, but what a different end to the story if an alert government, wise to the true financial situation, should enter the picture.

Here's what happens:

An agent from the U.S. Internal Revenue Service phones Sam:

"Sam, your doctor tells us you've got to drop 40 pounds or you'll be off our tax rolls 10 years early. We don't want that to happen because in 10 years we figure to collect maybe $30,000 from you.

"So here's our deal. We'll give you a $1,000 cash bonus the day you can show us you've lost those 40 pounds, and we'll pay you $100 a month in cash for every month that you stay at that level."

Well, what live taxpayer wouldn't jump at the chance to get something back from the government? Who wouldn't take off weight if he was paid to do it?

Sam quickly fasts away the 40 pounds and has so much energy he doubles his salary, which makes the tax people as happy as it does him.

STATISTICIANS NOT BARGAIN HUNTERS

Not long ago, the National Commission on Food Marketing, after some two years of study, released its Report on the food industry. The report leaves much to be desired in knowledge of the food production and distribution system. However, one finding of the Report is highly significant. The Commission unanimously agreed that the Consumer Price Index can be improved.

The Commission discovered that the government listing of retail prices--particularly in fresh meat -- is markedly overstated because, among other reasons, it doesn't give enough consideration to weekend specials in the supermarket. Rare is the consumer who does not take advantage of these specials. They are an integral part of the modern mass-distribution system under which merchants, both chain and independents, endeavor to move a maximum volume at minimum prices. Consumers are apparently more familiar with the day to day operation of the distribution system than the compilers of the price index.

It is unlikely that government statistics will ever be able to measure accurately the performance of prices in a free market. Statisticians are not bargain hunters. That is why the housewife can beat the statistics. Also, a set of statistics cannot foresee or measure the resourcefulness of the merchant who is endeavoring to meet the changing tastes and demands of consumers. In fact, as long as the free play of supply and demand and competition govern the distribution system, the price index should be looked upon with a wary eye.

One thing is certain. It is far better to have indices that cannot keep up with the flexibility of the market than to have fixed prices in a controlled market for the convenience of the statisticians.

"What's the matter?" asked the little girl. "Giving up?"

Everything was at a standstill. Both telephone girls were sick and no one could operate the switchboard.

Three men were ready to step into the president's shoes at a moment's notice; two were treading on the heels of the sales manager; the bookkeepers were prospective auditors; the stenographers were budding secretaries.

Every one had equipped himself with special knowledge for the big jobs. Of fifty people, none had learned the technique of a small job. And so the mighty brain power of a whole organization was halted until a switchboard operator could be found.

We need men who are familiar with the broad principles of business technique, but the fact remains that you can think and plan a business into bankruptcy if no one is willing to concern himself with details.

The old idea of starting a boy in with a broom had a certain measure of merit.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- On May 14, this writer devoted a column to the city of Detroit and its mayor, Jerome Patrick Cavanagh, describing him as the No. 1 glamor mayor of America, now facing the fact that his wife had left him, that he had spent too much time traveling abroad, that his city had the biggest crime increase of any in the USA and that he faced a recall.

The mayor vigorously denied these points and threatened a libel suit over the report that his wife had left him.

As of this week, unfortunately, most of the above facts resulted in tragic headlines across the nation. Mrs. Cavanagh sued for separate maintenance. The police let part of the population get completely out of hand. And the city faced $200,000,000 of damages in the worst street looting in the last half century.

Traveling over Detroit by helicopter, observers looked down on charred walls, lone chimneys, smoking ruins, a scene familiar to American bomber pilots over Germany in World War II. No one would ever have thought it could happen in America.

Yet it did happen, in a city which was completely integrated, where Negores had lucrative jobs in the auto plants, the only city in the USA sending two Negroes to congress. In Detroit, Negroes and whites for many years have lived side by side. Most of them owned their own homes. Walter Reuther years ago had welcomed Negroes into the United Auto Workers, making it one of the most completely integrated unions in the nation.

THE DETROIT STORY

Yet sections of this model city now lie in smoldering ruins.

Why? There is no one reply to that question; but telling the story of what happened may give the answers.

Trouble began at 5 a.m. Sunday when the police raided the "Blind Pig" in the 12th Street area. There is a 2 a.m. closing time for liquor establishments in Detroit, and the police would have been remiss had they failed to raid the Blind Pig.

Inside they arrested 70 Negroes, and started to load them into three cars. However they did not get them loaded fast enough, and a crowd of pimps and prostitutes gathered. They began to hoot and jeer, then threw rocks at car windows.

This points to one reason for the Detroit outbreak -- namely, the crime increase and police failure to clean it up. Those who started the Detroit riots were the criminal element. But they spread. The Detroit riots were the criminal element. But they spread. And Detroit police, understaffed by 500 men, were inadequate.

At first, however, it was not their fault. They were ordered not to resist looters. The head of the civil rights commission, Damon Keith, a Negro who is expected to become a federal judge, phoned the news media asking them not to publicize the riots; to give Negro leaders time to get things under control.

Congressman John Conyers, a Negro invaded the 12th Street area to urge his fellow Negroes to keep the peace. Conyers was knocked off the top of his car.

Meanwhile the police stood by, still under orders not to shoot. All over town this word spread like wildfire. It was a free license to loot. Black and white citizens alike took advantage of that license. Out of one store the Negroes carried a safe. A policeman looked the other way.

Through Sunday the looting continued. Food, appliances, furs, clothing, firearms, all were carried away by the armful or the truckload. Drug stores and liquor stores were broken open. Looters got drunk on gin and hopped up on drugs.

Finally, late Sunday evening, the National Guard was ordered in. But there was another delay of three hours. Meanwhile the looting continued. And during the Sunday night it spread to the east side, and a day later to Pontiac and surrounding cities. Like a prairie fire it spread.

One committee representing 191 grocers told their story. All white, they had been wiped out. They had not been able to get insurance in that part of town. One man told how he had worked seven days a week for 24 years, saved up $28,000. Now all was gone.

There was a total of 714 reported fires. Early Monday morning a woman called the fire department, beseeching them to come to her home. She said it was on fire.

The department responded to her entreaties. The fire engines ran into a deadly crossfire of shooting. It was a trap. The firemen had to abandon two of their trucks.

Police commissioner Ray Girardin had organized crack emergency police squads to cope with the riots in different sections of Detroit. They remained immobile, not called upon to operate.

The reasons for the razing of some parts of America's fifth biggest city can be summarized as follows:

1. The criminal element in Detroit was unruly even before the riots started. They started the trouble. After that, looting by all elements got out of hand.
2. The Detroit police were ordered not to fire on looters.
3. The Stokely Carmichaels, Floyd McKissicks, Brett Browns and other extremists among Negro leaders had been given so much publicity on television and elsewhere that too many Negroes believed their creed that the Negro had a right to "take."

The teacher asked Johnny, "Is the world round?"

"No'm," was the short reply.

"It isn't?" excaimed the teacher. "Well, then, Johnny, is it flat?"

"No'm," was Johnny's reply again.

"Well," said the teacher with a smile, "if the world isn't round, and it isn't flat, then tell me, what is it?"

Johnny looked confident as he replied, "Dad says it's crooked!"

Jenny came running breathlessly. "It's all over the school!" she cried.

"What is?" asked the teacher, excitedly.

Doc. Duncan Says

It has been said that most nations in the past have been destroyed from within. Evidently most people can see that working in our nation now. It is necessary to get the propper kind of boys in high office. The kind that will do away with the constitution, disarm the people and enact restrictive laws, that the masser can't live with or obey. Seems like they are hoping for revolution and ecuse for a military dictatorship.

H. L. Hunt Says

KOSYGIN REMEMBERED

Some U.S. newspaper columnists and television commentators tried to portray Russian Premier Kosygin when he met with President Johnson in a New Jersey town as a mellowing man who would go far to see matters our way. Kosygin himself quickly showed the fallaciousness of this notion in his diatribe before the UN. The question is how the columnists and commentators could have forgotten for a moment that he is premier of the Soviet Union and thus a leading force in the worldwide conspiracy against freedom in the United States and everywhere else in the world.

Kosygin and men like him are responsible for the fact that 470,000 American servicemen must fight communist aggression in the jungles and rice paddies of Vietnam. They are responsible for the death of thousands of U.S. soldiers in South Korea. They are responsible for the cold war and a U.S. defense budget of approximately $70 billion a year.

Kosygin and his fellow-communists have turned Cuba into a Red bastion less than 100 miles from the U.S. shoreline. They are working now daily to export Fidel Castro's revolution to other countries of Latin America.

The Soviet premier's presence in this country should have reminded Americans forcefully of Soviet duplicity at Yalta, Potsdam, Cairo and Teheran, of political assassinations committed by hired Soviet murderers, of the massacre of 4,000 Polish officers in Katyn Forest, and of the unending communist persecution of religion. No mellow memories are aroused by Premier Kosygin. It is difficult to see how he could have any apologists in the United States.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

BEHIND THE RIOTS

Record Reveals Many Poverty Headquarters Infiltrated by Mao-ist, Castro - ite Guerrilla 'Youth'

Washington, D.C.: -- The poverty people had better look to their semantics. Revolutionary antics and propaganda operations of hundreds of their aides in the "lower depths" are turning the American dream into a nightmare.

They've not yet learned that they're taken literally and seriously when they orate in terms of the social revolution -- fight city hall, smash the establishment, crack the power structure, and put the wings on community action. When this sociological jargon seeps down to the ghettos it begets violence.

Yet the Office of Economic Opportunity (O.E.O.) and thousands of its tiny -- sometimes store-front -- headquarters are loaded with literature and promoters of street action. Some of the latter are of the new left, the independent Mao - ists, the Trotskyites, the pro - Peking Progressive Labor Party "youth" and even Muscovite Communist Party activists including an occasional old time courier.

Someone said recently there are minuscular movements which inject large doses of Catroitis into the teeming regions of the turbulent poor. Many "new left" leaders operate their own crusades and in some fashion, by becoming sub - units of subsidiaries of sections of regional groupings of the poverty program, receive federal subsidies.

It's gotten so out of hand that one of the O.E.O.'s highest officials, himself a militant liberal out of the labor movement, moaned the other day that:

"The time has come to put the provocateurs away. Someone should have the courage to pick up Stokely Carmichael and that playwright Leroi Jones (specialist in the new lewd drama -- VR) and Rap Brown and put them in protective custody. They talk too much of killing and killing. They incite. They play into the Mao-ist hands. What will happen if we suddenly need five or six thousand U.S. army paratroopers in ten or twelve cities? Where will we get them? What will happen if they're not available?"

Thus bitterly spoke a man who has spent his entire life fighting for the poor and organizing unions on the roughest fronts, and who is considered one of the government's leading intellectuals. As Detroit, the model of city programming, burned, he added, "this is the stinkingest day of my life."

In many regions the poverty program has meshed well with the "power structure." But in many other heavily concentrated population centers it is out of control. In some areas of New York City, the record will show that street gangs have been subsidized by units of the poverty "crusade." The teen-age thugs have been wooed and even provided with money and store-front headquarters -- thus crippling the influence of moderate groups seeking to discuss housing and education.

There are receipted bills to prove that men identified with the Communists have been subsidized for organizing rent strike action, street movements and picketing of city hall.

There are experts who say they have evidence that youth operating on the fringe of the programs have distributed leaflets containing instructions for the manufacture of Molotov cocktails.

There was Leroi Jones' Black Arts Repertory Theatre in Harlem. It was brutally anti - white. When the police raided it they found a cache of automatic guns, small arms, ammunition, brass knuckles and explosives. This was no modern museum. It was a revolutionary cell. And it had been subsidized by Haryou-Act, a section of the poverty operation.

It is believed that, in one fashion or other, this is the pattern in Newark, Detroit and other fire - bombed cities. The militants don't start the riots. The federal government has no evidence that there are coast-to-coast flying squads. But once the flares and the criminal forces move in to loot and burn, then the revolutionary fervor billows up among the ghetto people. They have been listening so long to talk of social and community action, that they decide to implement the talk, which springs not only from on high here in the capital but from the youth of the small, intra - city revolutionary cells.

And it is the fashion to hire these young revolutionaries. They zero in on the poor who have been told to organize themselves and run the poverty program. The poor don't know that their districts have been colonized by the militant fractions such as the Maoist and revolutionary guerrilla actionists of the Progressive Labor Party.

Furthermore, the community action talk also comes from respectable circles which believe that the community people and community "unions" should smash the old labor establishment as well as the "power structure" at city hall.

Look at the record. Look at the network of Saul Alinsky "visible" operations. Even Walter Reuther's Citizens Crusade Against Poverty (CCAP) people talk in these terms.

About a year ago, Richard Boone, CCAP executive director, told me:

"As we see it the recruits would come into a central center for a month and they would be given a thorough history of work with the poor. . . The big question is whether we will play an Alinsky approach or be nice guys. Our position really is pragmatic. Local situations differ. People we train must be able to take the establishment on a conflict basis. Sometimes the operation must be less overt. . . Alinsky seeks out a powerful issue, housing maybe, school maybe, and literally attacks the establishment on that issue. This is a very visible process and generates support.

"We must train workers to take advantage of both approaches, the quiet and the overt action."

Certainly Mr. Boone did not have this week's Detroit in mind. But he and other sociologists and university people are long overdue in realizing that the semantics of the scholars can be the incendiaries of the proletariat.

They just don't talk a common language. Detroit, the model, proved that.

Dick Caskey Appearing In Theater

Dick Caskey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Caskey, 918 Allen Blvd. is appearing at the Starlight theater, a summer stock theater similar to St. Louis' municipal opera, in Kansas City this summer.

He is appearing in "The Unsinkable Molly Brown." Earlier he played the brother to Shirley Jones, Hollywood movie star, in "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever."

Caskey is a senior at the University of Kansas in Lawrence, in drama and lacks one semester of receiving his teaching degree in drama.

He appeared in productions in this high school and college career included "Music Man," "West Side Story" and "Tom Thumb."

The summer after his sophomore year at the University o Kansas he was among six students at the school selected by the state department to tour Europe and present dramatic productions. Six weeks were spent in countries behind the iron curtain.

A member of the chorus at the Starlight theater, Caskey was one of three selected to appear with the road company of "Music Man" during its run.

The oldest naval weapon, the ram -- an underwater beak for puncturing an enemy vessel -- had a curious career in modern sea warfare. Rams had worked well on ancient oar-driven galleys but not at all on sailing craft, too slow and unmaneuverable for ramming through the age of sail. In the 1860's, the ram made a comeback because steam propulsion gave ships new speed and control, and -- paradoxically -- because armor plating hardened them. When ironclads' cannonballs bounced harmlessly off each other, it seemed the only way to left to hurt an enemy was to ram him. After some Civil War use, ramming made a big hit in an 1866 Austrian-Italian battle. The Austrian flagship, though without a ram, drove its orn bow into the Italian flagship, which sank quickly. That smashing success set a fashion in warships. Every heavy ship launched thereafter in the world's navies bore a ram. This device was not the ancient sharp spike - which might jam immovably in a pierced hull --but a rounded bump of solid metal, weighing 20 tons, designed to crush the side in. Ironically, the only damage these massive bludgeons ever accomplished was by mistake. Half a dozen harbor collissions between warships and other craft proved lethal, culminating in an 1893 accident when one parading British battleship struck another, sinking it with crew and fleet admiral. But in war, torpedoes and shells now kept fighting ships far apart, making the ram useless. It was finally discarded forever in the early 1920's.

Robert the five-year-old son of an Army general and well aware that no one dared complain to his father, was the terror of the post and made life miserable for all the officer neighbors. But one day Robert met his Waterloo.

Colonel Jones was planting tulip bulbs in his yard. Robert was right behind him, digging them up. The colonel asked him to stop. Robert went right on digging up bulbs. Colonel Jones could stand no more and shouted, "Robert, get out of my yard!"

"I don't have to," retorted Robert. "You know why? Because my father's a general - that's why."

"Well," rejoined the colonel, "my father's a general, too."

"My father has two stars," said Robert.

"My father has four stars," said the Colonel firmly. Visibly shaken, Robert left the colonel's yard, never to bother him again.

Charlton-Hornback Vows Pledged in Kentucky

WINGO, Ky. -- The Methodist church was the scene June 23 at 7:30 p.m. for the candlelight wedding of Miss Marilyn Ann Charlton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Charlton, and David Hornback, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hornback of Charleston, Mo.

The Rev. John Boyd officiated at the ceremony.

The vows were pledged before an arch, entwined with greenery and flanked by twin baskets of white gladioli and wrought iron candelabra. A lighted taper was in each church window.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a white bridal satin empire style gown with an A-line skirt and elbow length bell sleeves. Hand applique rose designs accented with tiny pearls were on the sleeves and lower center skirt, matching the ones also on the train. This gown was fashioned by the mother of the bride.

Her bouffant elbow-length veil was attached to a satin pill box with pearls, and her bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white carnations, lily of the valley, with a detachable miniature white rose corsage in the center.

Mrs. Ralph Fite, pianist and Mrs. Howard Ward, soloist, presented the nuptial music.

Mrs. Gail Roberts, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Andra Wallace, Hopkinsville, and Miss Doris Elliott, of Wingo, sorority sisters of the bride.

They wore pale yellow crepe floor-length empire frocks, accented with matching flower trim. Their headpieces were of yellow net, attached to a yellow fabric rose.

Each carried one long stemmed yellow rose.

Shari Roberts, niece of the bride, was attired like the attendants, and she carried a yellow basket.

Bill Morgan served as best man. Ushers were Jerry Hamm and Dennis Stockman.

Chuck Roberts, nephew of the bride, lighted the candles.

The mother of the bride wore a pale blue lace sheath with a matching hat. At her shoulder was pinned an orchid corsage.

The mother of the groom chose a dark blue sheath with matching accessories. Her corsage was also an orchid.

The Fellowship Hall of the church was the scene of the reception.

The bride's table was covered with a hand crocheted white cloth over yellow with a centerpiece of yellow gladioli. Serving at the reception were Mrs. Donald Charlton, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Penny Kell, Mrs. Larry Chappell, Mrs. Thomas Mullins, Miss Deborah Mullins.

Miss Sue Ann Watson, sorority sister of the bride, kept the guest register.

Our Military Assistance Advisory Team in Konya, Turkey, had just finished dinner on December 7, 1959. Talk turned to where each man had been when the attack on Pearl Harbor was announced 18 years before. The officers and noncoms, mostly old soldiers, mentioned their whereabouts and reaction to the news. Only one NCO, a six-foot-five master sergeant, appeared reluctant to tell his story. "Sergeant," I asked, "where were you?"

"Well, sir," he replied, "I was in Columbia, S.C., and I think I was on weekend pass from the second grade."

Everything's Relative. Sid Sheldon, creator-producer of "I Dream of Jeannie," was visited by his mother, Mrs. Natalie Leeb. As a gag he gave her a bit part in his show. Larry Hagman, co-star of the show and Mary Martin's son, asked Sheldon, "Isn't this nepotism?"

Sheldon paused for a moment, then replied, "Not really. I'd be happy to do the same thing for your mother."

LESS GRAPE JUICE AND GRAPE JAM

MELBOURNE (AP) — Australians are drinking more wine.

Figures issued by the Commonwealth statistician show that in 1965 Australians averaged 1.3 gallons a head. For three years before, it was 1.2 gallons and in 1961 only 1.1 gallons.

The figures also showed that Australians are eating less fresh fruit and less jam.

When the Santa Ana Register published a story saying that girls in Thailand had been reprimanded for their "open kissing greetings" of GI's, I clipped the article and sent it to my nephew, who is now on detached duty with the Marines in Thailand.

He replied that he immediately posted the clipping on the company's bulletin board. The next day, as he walked past, he noticed that someone had tacked a carefully printed headline on the story, reading: "Love Thai Neighbor." Jay Rosenburg

THE AGELESS VIOLET
—TENDERNESS, LOVE

How familiar the scene of a little old lady standing in a doorway selling small bouquets of violets to the busy people passing by. She always had a ready market because everyone loves violets.

The violet is said to be one of the oldest known flowers — and even before man had mastered a language, he looked upon the lovely violet and examined its delicate beauty and soft fragrance.

We offer lovely potted violets to let you share your sentiments with a shut-in, or express yourself to someone special.

Is Running The Ball Worth It?

LAKE FOREST, Ill. -- They don't pay Charley Johnson to be a coward on Sunday afternoon. But it's not a bad idea.

It's not exactly that the Cardinals want Johnson to run scared. They simply prefer that he not run at all. One - legged quarterbacks are hardly designed for broken field travel in the NFL.

But Johnson isn't ready to concere the point. "I can't do my job if I'm worrying about getting hurt," he says. "The only thing I can worry about is getting those first downs.

"Sometimes, I'm going to have to run. There are going to be third down situations in tight games when I won't be able to stop myself."

On one such situation in the ninth game of 1966, Johnson did run . . . got the first down. . . and probably cost the Big Red a championship.

When he limped off the field at Yankee Stadium with a ligament damage to his right knee, the Cardinals led the Eastern Division by 1 1/2 games. Without him the rest of the way, they won only one of five and finished fourth.

"But I was hurt twice in 1965," he argues, "and on both occasions I had already thrown the pass and was standing still."

So whether they are moving or stable, quarterbacks make appetizing targets. But the Cardinals can't afford to allow Johnson to be a target. They must protect him. And he must cooperate.

During the past four seasons, a healthy Johnson has directed the Big Red to a 29-10-3 record - a victory percentage of .744. Only Bart Starr of the Packers (41-12-3 for .774) boasts a superior winning average.

Over the same period, Johnny Unitas is .709 and Frank Ryan .727.

The rub, of course, is that Johnson frequently has been injured during that four - season stretch. In '65, it was his shoulder and last year it was his knee. With their No. 1 quarterback in sub-par condition or sidelined, the Cardinals have won just two of 14.

With Johnson at the throttle in '66, the Big Red scored 212 points in nine games -- an average of 23-plus per outing. Without him in the final five, they scored 54 -- an average of 10.8.

During that final five - week stretch, the other league members averaged 24 points per game each. And the most ineffectual of the fraternity registered 30 points more than [illegible].

In the last five games, the Cardinals twice failed to score even one touchdown -- and counted a total of four TD's in their exercises with Pittsburgh (twice), Atlanta, Dallas and Cleveland.

So Johnson's importance to the Cardinals can hardly be overemphasized. With him, they are contenders; without him, they're creampuffs.

In one way, the 28-year-old Texan is stronger than ever before. The results of a strenuous off - season weight program are obvious.

"I didn't put on any weight," he says. "I just rearranged it. But I feel a lot stronger. I can throw harder and for longer stretches. I've got a lot more stamina."

Still, there's the knee. "I'm going to wear a light brace of leather and aluminum," Johnson points out, "and it should protect from the shock of being hit.

"But my knee is still so loose that I could reinjure it myself just running or cutting on it. There's no protection against that."

Except discretion. Be intimidated, Charley. Hide behind Ernie McMillan. Don't run with the ball. Don't stand still without it. Be a coward. Win a championship.

The exhibition pro football season opens Saturday night in Akron, Ohio, which means the championship season in both the National and American Leagues isn't far off.

The Miami Dolphins and the Denver Broncos, two AFL clubs, are pitted against each other in a game that marks the return to the pro sport of Lou Saban.

Saban resigned as coach of the Buffalo Bills to become head coach at the University of Maryland, then left the Terps to become coach at Denver.

The NFL exhibition season opens next Wednesday with New Orleans playing Los Angeles at Anaheim.

Fullback Gene Foster, the last of the San Diego Chargers' three mutineers, returned to training camp Thursday. He was fined a total of $1,600 by Coach - General Manager Sid Gillman. That included $100 for each of six practice drills he missed.

Defensive backs Leslie Duncan and Kenny Graham, who had left camp with Foster, had returned Tuesday and were fined $1,200 each.

George Mira, one of quarterbacks for San Francisco, who had been excused because of illness in his family, arrived in the 49ers camp and said he was ready to scrimmage Saturday.

Donny Anderson scored the only touchdown as the offense beat the defense 10-0 in a Green Bay Packer squad tilt. A week from tonight the Packers face the College All-Stars in the annual game at Chicago.

Flood Hopeful Starter at Atlanta

Cards Open Series Tonight

ATLANTA, Ga. - The Cardinals were in a happy frame of mind as they arrived here Thursday night for a three-game series with the fourth place Atlanta Braves, starting tonight.

And why shouldn't the Red Birds be happy? They broke the spell of the second-place Cubs - at least temporarily - by beating the hot Chicagoans in two of the three games played at Busch Stadium to grap a two-game lead.

The day off Thursday was the first for the Red Birds since the All-Star game on July 11. Since that time they won six games and lost four as they battled the top three contenders. In addition to their 2-1 edge over the Cubs, the Birds split a four-game set with the Braves at St. Louis and nipped the Reds two games to one at Cincinnati.

A NEW DEAL

And now they start all over again. They'll play seven games on this trip, finishing their series with a Sunday afternoon game after meeting the Braves Saturday night. Then they hop up to Chicago for single games Monday and Tuesday and a doubleheader Wednesday.

Then the Birds return home next Friday for the start of the 13-game stand. Their first rival will be the Reds.

Dick (8-3) Hughes is scheduled to face the Braves in series opener, and will be opposed by southpaw Denny (7-4) Lemaster.

The start will be the sixth of the month for Hughes, who shows but one victory. However, he managed to get off the hook in the other games. He beat the Braves, 2-0, on a two-hitter on May 25.

MILD SLUMP

Lemaster, now on a three-game losing streak, hurled a one-hitter to beat Bob Gibson, 2-0, on May 21. He again faced the Cards on July 22, but dropped a 3-1 verdict to Steve Carlton.

Curt Flood, who was taken off the disabled list Thursday, probably will take up his old post in center field. The Cardinals can use his bat and his defensive skill.

"Flood has been working out," Manager Red Schoendienst said, "He's been taking batting practice and has played catch with anyone that has been around. We just want to see him make a long throw from the outfield.

Another bright feature in the last few Cardinal games is that Lou Brock is swinging, hitting and running again and that's enough to worry any rival.

MAKES POINT

"I've been swinging good," Brock said, "but right at some one. And now they are falling in, and that makes the difference," he said. He has slammed seven hits in his last 12 at bats. And when he gets on he runs.

"When Brock runs you have a chance to hit because he opens up the infield," Julian Javier commented. And Schoendienst had to agree with his infielder. "Brock can run," the Redhead said, "and when he does he makes the other guys hurry and when they do they are apt to make mistakes."

Detroit Moves Into Third

Last Place Astros Trim Pirates 5-4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Houston's dynamic duo, about the only thing that has kept the Astros from falling through the bottom of the National League this season, is showing signs of becoming a threesome.

Joe Morgan, now genuinely out of the hitting slump that plagued him through the early part of the season, won a game for the Astros with a run-scoring single in the bottom of the ninth for the second straight time as Houston trimmed Pittsburgh 5-4 Thursday night.

"Look at my roomie," Jim Wynn said when it was over, "taking all the glory."

"You don't want me in the act?" answered Morgan. "You and Rusty Staub have been taking all the glory all year. It's about time you leave a little room for me."

Staub, leading the league in hitting at .358 - he went three-for-four Thursday -- and Wynn, tops in runs batted in with 76, have been doing most of Houston's heavy hitting till Morgan's renaissance. But despite their best efforts the club is mired in the cellar, 18 games off the pace.

In other National League games, Atlanta beat Cincinnati 4-1, Philadelphia bounced San Francisco 8-3 and Los Angeles edged New York 7 - 6 in 11 innings.

Morgan, batting as low as .063 at one point in the early going, is now pounding the ball at a .295 clip and is riding an 11-game hitting streak.

Wednesday against Philadelphia, he singled in the winning run in the ninth and Thursday, after Ron Davis tied the game with a run-scoring single, Morgan came up with the winner.

The Braves got all their runs in the first inning, with Hank Aaron and Felipe Alou hitting homers that drove Sammy Ellis from the mound before he could get anybody out. Ken Johnson, 10-4, was the winner.

Billy Cowan and Bobby Wine hit homers in Philadelphia's five-run third inning and Richie Allen got his third homer in as many days in the first. John Boozer went the distance to win his third game.

Jack Fisher, the sixth Mets' pitcher wild-pitched Nate Oliver in with the winning run after the Mets had tied the score with a run in the ninth. Both teams scored three times in the eighth inning of the 3-hour, 50-minute contest.

It was Detroit's fifth victory in six games and lifted them into third place, 3½ games back of the leading White Sox. Baltimore's loss was its sixth in seven and sent the Orioles reeling into eighth place, one percentage point back of Cleveland.

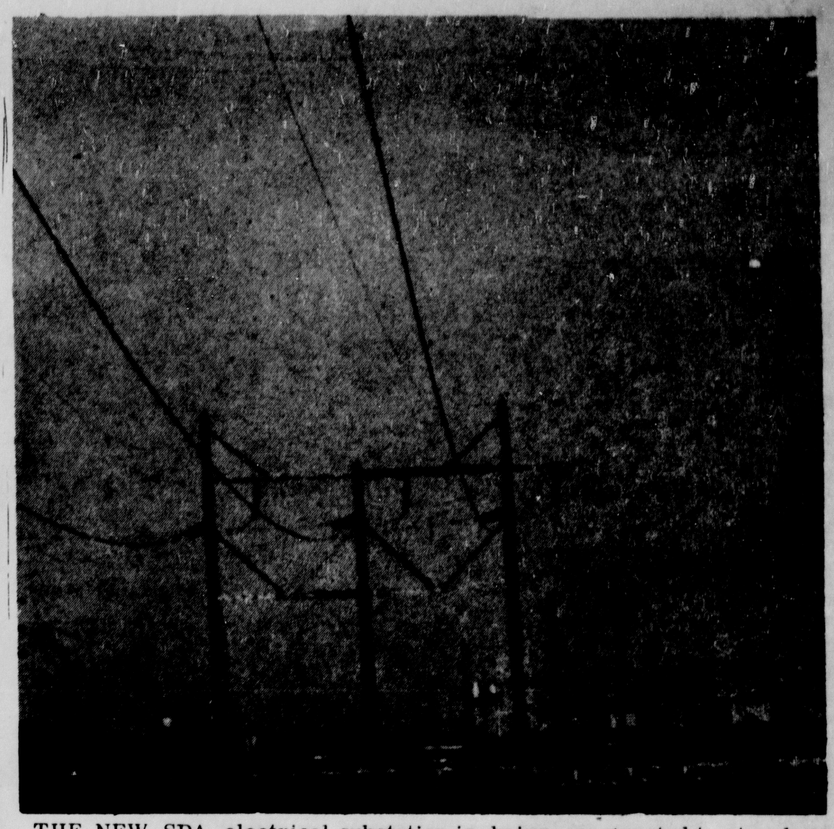
TWO PHASES OF CONSTRUCTION work underway at the site of an electrical power substation one mile west of the city steam plant are illustrated here. Floyd Wolferding, Sikeston, left, is sighting for the building of a concrete footing, while three unidentified men erect a steel support tower. Transformers and other power equipment will be installed before completion in November.



THE NEW SPA electrical substation is being constructed to step down power carried by these 161 KV lines to 69 KV. The power lines pictured come to Sikeston from Idalia. Another high transmission line is being constructed from New Madrid to Sikeston, and it, also, will tie in to transformers to be installed here. The site is a half mile east of Compress Road and Brown Spur Road, and one mile west of the city steam plant.

SPA Constructing Substation Here for High Lines

By Jerry Obermark

A massive electrical substation and power control house is under construction on a 10-acre site about one mile west of the city's electric generating steam plant.

The site is on the north side of Compress Road, one half mile east of the intersection of Compress Road and Brown Spur Road.

Southwestern Power Administration, a company that sells electrical power to municipal utilities and electrical cooperatives, is building the substation, A. D. Coleman, Tulsa, SPA resident engineer, said.

Construction began in early June, and completion is scheduled for November. Most of the concrete footings to support the equipment to be installed and the steel support towers have been built. Many of the towers have been fastened into their settings on the concrete, Coleman noted.

Lanscaping is being done for the control house, but construction on it has not begun yet.

A 37,500 KVA transformer and power control and switching equipment will be installed at the site.

The transformer will step down the current carried by two high voltage lines to the site, E. R. Inman, director of Sikeston Light & Water, said.

One of the high voltage lines, which now bypasses the construction site and carried 69 KV to the steam plant's substation, will be tied into the transformer at the construction site. When this is completed, the line load will be increased to 161 KV. The power will be stepped down by the new transformer to 69 KV.

The current then will be carried by a high voltage wire to the steam plant substation, where a 10,000 KVA transformer will step the voltage down to 13,800 KV, which is the level of the city operation's system.

The 161 IV line, which now carried 69 KV to Sikeston comes, most immediately from Idalia. The power source for the current is the electric generating turbines at Norfolk dam near the Missouri Arkansas border.

Another 161 KV line will tie into facilities at the construction site. It will come from New Madrid and Kennett. A substation served by the same power source was recently completed in Kennett. Another substation will be constructed in New Madrid after the one here is completed, Coleman said.

Power for the line to Kennett, which eventually will reach here, comes from generating facilities at Greer's Ferry in Arkansas, Inman said. The line comes to Kennett from Paragould and Jonesboro, Ark., he added.

While the substation will be owned and operated by SPA, it will benefit Sikeston, Inman said.

When completed, the city will be served by two sources of electrical supply in addition to its own generating facilities. The new substation will more than double the reliability of our power supply, he said.

And, if additional power is needed for new industry or unforeseen load growth, then the power is available through our purchase power contract with SPA, he said.

According to the last engineering study of the projected electrical power requirements here, no additional power purchase increases, or generating facilities will be needed before July, 1972, Inman said.

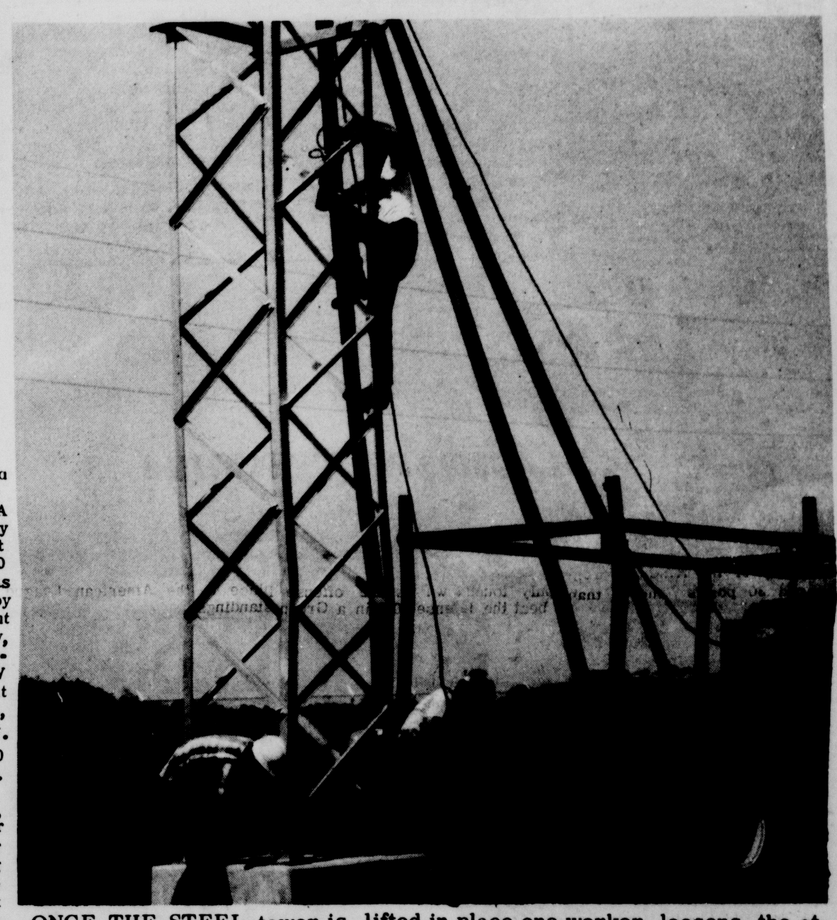
The Sikeston Light and Power has a power generating capacity of 16,200 KV. This is more than has ever been needed, but it is better to have more power available than to run short, Inman said.

The peak day for electrical usage by Sikeston customers this year to date has been July 11, when demand reached 15,350 kilowatts. Last year the peak demand of 15,500 KW occurred on July 20th.

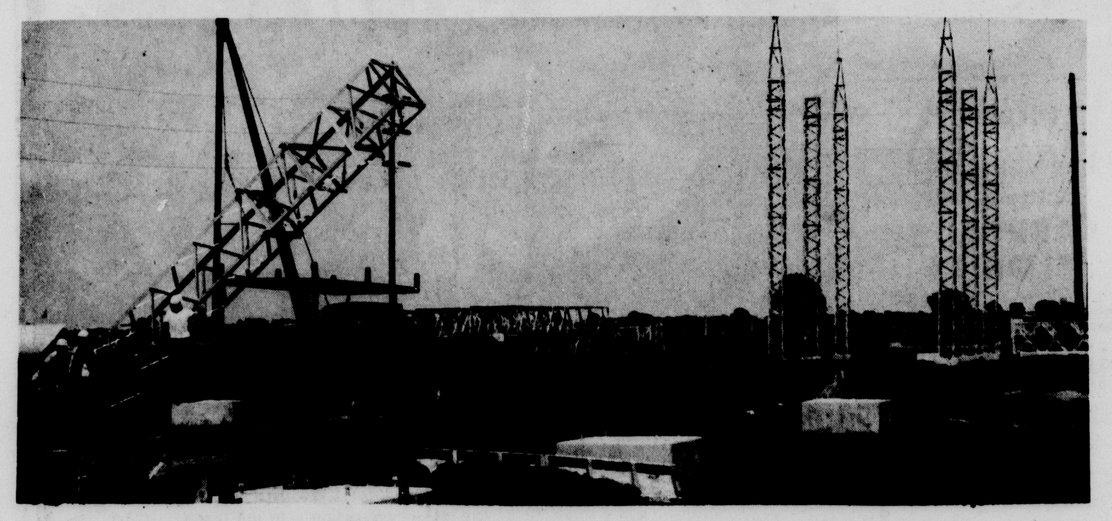
Neither the 6,000 KV diesel-burning generating facility at the city's plant at 503 East Center, nor the 6,200 KV steam-operating electrical generating facilities, west of the Sikeston Compress, are required to operate at full capacity, Inman said. The city also has two 2,000 KW peaking units, which are used during peak load periods. The peaking units are behind the steam plant.

The city's contract with SPA provides that the city will buy 5,000 KW per month at a cost of $1.50 per KW, or $8,000 per month. The contract has provisions included, whereby the city will increase the amount of power purchased in July, 1968 to 7,000 KW. The contract provides for a 1,000 KW per year increase in subsequent years till 1972, except for 1970, when the increase is 2,000 KW. The city will be buying 12,000 KV per month from SPA in 1972.

The four-man governing board, of the Sikeston Light and Power Co. will decide in 1972, whether to increase the power generating facilities of the city, to increase the power purchase contract with SPA, or to continue the arrangement in force at the time, Inman said.



ONCE THE STEEL tower is lifted in place one worker loosens the attached wire cable as others fasten the base to the concrete footing.



HEAVE HO! Construction workers manipulate steel support towers as they are lifted into place by crane and pulley on the truck.

A. D. COLEMAN, resident engineer for Southwestern Power Administration in Tulsa, sights for correct height as Rick Perry, Sikeston, hold measure. Carpenters in the center are working on forms for footings, which will support electrical equipment to be installed by November.

RadioAnnouncer Convicted of Molesting Minor

CHARLESTON - Ed Hill, an announcer for the Charleston radio station, was convicted in Scott County Circuit Court Tuesday of molesting a minor with immoral intent.

Hill was sentenced to six months in jail, fined $100 plus costs, and was given until Sept. 14 to appeal his conviction. The jury deliberated only 34 minutes before returning a verdict.

The alleged offense took place Oct. 3, 1966, at the East Prairie offices of radio station KCHR. The complaint signed by Prosecuting Attorney Roderic Ashby stated, in part, that "Ed Hill did . . .with specific criminal intent wilfully, intentionally, unlawfully, deliberately, feloniously, wickedly, and against the order of nature, take indecent or improper liberties with Ronald Wayne Radcliffe, age 16, . . . contrary to the form of statute.

Hill remains free on $2,500 bond pending appeal. He was arrested at East Prairie. A preliminary hearing was held Oct. 20 in magistrate court, and Hill was bound over to circuit court.

He later requested and was granted a change of venue to Scott county circuit court, where he was tried before Judge Marshall Craig Tuesday.

Jury Finds I-H Firm Liable in Suit

BLOOMFIELD -- When the jury handed in its verdict at 11;30 p.m. Wednesday Paul W. McClure, Gideon, was awarded $8,000 in a damage suit he had brought against the International Harvester Co. and the Gideon-Anderson Co., Gideon.

The suit began in New Madrid County and was transferred to Stoddard County on a change of venue. Judge Wm. H. Billings, Kennett, heard the case here. The decision was only against International Harvester.

Circuit Clerk Wm. K. Blue, Bloomfield, said today Mr. McClure's suit sought damages for injuries he sustained when the gas tank cap of an International Harvester tractor he was operating suddenly flew off, and gas, ignited by contact with the tractor's manifold, spewed out, burning Mr. McClure and completely destroying the tractor.

The accident occurred, the suit stated, on March 16, 1966. McClure claimed damages for burns he received on his head and other parts of the body.

Ten of the twelve jurors who heard the case signed the verdict awarding damages to McClure. Only nine signatures were required.

In another suit brought against the same companies by Mr. McClure's wife, Ruby, the jury decided unanimously Wednesday night not to award damages she had sought.

Mrs. McClure's suit asked payment for the loss of her husband's companionship and "services" during the period of his illness because of the burns he had received.

The circuit clerk said Mrs. McClure's suit asked $5,000. Mr. McClure's suit asked $10,000 damages for personal injuries and $5,000 in property damages.

The trial reportedly begun about 9:30 in the morning and was not concluded until 11;30 Wednesday.

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Lobbyists spent about $125,000 influence legislation during the 74th General Assembly according to expense reports filed with the secretary of state.

Under the new lobbying registration law expenses involved in lobbying must be filed with the secretary. The deadline was midnight Tuesday.

Jack C. Terry for the Jackson County Court turned in the largest expense report of $15,-633.

St. Louis political divisions were also active with Joseph B. Moore for the county of St. Louis reporting $4,982; Arthur Friedman for the mayor's office of St. Louis city slightly over $5,000; Leo Lying for the St. Louis Board of Education, $1,217; John B. Connaghan for the City of St. Louis $1,985 and Anthony F. Defillio for the St. Louis Board of Education $1,714.

The Missouri Farmers Association reported close to $10,000 in lobbying expenses most of which went for printing a legislative directory listing the name, home and business address and phone numbers of members of the legislature and sponsorship of a television news program about activities of the legislature.

Another of the larger expenditures reported was by James G. Trimble for the Greater Kansas City Chamber of Commerce of $5,315.

Possibly one of the largest expenses for a single bill was a $4,359 item by Al Bailey on behalf of the resort liquor bill for the St. Louis County Restaurant Association and Missouri Resort Areas Association.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

"The Church must get out of her stagnation. We must move out again into the open air of intellectual discussion with the world."
—Dietrick Bonhoeffer

Dr. David Randolph of Drew University Theological School in Madison, N.J., has taken Bonhoeffer's words very seriously and has acted upon them. He has conceived and carries on a ministry he calls "The Church Without Walls."

One night each week he and three or four theological students go to the corner of Eighth Avenue and 42nd street in New York City. Their purpose is to go "where the action is" . . . not to "save" or scare with the fires of hell, but to minister to the needs of people who otherwise have no church.

As one of the group is speaking, the others talk with individuals, quietly, forcefully, sometimes questioning, sometimes sympathizing. Dr. Randolph explains, "We have gone to Times Square to listen as well as to speak . . . we have sought to harken to reality as it expresses itself at this point of our culture." He feels that only when they truly understand another's point of view can they be of real service.

"Faith is an event with people, a relationship with God that you act upon in life," says Dr. Randolph.

Scenic Rivers Bill Advances

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate's interior committee has approved a bill which would designate a national wild and scenic rivers system.

The scenic rivers would include the Eleven Point in Missouri and Arkansas.

The bill also would initiate studies to determine if 27 other rivers should be included in the system. Among the 27 is the Gasconade in Missouri.

Sen. Frank Church, D - Idaho, author of the bill, predicted the Senate will approve it promptly. Thirty-six other senators joined him in sponsoring it. It is a revision of a bill which passed the Senate in 1967 but died in the House.

A scenic river area is described as one "unpolluted and which should be left in its pastoral or scenic attractiveness, or that should be restored to that condition to protect, develop and make more accessible its significant national outdoor recreational resources for public use and enjoyment."

Ann Landers

Men Can't Be Lumped Together

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is presently serving in Vietnam. I have always trusted him implicitly and am confident that under normal conditions he would never stray. But now I wonder. Is it too much to expect that a healthy, virile, young husband will remain faithful while fighting in a combat zone?

I have heard that men who must face danger every day of their lives soon get to thinking, "Why not live it up? Tomorrow I might not be here."

When a fighting man returns, should his wife ask him if he has been faithful? What if he says "no"? And what if she doesn't ask him and he confesses to rid himself of the guilt? What should her attitude be? - MYRTLE BEACH

Dear Myrtle: You can't lump all men together (service or otherwise) and state flatly that they will all react the same way under any given set of circumstances. Some husbands remain faithful even though they are separated from their wives for years. Others go catting around when their wives check into the hospital for five days to have a baby.

A wife should not ask a husband if he has been faithful. If he confesses to an indiscretion she should listen, forgive him and never bring the matter up again.

Dear Ann Landers: A friend of mine who is also 17 has a brother who is semi-retarded. He is 23, nice looking and can carry on a fairly good conversation. According to his sister he has the mentality of a 14-year-old.

My friend takes her brother to meetings where teen-agers gather, and to some social events. I feel uncomfortable around this boy because he really doesn't fit into the group. Everyone is pleasant to him (I am, too, of course) but somehow I think his sister is not doing right by him because one of these days he is going to be in for a big disappointment.

What is your opinion? - R.L. MISS

Dear Miss: The boy's sister sounds like a fine girl and deserves praise, not criticism. Many retarded people progress beautifully when they are encouraged to move around socially. It gives them confidence and adds enormously to their general welfare and outlook. I hope you and the others will continue to treat this young man as you would anyone else.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a member of a swim club. We have several social events during the summer and the women, especially, enjoy putting on dances. I would never dream of going up to a man and asking him to dance with me. The idea of cutting in on a man who is dancing with another woman is simply revolting. Yet, Ann, it seems as if I cannot dance one entire number with my husband. Somebody always cuts in. I feel like a fool having him snatched away in that manner.

I would like to know how to put a stop to this. My husband is very handsome and an extremely good dancer. He knows I am irked about this but he says he can't do anything about it. Is there something I can do? - INDIGNANT

Dear In: Yes, you can grow up and be a gracious wife - or you can continue to do a slow burn and look like a jealous, insecure female.

Do you feel ill at ease . .out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If You Were the Judge

No Need to Retreat from One's Own Residence

By Jack Strauss, LL.D.

When Margie retreated from Bill's advances, he took it like a sport. A bad one. He grabbed a nearby butcher's knife and went after her with a vengeance. But before she could become Bill's victim, Marge managed to reach a gun that she kept in her bedroom drawer and shot Bill dead.

Charged with murder, Marge pleaded "self-defense."

"That's no defense," responded the district attorney. "Under the law, a person who is under attack must make every effort to run away before killing her attacker. In this case, Marge made no effort to get away. She ran for a gun instead of the street."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you convict Marge of murdering her overly-aggressive boyfriend!

This is how the judge ruled! No! The judge held that there is a common-law duty to "retreat to the wall" when one is attacked, but there is no such duty when one is assaulted in his own home. A person's home is his ultimate sanctuary. (Based upon a 1965 Florida Supreme Court Decision)

Bill to Aid Cape County Signed

With the signature of Gov. Warren E. Hearnes the Department of Community Affairs and the State Soil and Water District Commission were added to the Inter-Agency Council for Outdoor Recreation.

The governor also signed a bill that will permit the collector in some second class counties to set up an additional office to the one maintained at the courthouse.

The bill was intended to aid Cape Girardeau County.

Women Block Voting Booths

50 years ago

Another reason why woman suffrage won't do. It took one Sikeston woman one and a half hours to go to the City Hall and register last Saturday. At that rate they would soon block the booths and mere man would not get in "hollering" distance.

Mrs. Mary Angel died at her home on Ruth street in this city last Friday morning after an illness of several years caused by a cancer.

A big part of the town of Diehlstadt was swept away Tuesday night by a fire that started in a small restaurant, from a gasoline stove. It is reported that everything on the north side of the railroad track was burned.

The Justrite Oil Co., in Sikeston is feeling mighty proud at this time. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. "Ichy" Arthur, Tuesday evening at St. Francis hospital, Cape Girardeau. The same evening a baby girl arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gentry. Both mothers and their babes are doing nicely.

The homes of Harry Pratt and Bill Swinney destroyed in the recent storm, have been rebuilt and were occupied by the respective familes Monday. Both homes were completely torn down and new plans were followed in the construction of the new ones.

Troop 1, Boy Scouts of America, will leave Sunday for a week's camp on Silver Dam. The members of the troup, under Scout Master "Wilbur Ensor, Assistant Scout Master, Wendell Ensor, and Aid, Linn Finley, will be driven to the camp by parents of the members. There are three patrols in the Sikeston troop. The Flying Eagle Patrol is under the leadership of Robert Struwe; the Bob White Patrol under Kendall Sikes; and the Wolf Patrol under Lyman Mitchell.

Holdup Man on FBI List

ALFRED JOHNSON COOPER, JR.

WASHINGTON -- Alfred Johnson Cooper, a "mean tempered" holdup man who is currently charged with robbery, shooting a policeman and kidnaping, has been added to the FBI's list of Ten Most Wanted Fugitives.

On Sept. 28, 1966, in Cinnaminson Township, New Jersey, Cooper and two accomplices allegedly were robbing a gas station when a policeman drove up. A vicious gun battle ensued and the policeman was shot several times, losing the sight of one of his eyes. The officer's return fire wounded two of the robbers and the three bandits then fled in the car of a passing woman motorist whom they kidnaped and forced to drive them to Camden, New Jersey. The hostage was released there unharmed.

Cooper's two alleged accomplices have been apprehended and he is currently sought based on a Federal warrant issued at Camden, New Jersey, on October 20, 1966, which charges him with unlawful interstate flight to avoid prosecution for robbery, assault and battery of a law enforcement officer and kidnaping.

Cooper's first criminal conviction occurred in 1957 at Bordentown, New Jersey, when he was given an indeterminate maximum sentence on a charge of larceny.

In May, 1960, he was arrested for assault and robbery in New Brunswick, New Jersey, and attempted to escape confinement a month later. Upon conviction, he received concurrent terms of four to six years for assault and robbery and two to three years for escape and was incarcerated at the New Jersey State Prison at Trenton.

A Negro American, who was reportedly born in Camden, New Jersey, on Sept. 13, 1936, Cooper is 5' 8" tall, weighs 160 to 165 pounds, has a medium build, a medium complexion, brown eyes and black hair. He has two scars on the knuckles of his right hand, a burn scar on his right arm, a vaccination scar on his left shoulder, three scars on his left knee, a scar on his left forearm and a scar on the left checkbone. He may wear a mustache.

Described as "very mean" and not reluctant to harm anyone attempting to apprehend him, Cooper is said to enjoy gambling at cards and dice and frequenting bars. He is known to dress neatly, but does not like to wear a tie and although Cooper has never boxed professionally, he likes to box and works out in gyms to keep in good physical condition. He has been employed in the past as a bartender, cook, short order cook, kitchen helper, laborer, and bus boy.

Since Cooper is charged with the brutal shooting of a policeman, he should be considered armed and extremely dangerous.

Should any person have information concerning Cooper, he is requested to notify the nearest office of the FBI, the telephone number of which may be found on the first page of telephone directories.

Commission on Tourism Adopted

WARRENSBURG (AP) - The Commission on Tourism was signed into law Wednesday by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes at a dinner in honor of Will W. Davis, the governor's press secretary.

Davis, who is expected to become the commission's first director, drafted the first version of the bill enacted by the 1967 Legislature.

Upon receiving the "gratitude and appreciation" of several organizations, Davis said the bill was the result of efforts by many people who want to see Missouri attract more tourists.

The bill places tourist promotion under an independent state agency. Previously it was handled by the Division of Commerce and Industrial Development.

The dinner was at the Warrensburg motel where representatives of several organizations met more than three years ago to launch a broader program for promoting tourist business.

The Missouri Motel Association sponsored the dinner.

Nonfarm Employment Shows Increase

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Nonfarm employment showed a seasonal increase in June, Employment Security Director Herman Julian reported.

The June total was 1,594,100 compared with 1,577,400 in May. That was 26,000 more jobs than June of last year.

Julian attributed the increase to the usual influx of students and others seeking summer jobs.

The average weekly number of those seeking unemployment benefits dropped from 24,843 in May to 20,310 in June.

Rising Food Prices May Bring on New Wave of Housewife Protests

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The rise in food prices now under way is taking on some of the characteristics that last year stirred up housewife protests against the nation's foodstores.

Leading all price increases last month was the price of food. Fruits and vegetables were 3 per cent higher than in May, and poultry and fish prices showed increases of just slightly less.

As if this wasn't bad news enough, rising wholesale prices bar any optimistic hopes that the increase will level off next month.

Instead, food prices are almost bound to go higher, carrying with them the tempers of housewives.

Almost all consumers seem able to tolerate with a frustrated grumble the routine increases in the cost of living. To many people, higher prices seem almost inevitable.

It is when the high costs are most pronounced in the food sector, the area of greatest consumer spending, that the ineffective grumbling becomes active protest.

Unlike clothing, which may be purchased for a season, food usually is purchased in small quantities. It is a repetitive activity, and so price increases have multiple exposure.

But there is more to it than that. The great consuming public once was a disorganized mass. Now it is threaded together by various consumer groups and has found a sympathetic ear and even leadership in Washington.

Other factors are at work, also. The food consumer is constantly changing his habits as the variety of choices grows. He is, perhaps, less predictable. At least you may judge so by the number of studies now being conducted.

This week the National Industrial Conference Board—nonprofit, largely business supported—completed a study on how familes spend. It discovered a hint of why some housewives are more activist than before. A third of consumer buying, it said, is now represented by families with a working wife.

As in the past, much of this home-maker distress over rising food prices might lead to the usual reactions: more shopping for bargains, buying of lower-priced meats, denunciations of shopping games and trading stamps.

A good deal of the resentment will be reflected at the retail outlet, the contact point between the purchaser and the food industry, although rising costs often are not the retailer's fault.

In response, you may expect the retailers to countercharge that the American family today spends a smaller percentage of his income on food than ever.

There can be no quibbling with this percentage. In 1966, only 24.5 per cent of personal consumption spending was for food, beverages and tobacco. A century ago the percentage was well over 50. It has fallen steadily.

The real explanation is found in the nation's rising productivity. Take-home pay today is larger almost every year. The food percentage has dropped, not just because food might be a bargain, but because incomes are rising.

Prison Release Lasts 2 Days

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — John Monroe Osborn, 21, was fitted with a new suit, new shoes and given money for a bus ticket and was released from the Missouri State Penitentiary Tuesday.

Wednesday he talked with his attorney.

Thursday morning, he boarded a bus in Springfield, Mo., and voluntarily returned to Jefferson City.

Osborn had come to Jefferson City on June 7 for parole violation and a 2-year sentence for burglary and stealing.

The sentencing papers were misplaced and prison authorities could only find that he was a parole violator and had served his time.

So, on Tuesday they released him only to discover his sentence papers in a file tray the next day.

Osborn handed in his new suit and new shoes Thursday— but the money for the bus ticket had been spent for the trip.

Woman's First Ladder Climb Saves 2 Lives

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Mrs. Emma Jean Henry's first attempt at climbing a ladder saved two lives.

The lives were those of two of her sons, who were trapped in the attic of their home Thursday after lightning set it on fire.

Both boys, Kevin Henry, 11, and Donald, 6, were taken to a hospital, where they are said to be in satisfactory condition. They have second and third-degree burns.

Mrs. Henry said the ladder didn't belong to her. A friend left it there a few months ago.

"There was no real use for it, but it sure came in handy this morning," Mrs. Henry said.

She remembered the ladder when flames broke out in the attic. Her four other sons and two daughters dashed to safety, but the other two boys said they couldn't get through the flames on the stairway.

Mrs. Henry grabbed the ladder and propped it against a second story window.

"When I got up there, the 11-year-old son was pushing the six-year-old towards me. I carried him down a couple of rungs, then dropped him and went back for the 11-year-old."

A sister, Jackie, 17, said:

"If we hadn't gotten that ladder, I don't know if we could have gotten them out at all."

Present rate for first class letters is five cents an ounce, for post cards four cents, air mail letters eight cents and air mail post cards six cents.

War Cripples Key Figure in Kennedy Funeral

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — In 1963 Army Lt. Samuel R. Bird commanded the eight-man military entourage that ushered President John F. Kennedy's casket to Arlington National Cemetery.

Today, Bird, now a captain, must be carried or wheeled wherever he goes through the long corridors of Kennedy Veterans Administration Hospital here.

Bird, of Wichita, Kan., is a casualty of the war in Vietnam. An enemy sniper's bullet last Jan. 27 left him with crippling brain damage, and he is unable to use his legs.

Only a quick evacuation by helicopter saved his life, and there still is doubt of a complete recovery.

"With all the drive Sam's got, he'll make it," said Richard E. Bird, a retired Kansas lumberman and father of the wounded soldier.

The elder Bird arrived in Memphis earlier this week, right after his son who was transferred from the military hospital at San Antonio, Tex.

"I had him brought here because this is known as the best rehabilitation center in the country," Bird said.

Ford Pushes Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford says deep cuts in federal spending on space, public works and foreign aid would offset any need for a tax hike this year.

The cuts can be made in defense as well as nondefense spending, Ford said, in reiterating his opposition to the six per cent income tax surcharge proposed by President Johnson.

Here are Ford's responses to questions from The Associated Press:

Q. How much reduction would have to be made to stave off a tax hike?

A. The Congress and the President, working together, can surely achieve whatever spending cutbacks are necessary to match the revenue which might be obtained through a tax increase.

To date, the only definite surtax figure we have heard from the President is six per cent. The administration has estimated the revenue from imposition of a six per cent surtax on income taxes at $4.5 billion to $5 billion.

I feel certain that federal spending can be cut sufficiently to offset the President's demand for additional revenue in that amount.

Q. In what areas would you propose reductions? What specific programs?

A. The House has already cut presidential appropriation requests by $3.47 billion. Additional cuts will be made in the remaining appropriation bills. If the Senate will act accordingly, the Congress can reach the $4.5 billion to $5 billion goal I cited.

I believe the space, public works, foreign aid and military construction programs and non-Vietnam defense items can stand substantial cuts. There is nothing sacred about the man-to-the-moon timetable, and many public works projects could be deferred at least a year without harm.

Q. Could reductions be made in defense spending without impairing the war effort?

A. There is no question in my mind that defense spending for fiscal year 1968 can and should be cut. The House voted reductions of $1.22 billion in defense appropriations bills. The Defense Department could, on its own initiative, achieve further reductions without hurting the war effort.

Issue Summons To Plumbers

Four plumbers were issued summons by police Thursday charging them with failure to notify the city that work completed was ready for inspection.

Charged with violation of the city ordinance were: Gilbert Dover, 800 Pine, Henry Cook, 330 Luther, Marion A. Freeman, 700 Linn, and Odis Lee Morris, 318 Ruth.

Plumbers are required by city ordinance to notify the plumbing inspector Hugh Garrison when work is ready for inspection and test. The code also provides that all work shall be left uncovered for examination.

Garrison was appointed inspector Sept. 1, 1966, in the wake of a hassle between plumbers and city officials.

The pool should be completed within 60 days, although the contract calls for completion by Jan. 1. It will not be ready for use this summer.

Equipment for the pool is stored in warehouses at Dexter.

The pool will be L-Shaped, 42 by 165 feet, with a 40 by 40 feet diving well. A wading pool 40 feet in diameter will be provided for smaller children. A bathhouse will be included.

The pool will accommodate 624 persons, which is regulation capacity set by the state.

Strong Winds Accompany Rain

KANSAS CITY (AP)— Severe thunderstorms with high winds and at least one tornado moved across western and central Missouri early today.

Joplin and Springfield reported damage to power lines and trees. High winds also hit the Camden County area along the Niangua River, Conway and north of Waynesville.

R. T. Howard, a farmer living a mile and a half southeast of Fairgrove in Greene County, reported a tornado destroyed a shed and took the roofs off his barn and house. He said the twister "cleaned out" the trees in a nearby creek.

Power outages were reported in many areas. There was some glass damage in downtown Springfield. Joplin had 1.12 inches of rain.

Some of the heavier rainfalls in the state included: Clifton City 2.67, Harrisonville 2.39, Windsor 2.32, Unionville 2.22, Odessa 2.18 and Sedalia 1.78.

In the wake of the storms the weatherman said temperatures would be more seasonable with less humidity.

Saturday's highs will be mostly in the 80s.

Highs Thursday ranged from 89 at Cape Girardeau and Joplin to 83 at Vichy.

Temperatures through next Wednesday are expected to average near normal in the northwest and a few degrees below normal in the rest of the state.

Special Envoys Wind UP Thailand Visit

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and Clark Clifford, President Johnson's special two-man mission to Asia, conferred with Premier Thanom Kittikachorn for 2-1/2 hours today on developments in the Vietnam war.

The presidential envoys, wrapping up their two-day visit to Thailand, are going to Australia next. They planned to leave for Canberra by special Air Force jet late tonight.

Taylor, a former U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, and Clifford, chairman of the federal Intelligence Advisory Board, reportedly discussed a planned summit meeting of the Vietnam war allies and an increase in allied troop strength.

Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman, in a brief session with newsmen, predicted concrete action would result from the visit, but declined to go into detail.

A decision as to troops, "must wait until exhaustive studies have been made," he said. As to another summit conference, he said: "It will come, but it is not a matter of urgency."

The site of such a meeting is "secondary," he said.

In Manila the decision to drop the Philippines from the itinerary of Taylor and Clifford aroused speculation that opposition by President Ferdinand E. Marcos' administration forced the cancellation.

There were indications that the presence of the two Americans might have proved an embarrassment to Marcos at a time when he is fighting to maintain the Philippines' 2,000-man commitment to the war.

Reliable Electricity Promised Hospital

The board of municipal utilities authorized the purchase of an automatic control switch to be installed on the Missouri Delta Community Hospital electric circuit, E. R. Inman, director, announced today.

The cost of the switching equipment is $3,135. It will be installed this summer or fall.

The switch will increase the reliability of service to the hospital.

When a fault occurs on the primary hospital circuit, the switch will automatically shift the power load to another circuit. After repairs are made on the primary circuit, the load will automatically switch back to it, Inman explained.

Inman said the Sikeston Light and Water Co. received approval from the National Electrical Manufacturing Association to operate gold and bronze medallion home programs for all-electric new homes.

Hornung Retires

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Paul Hornung, Golden Boy of the National Football League for a decade, announced his retirement today rather than risk permanent spinal injuries.

The 31-year-old Hornung, all-NFL halfback three times for the Green Bay Packers, said he received an explicit medical warning of "permanent, detrimental results" to his spinal cord if he received another jarring football-type injury.

Hornung's retirement was announced by John Mecom Jr., owner of the New Orleans Saints, who acquired Hornung in the expansion draft this year.

The retirement confirmed earlier reports from tests at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., which indicated an injury Hornung suffered last year resulted in his present condition.

Hornung said he hurt his neck while scoring a touchdown against the Chicago Bears, when a Bear player fell on him.

Cattle Price Making Looms

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — An agricultural economist said today, "if the cattle industry is to remain independent and not be absorbed by slaughter-retailing, industrywide price-making probably will become necessary."

Dr. Harold F. Breimyer of the University of Missouri addressed an American National Cattlemen's Association conference.

He said such price-making need not require tight control over supply, provided no great lifting of price is sought. For a big gain, effective supply control would, of course, be essential."

Breimyer said an open market can exist only if limits are placed on the size of meat packers and retailers. He said he also favors putting a limit on the extent to which one firm is engaged in all aspects of the industry.

Three Injured in Two Accidents on Highways

Two vehicles were damaged but neither driver received injury in a collision Thursday at 5:20 p.m. on highway 61, 10 miles south of Sikeston.

Workman was arrested on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way.

Two persons were treated at the Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in Hayti for injuries received Thursday at 7:05 p.m. on highway 61, four miles north of Hayti.

He was driving a 1965 Chevrolet when he lost control on wet pavement and skidded into a ditch. He was taken to the Poplar Bluff hospital.

BENTON -- Harold Hahn has voluntarily withdrawn an appeal to the Supreme Court of Missouri calling for a contest of the election of Aubrey Michael as collector of Scott county on Nov. 8, 1966, Circuit Clerk Lynn Ingram said today.

Hahn withdrew his appeal on the grounds that he is no longer a resident of Missouri, Kenneth Dement, attorney for Hahn said. The withdrawal was filed in open court Tuesday, and will be sent to the Supreme Court for disposition, Ingram said.

Hahn had contested in a notice of contest that 574 votes cast in the November election were voided and should have been counted for him.

Circuit Judge Marshall Craig held Hahn's petition invalid and entered an order to dismiss the election contest Feb. 3, following a hearing on motions filed in the case on Jan. 26.

Hahn is employed by Mutual of Omaha Insurance Co. and has moved to Alabama, Dement said.

Hahn came within 345 votes of winning the Nov. 8, election as a write - in candidate for the office of collector.

Three believed to be from Fort Payne, Ala., were arrested Thursday and charged with passing bad checks totaling $290 in grocery and variety stores.

Sgt. Ruben Templeton placed the trio under arrest after they were taken into custody in New Madrid by Trooper Robert P. Eddleman.

Accident Causes More Power Loss Than Storm

When the lights went out at about 8 p.m. Thursday in the west section of Sikeston, most people thought the heavy lightning caused the power failure. Not so.

An automobile struck a utility pole at South West and Daniel streets at 7:40 p.m. Thursday and knocked out the power supply of about 80 electrical customers.

Police reported that Robert L. Morphis, 17, 1724 Oklahoma, was charged with careless and imprudent driving. The car he was driving struck a utility pole on the northeast corner of the intersection, and damaged the utility and telephone lines.

About 70 customers of the Sikeston Light and Water Co., in Clayton Addition were without power for about two hours following the accident, E. R. Inman, director, said.

The utility pole also supported Missouri Utilities lines and eight to 12 of their customers experienced a brief power failure, Morris French, meter foreman, said.

A telephone line was downed by the same accident, but only one customer was put out of service by the mishap, John Donoho, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. manager, said.

Lightning caused some power shortages Thursday. James Stephenson, manager of REA, said about 50 customers between Catron and Parma had no power between 8 and 9 p.m.

Calls were received for repairs till about 11 p.m., Stephenson said, but damage on the whole was light. An automatic oil circuit and a lightning arrestor were damaged, he said.

Missouri Utilities reported having power lines downed by falling limbs in Morehouse and Miner, but only a few customers were affected. Lightning struck a transformer north of town, but only one customer was affected, French said.

The Sikeston Light and Water Co., reported that lightning struck a line and blew a fuse early in the afternoon Thursday causing an outage of about five minutes. No other trouble was caused by the storm, Inman said.

Plant at West Plains Picketed

WEST PLAINS, Mo. (AP) — Pickets appeared this morning at the plant of the Southwest Body Co., which makes helicopter repair trucks for the Army. The firm employes 223.

There was no immediate comment from the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, but an official from the local headquarters at St. Louis was reported en route here.

The walkout apparently stemmed from the discharge of two employes the company said had violated company policies.

Cong Leader May Be out

TOKYO (AP) — A broadcast from Hanoi today suggested Tran Nam Trung, once identified as commander of the Viet Cong, has been replaced.

Trung, 53, is a professional revolutionary notable primarily for the lack of information put out about him by the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The North Vietnamese News Agency, quoting a dispatch from the Viet Cong's Giai Phong Press Agency on a meeting in South Vietnam July 23, identified Trung as "vice president of the presidium of the front's CC (Central Committee) and head of the Commission for Foreign Relations."

The foreign relations post had been held by Tran Buu Kiem.

The broadcast said nothing about who may have succeeded him in the guerrilla military jobs or what happened to Kiem.

DMZ Sites Invaded

SAIGON (AP)— The U.S. Marines invaded the southern half of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam today for the second time in the war. Their targets were the North Vietnamese mortar and artillery positions which have been shelling Leatherneck posts just south of the zone.

The U.S. Command also announced another dogfight over North Vietnam with a MIG21 probably shot down and seven U.S. plane losses over the North which had not been revealed before.

Men of the 9th Marine Regiment moved into the demilitarized zone before dawn just north of Con Thien, the Leatherneck outpost 10 miles from the South China Sea where a Red barrage killed 2 Marines and wounded 12 Thursday night.

There was no immediate report that the Marines had encountered any enemy opposition.

It was the first American penetration into the three-mile-wide southern half of the zone since May 19, when the Marines and South Vietnamese troops invaded the southern sector to root out North Vietnamese gun posts. The allied force withdrew after a week.

U.S. Command said since then the Communists have again begun digging in artillery and mortars.

The latest dogfight took place Thursday when a pair of MIG21s tried to jump an Air Force reconnaissance flight north of Hanoi but were attacked by a pair of Air Force Phantoms flying escort.

The MIG's dived with the Phantoms in pursuit and one Phantom pilot fired a Sidewinder missile. The missile was right on the MIG's tail when the Red disappeared into a cloudbank, the pilots said. The Air Force scored it as the 11th probable MIG kill of the war.

The plane losses announced today brought the total number U.S. combat planes reported lost over the north to 624. The rate of losses over the north is now running at slightly more than one plane daily.

U.S. Command said the latest jet downed was an Air Force Phantom Wednesday, with both crewmen listed as missing.

No details were given on the other losses but it was understood they were downed during the past week.

Air strikes against North Vietnam continued undiminished Thursday. U.S. headquarters said 150 missions were flown, mostly against supply lines between the Hanoi-Haiphong area and the 17th parallel border with South Vietnam. But one Air Force group hit the rail line connecting Hanoi with the industrial area of Thai Nguyen 40 miles above the capital.

The Marine penetration of the demilitarized zone was the most significant ground action reported although the U.S. Command said scattered contacts were made throughout the nation and 35 major infantry operations were in progress.

Presumably the Marine operation will be a brief foray into the zone. However, a military spokesman would say only that the Marines were in the zone for "the destruction of neutralization of enemy artillery and mortar positions south of the Ben Hai River."

Artillery Fires Free GI From Viet Captors

ALONG THE CAMBODIAN BORDER, Vietnam (AP) — Andrew York bit desperately into the crude ropes binding his wrists, tearing at the stands with his teeth and unmindful of the blood the rough fibers drew.

Minutes earlier the slim, 19-year-old infantryman from the Infantry Division, was being carried into captivity by North Vietnamese soldiers who had overwhelmed his platoon in the rain forest along the border between Vietnam and Cambodia.

Both of York's legs had been shattered by a mortar round as he was firing his machine gun at the dozen brown-clad Vietnamese rushing at him through elephant grass. He fainted. When he came to, the roar of battle was stilled, his wrists were tied to his belt, and his Communist captors stood around him. Two of them grabbed his arms, two others his feet, and York— from the little town of Chelsea, Maine, married on May 5 to his childhood sweetheart and sent to Vietnam a week later— was on his way to captivity.

But the battle last Sunday was by no means over.

Circling overhead in a helicopter was the battalion commander, Lt. Col. Thomas P. Lynch of Spokane, Wash., who called for silence on the busy radio net so he could hear the last man on the platoon's radio set.

"Charger (the battalion commander's code name), everyone else is dead," the voice said. There were some mumbled words about home and mother. Then "Charger, I'm dying". The set went silent.

Lynch assumed everyone in the platoon was killed. Numerous North Vietnamese could be seen below. He ordered in artillery barrages on top of them.

York, numb with pain, was being carried into the jungle as the first rounds came in. The two Vietnamese carrying his legs were killed in the first blast. The men at his shoulders dropped him to the ground.

"I realized they were our shells," York said later at a hospital. "I was sure the Communists would kill me then, what had they to lose? And if they didn't, then our artillery would get me. I thought I was dead for sure. All I could do was pray, and you better believe I was praying."

The barrage ended quickly. York was alone beside the two dead men who had been carrying his legs. He tugged painfully at his belt and pulled his wrists free so he could get his teeth to the ropes. Then he started chewing feverishly.

The North Vietnamese battalion that had overwhelmed the 30-man platoon - killing 18 of the Americans — had reached the company perimeter where another 30 Americans were lying in foxholes.

Commanded by Capt. William C. Pratt of Edinburg, Tex., they were soon under rocket and machine gun attack from the shadowy figures at the edge of the clearing.

The big American guns to the rear slammed shell after shell at the enemy, a total of 6,682 in three hours.

U.S. Air Force bombers roared in as the artillery lifted briefly, searing the jungle and grassy clearings with napalm and heavy bombs. Armed helicopters slashed at trails with their machine guns.

One of Capt. Pratt's platoons fought its way back to the company perimeter. Then Capt. Neill D. Buie of Wisner, La., burst across the clearing with 120 men.

From then on, it became "a mechanical process," Lynch said, "a complete destruction and neutralization of the area" with heavy gunfire.

A total of 170 Communists were killed; 19 Americans were dead.

Alive amid the destruction were Pfc. York and 10 others in his platoon, all wounded. York had managed to bite through his ropes, had dragged his mangled legs through the jungle to join up with some of his buddies, and gave a weak, painful cheer as the rescue troops arrived.

Ford Pushes Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford says deep cuts in federal spending on space, public works and foreign aid would offset any need for a tax hike this year.

The cuts can be made in defense as well as nondefense spending, Ford said, in reiterating his opposition to the six per cent income tax surcharge proposed by President Johnson.

Here are Ford's responses to questions from The Associated Press:

Q. How much reduction would have to be made to stave off a tax hike?

A. The Congress and the President, working together, can surely achieve whatever spending cutbacks are necessary to match the revenue which might be obtained through a tax increase.

To date, the only definite surtax figure we have heard from the President is six per cent. The administration has estimated the revenue from imposition of a six per cent surtax on income taxes at $4.5 billion to $5 billion.

I feel certain that federal spending can be cut sufficiently to offset the President's demand for additional revenue in that amount.

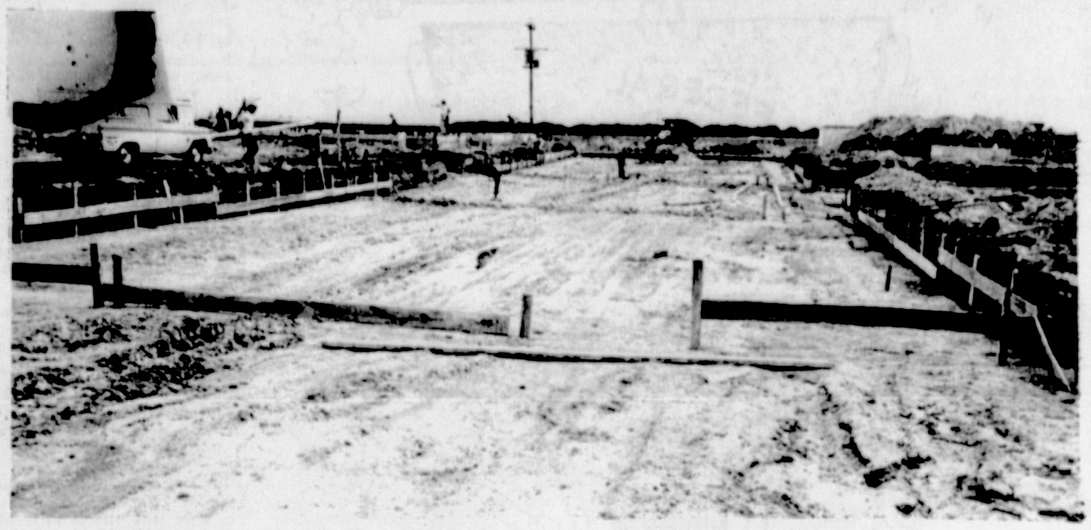
Q. In what areas would you propose reductions? What specific programs?

A. The House has already cut presidential appropriation requests by $3.47 billion. Additional cuts will be made in the remaining appropriation bills. If the Senate will act accordingly, the Congress can reach the $4.5 billion to $5 billion goal I cited.

I believe the space, public works, foreign aid and military construction programs and non-Vietnam defense items can stand substantial cuts. There is nothing sacred about the man-to-the-moon timetable, and many public works projects could be deferred at least a year without harm.

Q. Could reductions be made in defense spending without impairing the war effort?

A. There is no question in my mind that defense spending for fiscal year 1968 can and should be cut. The House voted reductions of $1.22 billion in defense appropriations bills. The Defense Department could, on its own initiative, achieve further reductions without hurting the war effort.



THE DEXTER SWIMMING POOL is 20 per cent completed. The L-shaped pool, which costs $126,900, will accommodate 624.

Issue Summons To Plumbers

Four plumbers were issued summons by police Thursday charging them with failure to notify the city that work completed was ready for inspection.

Charged with violation of the city ordinance were: Gilbert Dover, 800 Pine, Henry Cook, 330 Luther, Marion A. Freeman, 700 Linn, and Odis Lee Morris, 318 Ruth.

Plumbers are required by city ordinance to notify the plumbing inspector Hugh Garrison when work is ready for inspection and test. The code also provides that all work shall be left uncovered for examination.

Garrison was appointed inspector Sept. 1, 1966, in the wake of a hassle between plumbers and city officials.

Five Years For Bribe

ST. LOUIS (AP)— Donald M. Schwartz of Fairlawn, N. J., a former procurement analyst for the Army Munitions Command at Dover, N. J., was sentenced today to five years in prison for soliciting a bribe from a St. louis defense contractor.

Schwartz was convicted July 13 in U. S. District Court of soliciting a bribe from the Kisco Co. of St. Louis while the Army was negotiating with Ksco for the manufacture of artillery shell shipping containers.

Correction

It was reported in Thursday's paper that Earnie Merick, 119 South Handy, was fined $6 on a charge of peace disturbance in City Court Wednesday.

He was not fined. The case was dismissed and Merick paid $6 in court costs.

Dog, Press and Hook Injure

Three emergency patients were treated Thursday at the Missouri Delta Community hospital:

Calvin Taylor, Cape Girardeau, cut his ankle on a bean hook; Mary Stalcup caught the end of a finger in an air press; Randy Robert, Bloomfield, was bitten by a dog.

Reliable Electricity Promised Hospital

The board of municipal utilities authorized the purchase of an automatic control switch to be installed on the Missouri Delta Community Hospital electric circuit, E. R. Inman, director, announced today.

The cost of the switching equipment is $3,135. It will be installed this summer or fall.

The switch will increase the reliability of service to the hospital.

When a fault occurs on the primary hospital circuit, the switch will automatically shift the power load to another circuit. After repairs are made on the primary circuit, the load will automatically switch back to it, Inman explained.

Inman said the Sikeston Light and Water Co. received approval from the National Electrical Manufacturing Association to operate gold and bronze medallion home programs for all-electric new homes.

Hornung Retires

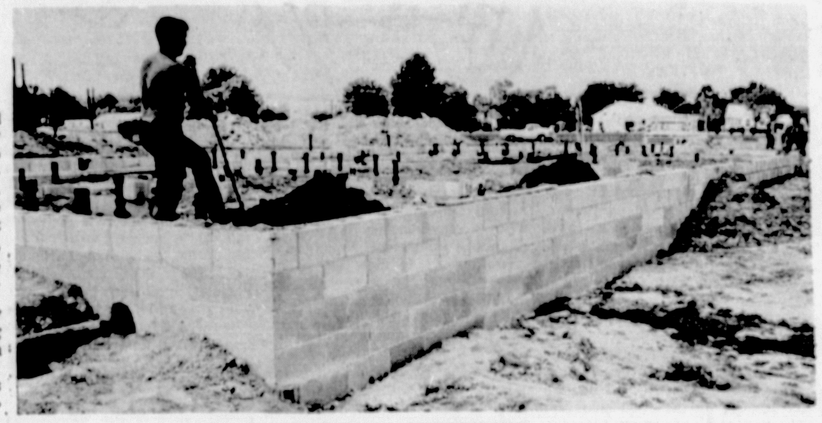
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Paul Hornung, Golden Boy of the National Football League for a decade, announced his retirement today rather than risk permanent spinal injuries.

The 31-year-old Hornung, all-NFL halfback three times for the Green Bay Packers, said he received an explicit medical warning of "permanent, detrimental results" to his spinal cord if he received another jarring football-type injury.

Hornung's retirement was announced by John Mecom Jr., owner of the New Orleans Saints, who acquired Hornung in the expansion draft this year.

The retirement confirmed earlier reports from tests at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., which indicated an injury Hornung suffered last year resulted in his present condition.

Hornung said he hurt his neck while scoring a touchdown against the Chicago Bears, when a Bear player fell on him.



DALE KIRKBRIDE of Dexter, an employe of Spears Construction Company, works on the bathhouse section of the Dexter public swimming pool. The pool is expected to be completed within 60 days.

Dexter Pool Ahead of Schedule

By Warren Sokolis

DEXTER - Construction on the $126,900 public swimming pool in East City Park is 20 per cent completed, Ralph Spears of Spears Construction Company says.

The pool should be completed within 60 days, although the contract calls for completion by Jan. 1. It will not be ready for use this summer.

Equipment for the pool is stored in warehouses at Dexter.

The pool will be L-Shaped, 42 by 165 feet, with a 40 by 40 feet diving well. A wading pool 40 feet in diameter will be provided for smaller children. A bathhouse will be included.

The pool will accommodate 624 persons, which is regulation capacity set by the state.

A $75,000 bond issue was passed last Nov. 15, and the city has received $50,000 in federal matching funds.

Strong Winds Accompany Rain

KANSAS CITY (AP)— Severe thunderstorms with high winds and at least one tornado moved across western and central Missouri early today.

Joplin and Springfield reported damage to power lines and trees. High winds also hit the Camden County area along the Niangua River, Conway and north of Waynesville.

R. T. Howard, a farmer living a mile and a half southeast of Fairgrove in Greene County, reported a tornado destroyed a shed and took the roofs off his barn and house. He said the twister "cleaned out" the trees in a nearby creek.

Power outages were reported in many areas. There was some glass damage in downtown Springfield. Joplin had 1.12 inches of rain.

Some of the heavier rainfalls in the state included: Clifton City 2.67, Harrisonville 2.39, Windsor 2.32, Unionville 2.22, Odessa 2.18 and Sedalia 1.78.

In the wake of the storms the weatherman said temperatures would be more seasonable with less humidity.

Saturday's highs will be mostly in the 80s.

Highs Thursday ranged from 89 at Cape Girardeau and Joplin to 83 at Vichy.

Temperatures through next Wednesday are expected to averate near normal in the northwest and a few degrees below normal in the rest of the state.

Cattle Price Making Looms

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — An agricultural economist said today, "If the cattle industry is to remain independent and not be absorbed by slaughter-retailing, industrywide price-making probably will become necessary."

Dr. Harold F. Breimyer of the University of Missouri addressed an American National Cattlemen's Association conference.

He said such price-making need not require tight control over supply, provided no great lifting of price is sought. For a big gain, effective supply control would, of course, be essential."

Breimyer said an open market can exist only if limits are placed on the size of meat packers and retailers. He said he also favors putting a limit on the extent to which one firm is engaged in all aspects of the industry.

Special Envoys Wind UP Thailand Visit

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and Clark Clifford, President Johnson's special two-man mission to Asia, conferred with Premier Thanom Kittikachorn for 2-1/2 hours today on developments in the Vietnam war.

The presidential envoys, wrapping up their two-day visit to Thailand, are going to Australia next. They planned to leave for Canberra by special Air Force jet late tonight.

Taylor, a former U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, and Clifford, chairman of the federal Intelligence Advisory Board, reportedly discussed a planned summit meeting of the Vietnam war allies and an increase in allied troop strength.

Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman, in a brief session with newsmen, predicted concrete action would result from the visit, but declined to go into detail.

A decision as to troops, "must wait until exhaustive studies have been made," he said. As to another summit conference, he said: "It will come, but it is not a matter of urgency."

The site of such a meeting is "secondary," he said.

In Manila the decision to drop the Philippines from the itinerary of Taylor and Clifford aroused speculation that opposition by President Ferdinand E. Marcos' administration forced the cancellation.

There were indications that the presence of the two Americans might have proved an embarrassment to Marcos at a time when he is fighting to maintain the Philippines' 2,000-man commitment to the war.

Three Injured in Two Accidents on Highways

Two vehicles were damaged but neither driver received injury in a collision Thursday at 5:20 p.m. on highway 61, 10 miles south of Sikeston.

A 1963 Ford driven by Johnnie Templeton, 46, Sikeston, was traveling north, when struck by a 1965 Chevrolet pickup truck, driven by Charles Workman, 29, route one, Matthews, who pulled out from a stop-sign into the path of the car.

Workman was arrested on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way.

Two persons were treated at the Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in Hayti for injuries received Thursday at 7:05 p.m. on highway 61, four miles north of Hayti.

A 1962 Volkswagen, driven by Louis Mayo Jr., 28, Blytheville, Ark., crossed the center line while an unidentified car was approaching. Mayo lost control, ran off the right side of the road and overturned.

Mayor received possible neck and scalp injuries, while a passenger, Van Whittle, 28, Canalou, received a possible neck and back injuries.

Mayo was given a summons for careless and reckless driving while drinking.

David Wilson, 16, Dexter, received a possible leg and back injury Thursday at 8 p.m. on highway 25, four miles south of Bloomfield.

He was driving a 1965 Chevrolet when he lost control on wet pavement and skidded into a ditch. He was taken to the Poplar Bluff hospital.

DeGaulle Reports

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle called in Premier Georges Pompidou today and presumably the main topic was DeGaulle's interrupted trip to Canada. But the furor seemed to be dissipating.

Spain, originally colonized by the Phoenicians and Greeks, later became a part of the Roman world.

French Protest British Broadcast

LONDON (AP)— The French Embassy protested to the Foreign Office today about a broadcast on British television Thursday night concerning President Charles de Gaulle and the controversy over French Canada.

The broadcast showed an actor dressed similarly to De Gaulle, speaking French and imitating some of the general's well-known gestures.

Hahn Drops Appeal

BENTON — Harold Hahn has voluntarily withdrawn an appeal to the Supreme Court of Missouri calling for a contest of the election of Aubrey Michael as collector of Scott county on Nov. 8, 1966, Circuit Clerk Lynn Ingram said today.

Hahn withdrew his appeal on the grounds that he is no longer a resident of Missouri, Kenneth Dement, attorney for Hahn said. The withdrawal was filed in open court Tuesday, and will be sent to the Supreme Court for disposition, Ingram said.

Hahn had contested in a notice of contest that 574 votes cast in the November election were voided and should have been counted for him.

Circuit Judge Marshall Craig held Hahn's petition invalid and entered an order to dismiss the election contest Feb. 3, following a hearing on motions filed in the case on Jan. 26.

Hahn is employed by Mutual of Omaha Insurance Co. and has moved to Alabama, Dement said.

Hahn came within 345 votes of winning the Nov. 8, election as a write-in candidate for the office of collector.

Three Arrested on Bad Check Charge

Three believed to be from Fort Payne, Ala., were arrested Thursday and charged with passing bad checks totaling $290 in grocery and variety stores.

Sgt. Ruben Templeton placed the trio under arrest after they were taken into custody in New Madrid by Trooper Robert P. Eddleman.

Charged with passing bad checks were Barbara and Freddie Myrick and Lillian Mae Kelly.

The trio was spotted in Portageville driving north. Trooper Eddleman arrested them in New Madrid.

Nine checks ranging from $18.50 to $36.50 were passed at Barkett's Big Star, Ben Franklin Store, P. N. Hirsch, at the Mid-Towner Village, Quick Shop, North Main, and Learue & McKinney Bet-R-Valu Food Market at Miner.

Six of the checks were passed on June 30, two were passed June 3, and one was passed June 29.

Police put out a dispatch to highway patrol troop E headquarters in Poplar Bluff Tuesday with a description of two womer suspected of passing the checks.

They were accompanied when arrested by a 14-year-old boy identified as the brother of Freddie Myrick and the Myrick's baby when the arrest was made. The boy and the baby are staying with relatives here.

Accident Causes More Power Loss Than Storm

When the lights went out at about 8 p.m. Thursday in the west section of Sikeston, most people thought the heavy lightning caused the power failure. Not so.

An automobile struck a utility pole at South West and Daniel streets at 7:40 p.m. Thursday and knocked out the power supply of about 80 electrical customers.

Police reported that Robert L. Morphis, 17, 1724 Oklahoma, was charged with careless and imprudent driving. The car he was driving struck a utility pole on the northeast corner of the intersection, and damaged the utility and telephone lines.

About 70 customers of the Sikeston Light and Water Co., in Clayton Addition were without power for about two hours following the accident, E. R. Inman, director, said.

The utility pole also supported Missouri Utilities lines and eight to 12 of their customers experienced a brief power failure, Morris French, meter foreman, said.

A telephone line was downed by the same accident, but only one customer was put out of service by the mishap, John Donoho, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. manager, said.

Lightning caused some power shortages Thursday. James Stephenson, manager of REA, said about 50 customers between Catron and Parma had no power between 8 and 9 p.m.

Calls were received for repairs till about 11 p.m., Stephenson said, but damage on the whole was light. An automatic oil circuit and a lightning arrestor were damaged, he said.

Missouri Utilities reported having power lines downed by falling limbs in Morehouse and Miner, but only a few customers were affected. Lightning struck a transformer north of town, but only one customer was affected, French said.

The Sikeston Light and Water Co., reported that lightning struck a line and blew a fuse early in the afternoon Thursday causing an outage of about five minutes. No other trouble was caused by the storm, Inman said.

Plant at West Plains Picketed

WEST PLAINS, Mo. (AP) — Pickets appeared this morning at the plant of the Southwest Body Co., which makes helicopter repair trucks for the Army. The firm employes 223.

There was no immediate comment from the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, but an official from the local headquarters at St. Louis was reported en route here.

The walkout apparently stemmed from the discharge of two employes the company said had violated company policies.

Lynch assumed everyone in the platoon was killed. Numerous North Vietnamese could be seen below. He ordered in artillery barrages on top of them.

York, numb with pain, was being carried into the jungle as the first rounds came in. The two Vietnamese carrying his legs were killed in the first blast. The men at his shoulders dropped him to the ground.

"I realized they were our shells," York said later at a hospital. "I was sure the Communists would kill me then, what had they to lose? And if they didn't, then our artillery would get me. I thought I was dead for sure. All I could do was pray, and you better believe I was praying."

The barrage ended quickly. York was alone beside the two dead men who had been carrying his legs. He tugged painfully at his belt and pulled his wrists free so he could get his teeth to the ropes. Then he started chewing feverishly.

The North Vietnamese battalion that had overwhelmed the 30-man platoon - killing 18 of the Americans — had reached the company perimeter where another 30 Americans were lying in foxholes.

Commanded by Capt. William C. Pratt of Edinburg, Tex., they were soon under rocket and machine gun attack from the shadowy figures at the edge of the clearing.

The big American guns to the rear slammed shell after shell at the enemy, a total of 6,682 in three hours.

U.S. Air Force bombers roared in as the artillery lifted briefly, searing the jungle and grassy clearings with napalm and heavy bombs. Armed helicopters slashed at trails with their machine guns.

One of Capt. Pratt's platoons fought its way back to the company perimeter. Then Capt. Neill D. Bute of Wisner, La., burst across the clearing with 120 men.

From then on, it became "a mechanical process," Lynch said, "a complete destruction and neutralization of the area" with heavy gunfire.

A total of 170 Communists were killed; 19 Americans were dead.

Alive amid the destruction were Pfc. York and 10 others in his platoon, all wounded. York had managed to bite through his ropes, had dragged his mangled legs through the jungle to join up with some of his buddies, and gave a weak, painful cheer as the rescue troops arrived.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Bruce Barton died this month.

Outside the fields of advertising and business and among old time Republicans probably few Americans remembered him.

But Barton's name will go down in the history of American advertising.

He was the last surviving founder of that mouthfull name advertising agency - Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborne - almost as much the object of musical comedy and stage satire as it is well known in the world of advertising.

B.B.D.&O., as it is more familiarly known to the trade, is one of the world's most highly respected and largest advertising agencies.

Barton had retired as chairman of the agency's board after a quarter of century of service but he maintained an office at the New York headquarters.

He was known as the elder statesman of advertising.

During a long, self-made career the boy who came to Madison Avenue from Robbins, Tenn., wrote many magazine articles.

His book, "The Man Nobody Knows," a life of Christ, became a best seller.

He served part of a term in Congress but went down to defeat for the United States Senate in a landslide of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal.

Barton had a well defined gift of stating any problem in simple English which anyone could understand.

In this country, where critics occasionally attack advertising as an expense instead of an investment, his description of advertising should be repeated again and again long after his death:

"Advertising is a creative force that has generated jobs, new ideas, has expanded our economy and has helped to give us the highest standard of living in the world."

Could anyone say it better?

MINI VACATIONS

A Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Federal Charters, Holidays, and Celebrations begins hearings, Wednesday, July 26, on bills to establish more three-day holiday weekends. Typical measures would fix five major holidays on Mondays - Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Veterans Day and Thanksgiving. Labor Day already is fixed on a Monday.

On the House side, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton (D N.Y.) has a measure before the House Judiciary Committee. Stratton has been pushing the idea for eight years.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce also is a sturdy advocate of the fixed long weekend, having distributed about 200,000 booklets expounding the idea across the nation. The Chamber's reasoning is not entirely lacking in self-interest. It costs money to shut down a plant for the weekend, start up Monday, and then shut down again for a holiday Tuesday. The alternative is double pay or more for those working the holiday.

The Chamber last autumn took an opinion poll of its business members. Nearly 10,000 members responded, making it the second most popular poll ever conducted by the organization. A whopping 85 per cent approved the idea.

One hitch. The Senate subcommittee on holidays is headed by Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen (R Ill.). (A practice of long standing has one Judiciary subcommittee chairmanship going to a senator from the opposition party.) And it's hard to see the star of the hit recording, Gallant Men, playing around with the birthdate of the Father of his Country. So far, Dirksen isn't talking.

In any event, the three-day holiday is probably inevitable. Like daylight saving time, it just makes sense.

SENATOR LONG IN TROUBLE

Missouri Senator Edward Long's refusal to identify legal clients he has referred to Morris A. Shenker, a St. Louis attorney, may be in accord with ethical canons of the bar, but it is nevertheless politically damaging. The Senator has acknowledged receiving more than $48,000 in referral fees from Mr. Shenker, whose clients include the Teamsters Union.

Mr. Long has been discussing his affairs with the Senate Ethics Committee and defending his refusal to be specific on the ground of confidential lawyer-client relationships. He reportedly has told the committee the referred legal work involved corporate, trust, estate, personal injury and business cases, but no federal, state or criminal cases. He has made a point that there has been no showing of wrongdoing in his activities.

It is true that there is no proof of wrongdoing. But implications can be read into the situation by political opponents. Unless Mr. Long can produce and explanation that is satisfactory to the voters of Missouri, he may have an uphill fight for renomination and reelection next year.

Mr. Long's plight has already caused a surge of activity among the state's politicians. It has increased the pressure on Representative Thomas B. Curtis of Webster Groves to become the Republican candidate for the Senate. If Mr. Long appears politically vulnerable to the Democrats it would open the way for a Democratic Senate candidate such as Lt. Gov. Thomas Eagleton. And if Mr. Curtis tries for the Senate it would permit a strong GOP candidate - St. Louis County Supervisor Lawrence Roos, for example - to seek his House seat.

So there may be a good deal hanging on the fate of Senator Long. Whether he can identify the clients (which he might do if he obtained their permission) we do not know. But it is plain that unless he can clear himself of all suspicion and remove the matter of the referral fees from the coming campaign, he is in trouble. - Post Dispatch

"You have two compartments," Mrs. John F. Kennedy told a newspaper reporter in October 1960: "Your private life and public life." The first compartment has never been as large or unassailable as Mrs. Kennedy might wish, but it has survived constant battering by communications media and the public. Thus, her 38th birthday anniversary, on Friday, July 28, no doubt will be celebrated quietly by members of the family and perhaps a few close friends.

The past year has been a trying one for Jacqueline Kennedy. Her battle with William Manchester over the contents of Death of a President brought her once again into the limelight. It also gave rise to the widespread criticism of her behavior since the assassination of President Kennedy.

While Mrs. Kennedy cannot prevent her picture from appearing on the covers of movie magazines, she can see to it that her children are shielded from the glare of publicity. Few pictures of Caroline and John Jr. appear in magazines or newspapers, and rarely is anything written about them. In time they will become public figures, as their mother is today, but childhood is a time for privacy.

If it were not for the fact that it is so damn serious the manuevering of President Johnson and Governor Romney in the Detroit burning, destroying, and looting would be ludicrous.

The governor is a candidate for President, so is Johnson, so Romney wants to put the cat on Johnson's back by calling for federal troops instead of using the Michigan national guards.

Local police can handle all of those riots if the ones in charge will tell them to stop the looting and burning.

The shooting to stop it should be aimed at the white looters as well as at the Negroes.

Pictures and wire stories confirm the fact that there are white as well as black that do the rioting and looting.

NEW YORK (AP) — Should the government pay fat people to lose weight?

Why not?

At first glance the proposal may sound ridiculous, but if all factors are considered, it makes at least as much sense as many other government support programs.

If Uncle Sam is willing to pay a farmer an allotment to reduce his acreage under cultivation, why shouldn't he be equally willing to hand a little cash to tubby city dwellers as an incentive to hold down their production of fat?

Such a program is fundamentally sound because all concerned would profit, including the government itself.

How? Well, let's see.

Let us first examine a typical fatty case today, Sam Slugg, a middle-aged breadwinner with a wife and two kids, a $12,000 annual income, and 40 pounds of excess body weight.

"Sam," his doctor warns him, "you've got to take off those 40 pounds or you're going to die 10 years early. It's as simple as that."

"Okay," says Sam, whose conscience already has been bothering him because he knows that fat is unpatriotic and un-American. "I'll go on a diet."

He does go on a diet and begins to count his calories like a miser. He even joins a gym club to get more exercise. The first few pounds evaporate like morning dew under a hot sun.

Then Sam runs into a few hard facts that every dieter learns:

That losing weight is hard, lonely, grueling work.

In time, discouraged by hunger pangs and the lack of any evident reward, Sam relapses into his old pattern.

Just as the doctor promised, Sam dies 10 years early, and soon his family is on government relief.

An, but what a different end to the story if an alert government, wise to the true financial situation, should enter the picture.

Here's what happens:

An agent from the U.S. Internal Revenue Service phones Sam:

"Sam, your doctor tells us you've got to drop 40 pounds or you'll be off our tax rolls 10 years early. We don't want that to happen because in 10 years we figure to collect maybe $30,000 from you.

"So here's our deal. We'll give you a $1,000 cash bonus the day you can show us you've lost those 40 pounds, and we'll pay you $100 a month in cash for every month that you stay at that level."

Well, what live taxpayer wouldn't jump at the chance to get something back from the government? Who wouldn't take off weight if he was paid to do it?

Sam quickly fasts away the 40 pounds and has so much energy he doubles his salary, which makes the tax people as happy as it does him.

STATISTICIANS NOT BARGAIN HUNTERS

Not long ago, the National Commission on Food Marketing, after some two years of study, released its Report on the food industry. The report leaves much to be desired in knowledge of the food production and distribution system. However, one finding of the Report is highly significant. The Commission unanimously agreed that the Consumer Price Index can be improved.

The Commission discovered that the government listing of retail prices--particularly in fresh meat -- is markedly overstated because, among other reasons, it doesn't give enough consideration to weekend specials in the supermarket. Rare is the consumer who does not take advantage of these specials. They are an integral part of the modern mass-distribution system under which merchants, both chain and independents, endeavor to move a maximum volume at minimum prices. Consumers are apparently more familiar with the day to day operation of the distribution system than the compilers of the price index.

It is unlikely that government statistics will ever be able to measure accurately the performance of prices in a free market. Statisticians are not bargain hunters. That is why the housewife can beat the statistics. Also, a set of statistics cannot foresee or measure the resourcefulness of the merchant who is endeavoring to meet the changing tastes and demands of consumers. In fact, as long as the free play of supply and demand and competition govern the distribution system, the price index should be looked upon with a wary eye.

One thing is certain. It is far better to have indices that cannot keep up with the flexibility of the market than to have fixed prices in a controlled market for the convenience of the statisticians.

Three men were ready to step into the president's shoes at a moment's notice; two were treading on the heels of the sales manager; the bookkeepers were prospective auditors; the stenographers were budding secretaries.

Every one had equipped himself with special knowledge for the big jobs. Of fifty people, none had learned the technique of a small job. And so the mighty brain power of a whole organization was halted until a switchboard operator could be found.

We need men who are familiar with the broad principles of business technique, but the fact remains that you can think and plan a business into bankruptcy if no one is willing to concern himself with details.

The old idea of starting a boy in with a broom had a certain measure of merit.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- On May 14, this writer devoted a column to the city of Detroit and its mayor, Jerome Patrick Cavanagh, describing him as the No. 1 glamor mayor of America, now facing the fact that his wife had left him, that he had spent too much time traveling abroad, that his city had the biggest crime increase of any in the USA and that he faced a recall.

The mayor vigorously denied these points and threatened a libel suit over the report that his wife had left him.

As of this week, unfortunately, most of the above facts resulted in tragic headlines across the nation. Mrs. Cavanagh sued for separate maintenance. The police let part of the population get completely out of hand. And the city faced $200,000,000 of damages in the worst street looting in the last half century.

Traveling over Detroit by helicopter, observers looked down on charred walls, lone chimneys, smoking ruins, a scene familiar to American bomber pilots over Germany in World War II. No one would ever have thought it could happen in America.

Yet it did happen, in a city which was completely integrated, where Negores had lucrative jobs in the auto plants, the only city in the USA sending two Negroes to congress. In Detroit, Negroes and whites for many years have lived side by side. Most of them owned their own homes. Walter Reuther years ago had welcomed Negroes into the United Auto Workers, making it one of the most completely integrated unions in the nation.

THE DETROIT STORY

Yet sections of this model city now lie in smoldering ruins.

Why? There is no one reply to that question; but telling the story of what happened may give the answers.

Trouble began at 5 a.m. Sunday when the police raided the "Blind Pig" in the 12th Street area. There is a 2 a.m. closing time for liquor establishments in Detroit, and the police would have been remiss had they failed to raid the Blind Pig.

Inside they arrested 70 Negroes, and started to load them into three cars. However they did not get them loaded fast enough, and a crowd of pimps and prostitutes gathered. They began to hoot and jeer, then threw rocks at car windows.

This points to one reason for the Detroit outbreak -- namely, the crime increase and police failure to clean it up. Those who started the Detroit riots were the criminal element. But they spread. The Detroit riots were the criminal element. But they spread. And Detroit police, understaffed by 500 men, were inadequate.

At first, however, it was not their fault. They were ordered not to resist looters. The head of the civil rights commission, Damon Keith, a Negro who is expected to become a federal judge, phoned the news media asking them not to publicize the riots; to give Negro leaders time to get things under control.

Congressman John Conyers, a Negro invaded the 12th Street area to urge his fellow Negroes to keep the peace. Conyers was knocked off the top of his car.

Meanwhile the police stood by, still under orders not to shoot. All over town this word spread like wildfire. It was a free license to loot. Black and white citizens alike took advantage of that license. Out of one store the Negroes carried a safe. A policeman looked the other way.

Through Sunday the looting continued. Food, appliances, furs, clothing, firearms, all were carried away by the armful or the truckload. Drug stores and liquor stores were broken open. Looters got drunk on gin and hopped up on drugs.

Finally, late Sunday evening, the National Guard was ordered in. But there was another delay of three hours. Meanwhile the looting continued. And during the Sunday night it spread to the east side, and a day later to Pontiac and surrounding cities. Like a prairie fire it spread.

One committee representing 191 grocers told their story. All white, they had been wiped out. They had not been able to get insurance in that part of town. One man told how he had worked seven days a week for 24 years, saved up $28,000. Now all was gone.

There was a total of 714 reported fires. Early Monday morning a woman called the fire department, beseeching them to come to her home. She said it was on fire.

The department responded to her entreaties. The fire engines ran into a deadly crossfire of shooting. It was a trap. The firemen had to abandon two of their trucks.

Police commissioner Ray Girardin had organized crack emergency police squads to cope with the riots in different sections of Detroit. They remained immobile, not called upon to operate.

The reasons for the razing of some parts of America's fifth biggest city can be summarized as follows:

1. The criminal element in Detroit was unruly even before the riots started. They started the trouble. After that, looting by all elements got out of hand.

2. The Detroit police were ordered not to fire on looters.

3. The Stokely Carmichaels, Floyd McKissicks, Brett Browns and other extremists among Negro leaders had been given so much publicity on television and elsewhere that too many Negroes believed their creed that the Negro had a right to "take."

The teacher asked Johnny, "Is the world round?"

"No'm," was the short reply.

"It isn't?" excaimed the teacher. "Well, then, Johnny, is it flat?"

"No'm," was Johnny's reply again.

"Well," said the teacher with a smile, "if the world isn't round, and it isn't flat, then tell me, what is it?"

Johnny looked confident as he replied, "Dad says it's crooked!"

* * *

Jenny came running breathlessly. "It's all over the school!" she cried.

"What is?" asked the teacher, excitedly.

"The roof"

H. L. Hunt Says

KOSYGIN REMEMBERED

Some U.S. newspaper columnists and television commentators tried to portray Russian Premier Kosygin when he met with President Johnson in a New Jersey town as a mellowing man who would go far to see matters our way. Kosygin himself quickly showed the fallaciousness of this notion in his diatribe before the UN. The question is how the columnists and commentators could have forgotten for a moment that he is premier of the Soviet Union and thus a leading force in the worldwide conspiracy against freedom in the United States and everywhere else in the world.

Kosygin and men like him are responsible for the fact that 470,000 American servicemen must fight communist aggression in the jungles and rice paddies of Vietnam. They are responsible for the death of thousands of U.S. soldiers in South Korea. They are responsible for the cold war and a U.S. defense budget of approximately $70 billion a year.

Kosygin and his fellow-communists have turned Cuba into a Red bastion less than 100 miles from the U.S. shoreline. They are working now daily to export Fidel Castro's revolution to other countries of Latin America.

The Soviet premier's presence in this country should have reminded Americans forcefully of Soviet duplicity at Yalta, Potsdam, Cairo and Teheran, of political assassinations committed by hired Soviet murderers, of the massacre of 4,000 Polish officers in Katyn Forest, and of the unending communist persecution of religion. No mellow memories are aroused by Premier Kosygin. It is difficult to see how he could have any apologists in the United States. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

BEHIND THE RIOTS

Record Reveals Many Poverty Headquarters Infiltrated by Mao-ist, Castro - ite Guerrilla 'Youth'

Washington, D.C.: -- The poverty people had better look to their semantics. Revolutionary antics and propaganda operations of hundreds of their aides in the "lower depths" are turning the American dream into a nightmare.

They've not yet learned that they're taken literally and seriously when they orate in terms of the social revolution -- fight city hall, smash the establishment, crack the power structure, and put the wings on community action. When this sociological jargon seeps down to the ghettos it begets violence.

Yet the Office of Economic Opportunity (O.E.O.) and thousands of its tiny -- sometimes store-front -- headquarters are loaded with literature and promoters of street action. Some of the latter are of the new left, the independent Mao - ists, the Trotskyites, the pro - Peking Progressive Labor Party "youth" and even Muscovite Communist Party activists including an occasional old time courier.

Someone said recently there are minuscular movements which inject large doses of Catroitis into the teeming regions of the turbulent poor. Many "new left" leaders operate their own crusades and in some fashion, by becoming sub - units of subsidiaries of sections of regional groupings of the poverty program, receive federal subsidies.

It's gotten so out of hand that one of the O.E.O.'s highest officials, himself a militant liberal out of the labor movement, moaned the other day that:

"The time has come to put the provocateurs away. Someone should have the courage to pick up Stokely Carmichael and that playwright Leroi Jones (specialist in the new lewd drama -- VR) and Rap Brown and put them in protective custody. They talk too much of killing and killing. They incite. They play into the Mao-ist hands. What will happen if we suddenly need five or six thousand U.S. army paratroopers in ten or twelve cities? Where will we get them? What will happen if they're not available?"

Thus bitterly spoke a man who has spent his entire life fighting for the poor and organizing unions on the roughest fronts, and who is considered one of the government's leading intellectuals. As Detroit, the model of city programming, burned, he added, "this is the stinkingest day of my life."

In many regions the poverty program has meshed well with the "power structure." But in many other heavily concentrated population centers it is out of control. In some areas of New York City, the record will show that street gangs have been subsidized by units of the poverty "crusade." The teen-age thugs have been wooed and even provided with money and store-front headquarters -- thus crippling the influence of moderate groups seeking to discuss housing and education.

There are receipted bills to prove that men identified with the Communists have been subsidized for organizing rent strike action, street movements and picketing of city hall.

There are experts who say they have evidence that youth operating on the fringe of the programs have distributed leaflets containing instructions for the manufacture of Molotov cocktails.

There was Leroi Jones' Black Arts Repertory Theatre in Harlem. It was brutally anti - white. When the police raided it they found a cache of automatic guns, small arms, ammunition, brass knuckles and explosives. This was no modern museum. It was a revolutionary cell. And it had been subsidized by Haryou-Act, a section of the poverty operation.

It is believed that, in one fashion or other, this is the pattern in Newark, Detroit and other fire - bombed cities. The militants don't start the riots. The federal government has no evidence that there are coast-to-coast flying squads. But once the flares and the criminal forces move in to loot and burn, then the revolutionary fervor billows up among the ghetto people. They have been listening so long to talk of social and community action, that they decide to implement the talk, which springs not only from on high here in the capital but from the youth of the small, intra - city revolutionary cells.

And it is the fashion to hire these young revolutionaries. They zero in on the poor who have been told to organize themselves and run the poverty program. The poor don't know that their districts have been colonized by the militant fractions such as the Maoist and revolutionary guerrilla actionists of the Progressive Labor Party.

Furthermore, the community action talk also comes from respectable circles which believe that the community people and community "unions" should smash the old labor establishment as well as the "power structure" at city hall.

Look at the record. Look at the network of Saul Alinsky "visible" operations. Even Walter Reuther's Citizens Crusade Against Poverty (CCAP) people talk in these terms.

About a year ago, Richard Boone, CCAP executive director, told me:

"As we see it the recruits would come into a central center for a month and they would be given a thorough history of work with the poor. . . The big question is whether we will play an Alinsky approach or be nice guys. Our position really is pragmatic. Local situations differ. People we train must be able to take the establishment on a conflict basis. Sometimes the operation must be less overt. . . Alinsky seeks out a powerful issue, housing maybe, school maybe, and literally attacks the establishment on that issue. This is a very visible process and generates support.

"We must train workers to take advantage of both approaches, the quiet and the overt action."

Certainly Mr. Boone did not have this week's Detroit in mind. But he and other sociologists and university people are long overdue in realizing that the semantics of the scholars can be the incendiaries of the proletariat.

They just don't talk a common language. Detroit, the model, proved that.

SENATOR LONG IN TROUBLE

Missouri Senator Edward Long's refusal to identify legal clients he has referred to Morris A. Shenker, a St. Louis attorney, may be in accord with ethical canons of the bar, but it is nevertheless politically damaging. The Senator has acknowledged receiving more than $48,000 in referral fees from Mr. Shenker, whose clients include the Teamsters Union.

Mr. Long has been discussing his affairs with the Senate Ethics Committee and defending his refusal to be specific on the ground of confidential lawyer-client relationships. He reportedly has told the committee the referred legal work involved corporate, trust, estate, personal injury and business cases, but no federal, state or criminal cases. He has made a point that there has been no showing of wrongdoing in his activities.

It is true that there is no proof of wrongdoing. But implications can be read into the situation by political opponents. Unless Mr. Long can produce and explanation that is satisfactory to the voters of Missouri, he may have an uphill fight for renomination and reelection next year.

Mr. Long's plight has already caused a surge of activity among the state's politicians. It has increased the pressure on Representative Thomas B. Curtis of Webster Groves to become the Republican candidate for the Senate. If Mr. Long appears politically vulnerable to the Democrats it would open the way for a Democratic Senate candidate such as Lt. Gov. Thomas Eagleton. And if Mr. Curtis tries for the Senate it would permit a strong GOP candidate - St. Louis County Supervisor Lawrence Roos, for example - to seek his House seat.

So there may be a good deal hanging on the fate of Senator Long. Whether he can identify the clients (which he might do if he obtained their permission) we do not know. But it is plain that unless he can clear himself of all suspicion and remove the matter of the referral fees from the coming campaign, he is in trouble. - Post Dispatch

"You have two compartments," Mrs. John F. Kennedy told a newspaper reporter in October 1960: "Your private life and public life." The first compartment has never been as large or unassailable as Mrs. Kennedy might wish, but it has survived constant battering by communications media and the public. Thus, her 38th birthday anniversary, on Friday, July 28, no doubt will be celebrated quietly by members of the family and perhaps a few close friends.

The past year has been a trying one for Jacqueline Kennedy. Her battle with William Manchester over the contents of Death of a President brought her once again into the limelight. It also gave rise to the widespread criticism of her behavior since the assassination of President Kennedy.

While Mrs. Kennedy cannot prevent her picture from appearing on the covers of movie magazines, she can see to it that her children are shielded from the glare of publicity. Few pictures of Caroline and John Jr. appear in magazines or newspapers, and rarely is anything written about them. In time they will become public figures, as their mother is today, but childhood is a time for privacy.

If it were not for the fact that it is so damn serious the manuevering of President Johnson and Governor Romney in the Detroit burning, destroying, and looting would be ludicrous.

The governor is a candidate for President, so is Johnson, so Romney wants to put the cat on Johnson's back by calling for federal troops instead of using the Michigan national guards.

Local police can handle all of those riots if the ones in charge will tell them to stop the looting and burning.

The shooting to stop it should be aimed at the white looters as well as at the Negroes.

Pictures and wire stories confirm the fact that there are white as well as black that do the rioting and looting.

NEW YORK (AP) — Should the government pay fat people to lose weight?

Why not?

At first glance the proposal may sound ridiculous, but if all factors are considered, it makes at least as much sense as many other government support programs.

If Uncle Sam is willing to pay a farmer an allotment to reduce his acreage under cultivation, why shouldn't he be equally willing to hand a little cash to tubby city dwellers as an incentive to hold down their production of fat?

Such a program is fundamentally sound because all concerned would profit, including the government itself.

How? Well, let's see.

Let us first examine a typical fatty case today, Sam Slugg, a middle-aged breadwinner with a wife and two kids, a $12,000 annual income, and 40 pounds of excess body weight.

"Sam," his doctor warns him, "you've got to take off those 40 pounds or you're going to die 10 years early. It's as simple as that."

"Okay," says Sam, whose conscience already has been bothering him because he knows that fat is unpatriotic and un-American. "I'll go on a diet."

He does go on a diet and begins to count his calories like a miser. He even joins a gym club to get more exercise. The first few pounds evaporate like morning dew under a hot sun.

Then Sam runs into a few hard facts that every dieter learns:

That losing weight is hard, lonely, grueling work.

In time, discouraged by hunger pangs and the lack of any evident reward, Sam relapses into his old pattern.

Just as the doctor promised, Sam dies 10 years early, and soon his family is on government relief.

Ah, but what a different end to the story if an alert government, wise to the true financial situation, should enter the picture.

Here's what happens:

An agent from the U.S. Internal Revenue Service phones Sam:

"Sam, your doctor tells us you've got to drop 40 pounds or you'll be off our tax rolls 10 years early. We don't want that to happen because in 10 years we figure to collect maybe $30,000 from you.

"So here's our deal. We'll give you a $1,000 cash bonus the day you can show us you've lost those 40 pounds, and we'll pay you $100 a month in cash for every month that you stay at that level."

Well, what live taxpayer wouldn't jump at the chance to get something back from the government? Who wouldn't take off weight if he was paid to do it?

Sam quickly fasts away the 40 pounds and has so much energy he doubles his salary, which makes the tax people as happy as it does him.

STATISTICIANS NOT BARGAIN HUNTERS

Not long ago, the National Commission on Food Marketing, after some two years of study, released its Report on the food industry. The report leaves much to be desired in knowledge of the food production and distribution system. However, one finding of the Report is highly significant. The Commission unanimously agreed that the Consumer Price Index can be improved.

The Commission discovered that the government listing of retail prices--particularly in fresh meat -- is markedly overstated because, among other reasons, it doesn't give enough consideration to weekend specials in the supermarket. Rare is the consumer who does not take advantage of these specials. They are an integral part of the modern mass-distribution system under which merchants, both chain and independents, endeavor to move a maximum volume at minimum prices. Consumers are apparently more familiar with the day to day operation of the distribution system than the compilers of the price index.

It is unlikely that government statistics will ever be able to measure accurately the performance of prices in a free market. Statisticians are not bargain hunters. That is why the housewife can beat the statistics. Also, a set of statistics cannot foresee or measure the resourcefulness of the merchant who is endeavoring to meet the changing tastes and demands of consumers. In fact, as long as the free play of supply and demand and competition govern the distribution system, the price index should be looked upon with a wary eye.

One thing is certain. It is far better to have indices that cannot keep up with the flexibility of the market than to have fixed prices in a controlled market for the convenience of the statisticians.

"Why do you do that?" she finally asked.

"To make me beautiful," said her mother. Then she started to remove the cream with a facial tissue.

"What's the matter?" asked the little girl. "Giving up?"

Everything was at a standstill. Both telephone girls were sick and no one could operate the switchboard.

Three men were ready to step into the president's shoes at a moment's notice; two were treading on the heels of the sales manager; the bookkeepers were prospective auditors; the stenographers were budding secretaries.

Every one had equipped himself with special knowledge for the big jobs. Of fifty people, none had learned the technique of a small job. And so the mighty brain power of a whole organization was halted until a switchboard operator could be found.

We need men who are familiar with the broad principles of business technique, but the fact remains that you can think and plan a business into bankruptcy if no one is willing to concern himself with details.

The old idea of starting a boy in with a broom had a certain measure of merit.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- On May 14, this writer devoted a column to the city of Detroit and its mayor, Jerome Patrick Cavanagh, describing him as the No. 1 glamor mayor of America, now facing the fact that his wife had left him, that he had spent too much time traveling abroad, that his city had the biggest crime increase of any in the USA and that he faced a recall.

The mayor vigorously denied these points and threatened a libel suit over the report that his wife had left him.

As of this week, unfortunately, most of the above facts resulted in tragic headlines across the nation. Mrs. Cavanagh sued for separate maintenance. The police let part of the population get completely out of hand. And the city faced $200,000,000 of damages in the worst street looting in the last half century.

Traveling over Detroit by helicopter, observers looked down on charred walls, lone chimneys, smoking ruins, a scene familiar to American bomber pilots over Germany in World War II. No one would ever have thought it could happen in America.

Yet it did happen, in a city which was completely integrated, where Negores had lucrative jobs in the auto plants, the only city in the USA sending two Negroes to congress. In Detroit, Negroes and whites for many years have lived side by side. Most of them owned their own homes. Walter Reuther years ago had welcomed Negroes into the United Auto Workers, making it one of the most completely integrated unions in the nation.

THE DETROIT STORY

Yet sections of this model city now lie in smoldering ruins.

Why? There is no one reply to that question; but telling the story of what happened may give the answers.

Trouble began at 5 a.m. Sunday when the police raided the "Blind Pig" in the 12th Street area. There is a 2 a.m. closing time for liquor establishments in Detroit, and the police would have been remiss had they failed to raid the Blind Pig.

Inside they arrested 70 Negroes, and started to load them into three cars. However they did not get them loaded fast enough, and a crowd of pimps and prostitutes gathered. They began to hoot and jeer, then threw rocks at car windows.

This points to one reason for the Detroit outbreak -- namely, the crime increase and police failure to clean it up. Those who started the Detroit riots were the criminal element. But they spread. The Detroit riots were the criminal element. But they spread. And Detroit police, understaffed by 500 men, were inadequate.

At first, however, it was not their fault. They were ordered not to resist looters. The head of the civil rights commission, Damon Keith, a Negro who is expected to become a federal judge, phoned the news media asking them not to publicize the riots; to give Negro leaders time to get things under control.

Congressman John Conyers, a Negro invaded the 12th Street area to urge his fellow Negroes to keep the peace. Conyers was knocked off the top of his car.

Meanwhile the police stood by, still under orders not to shoot. All over town this word spread like wildfire. It was a free license to loot. Black and white citizens alike took advantage of that license. Out of one store the Negroes carried a safe. A policeman looked the other way.

Through Sunday the looting continued. Food, appliances, furs, clothing, firearms, all were carried away by the armful or the truckload. Drug stores and liquor stores were broken open. Looters got drunk on gin and hopped up on drugs.

Finally, late Sunday evening, the National Guard was ordered in. But there was another delay of three hours. Meanwhile the looting continued. And during the Sunday night it spread to the east side, and a day later to Pontiac and surrounding cities. Like a prairie fire it spread.

One committee representing 191 grocers told their story. All white, they had been wiped out. They had not been able to get insurance in that part of town. One man told how he had worked seven days a week for 24 years, saved up $28,000. Now all was gone.

There was a total of 714 reported fires. Early Monday morning a woman called the fire department, beseeching them to come to her home. She said it was on fire.

The department responded to her entreaties. The fire engines ran into a deadly crossfire of shooting. It was a trap. The firemen had to abandon two of their trucks.

Police commissioner Ray Girardin had organized crack emergency police squads to cope with the riots in different sections of Detroit. They remained immobile, not called upon to operate.

The reasons for the razing of some parts of America's fifth biggest city can be summarized as follows:

1. The criminal element in Detroit was unruly even before the riots started. They started the trouble. After that, looting by all elements got out of hand.
2. The Detroit police were ordered not to fire on looters.
3. The Stokely Carmichaels, Floyd McKissicks, Brett Browns and other extremists among Negro leaders had been given so much publicity on television and elsewhere that too many Negroes believed their creed that the Negro had a right to "take."

KOSYGIN REMEMBERED

Some U.S. newspaper columnists and television commentators tried to portray Russian Premier Kosygin when he met with President Johnson in a New Jersey town as a mellowing man who would go far to see matters our way. Kosygin himself quickly showed the fallaciousness of this notion in his diatribe before the UN. The question is how the columnists and commentators could have forgotten for a moment that he is premier of the Soviet Union and thus a leading force in the worldwide conspiracy against freedom in the United States and everywhere else in the world.

Kosygin and men like him are responsible for the fact that 470,000 American servicemen must fight communist aggression in the jungles and rice paddies of Vietnam. They are responsible for the death of thousands of U.S. soldiers in South Korea. They are responsible for the cold war and a U.S. defense budget of approximately $70 billion a year.

Kosygin and his fellow-communists have turned Cuba into a Red bastion less than 100 miles from the U.S. shoreline. They are working now daily to export Fidel Castro's revolution to other countries of Latin America.

The Soviet premier's presence in this country should have reminded Americans forcefully of Soviet duplicity at Yalta, Potsdam, Cairo and Teheran, of political assassinations committed by hired Soviet murderers, of the massacre of 4,000 Polish officers in Katyn Forest, and of the unending communist persecution of religion. No mellow memories are aroused by Premier Kosygin. It is difficult to see how he could have any apologists in the United States. HLH

Doc. Duncan Says

It has been said that most nations in the past have been destroyed from within. Evidently most people can see that working in our nation now. It is necessary to get the propper kind of boys in high office. The kind that will do away with the constitution, disarm the people and enact restrictive laws, that the masser can't live with or obey. Seems like they are hoping for revolution and ecuse for a military dictatorship.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

BEHIND THE RIOTS

Record Reveals Many Poverty Headquarters Infiltrated by Mao-ist, Castro - ite Guerrilla 'Youth'

Washington, D.C.: -- The poverty people had better look to their semantics. Revolutionary antics and propaganda operations of hundreds of their aides in the "lower depths" are turning the American dream into a nightmare.

They've not yet learned that they're taken literally and seriously when they orate in terms of the social revolution -- fight city hall, smash the establishment, crack the power structure, and put the wings on community action. When this sociological jargon seeps down to the ghettos it begets violence.

Yet the Office of Economic Opportunity (O.E.O.) and thousands of its tiny -- sometimes store-front -- headquarters are loaded with literature and promoters of street action. Some of the latter are of the new left, the independent Mao - ists, the Trotskyites, the pro - Peking Progressive Labor Party "youth" and even Muscovite Communist Party activists including an occasional old time courier.

Someone said recently there are minuscular movements which inject large doses of Catroitis into the teeming regions of the turbulent poor. Many "new left" leaders operate their own crusades and in some fashion, by becoming sub - units of subsidiaries of sections of regional groupings of the poverty program, receive federal subsidies.

It's gotten so out of hand that one of the O.E.O.'s highest officials, himself a militant liberal out of the labor movement, moaned the other day that:

"The time has come to put the provocateurs away. Someone should have the courage to pick up Stokely Carmichael and that playwright Leroi Jones (specialist in the new lewd drama -- VR) and Rap Brown and put them in protective custody. They talk too much of killing and killing. They incite. They play into the Mao-ist hands. What will happen if we suddenly need five or six thousand U.S. army paratroopers in ten or twelve cities? Where will we get them? What will happen if they're not available?"

Thus bitterly spoke a man who has spent his entire life fighting for the poor and organizing unions on the roughest fronts, and who is considered one of the government's leading intellectuals. As Detroit, the model of city programming, burned, he added, "this is the stinkingest day of my life."

In many regions the poverty program has meshed well with the "power structure." But in many other heavily concentrated population centers it is out of control. In some areas of New York City, the record will show that street gangs have been subsidized by units of the poverty "crusade." The teen-age thugs have been wooed and even provided with money and store-front headquarters -- thus crippling the influence of moderate groups seeking to discuss housing and education.

There are receipted bills to prove that men identified with the Communists have been subsidized for organizing rent strike action, street movements and picketing of city hall.

There are experts who say they have evidence that youth operating on the fringe of the programs have distributed leaflets containing instructions for the manufacture of Molotov cocktails.

There was Leroi Jones' Black Arts Repertory Theatre in Harlem. It was brutally anti - white. When the police raided it they found a cache of automatic guns, small arms, ammunition, brass knuckles and explosives. This was no modern museum. It was a revolutionary cell. And it had been subsidized by Haryou-Act, a section of the poverty operation.

It is believed that, in one fashion or other, this is the pattern in Newark, Detroit and other fire - bombed cities. The militants don't start the riots. The federal government has no evidence that there are coast-to-coast flying squads. But once the flares and the criminal forces move in to loot and burn, then the revolutionary fervor billows up among the ghetto people. They have been listening so long to talk of social and community action, that they decide to implement the talk, which springs not only from on high here in the capital but from the youth of the small, intra - city revolutionary cells.

And it is the fashion to hire these young revolutionaries. They zero in on the poor who have been told to organize themselves and run the poverty program. The poor don't know that their districts have been colonized by the militant fractions such as the Maoist and revolutionary guerrilla actionists of the Progressive Labor Party.

Furthermore, the community action talk also comes from respectable circles which believe that the community people and community "unions" should smash the old labor establishment as well as the "power structure" at city hall.

Look at the record. Look at the network of Saul Alinsky "visible" operations. Even Walter Reuther's Citizens Crusade Against Poverty (CCAP) people talk in these terms.

About a year ago, Richard Boone, CCAP executive director, told me:

"As we see it the recruits would come into a central center for a month and they would be given a thorough history of work with the poor. . . The big question is whether we will play an Alinsky approach or be nice guys. Our position really is pragmatic. Local situations differ. People we train must be able to take the establishment on a conflict basis. Sometimes the operation must be less overt. . . Alinsky seeks out a powerful issue, housing maybe, school maybe, and literally attacks the establishment on that issue. This is a very visible process and generates support.

"We must train workers to take advantage of both approaches, the quiet and the overt action."

Certainly Mr. Boone did not have this week's Detroit in mind. But he and other sociologists and university people are long overdue in realizing that the semantics of the scholars can be the incendiaries of the proletariat.

They just don't talk a common language. Detroit, the model, proved that.

Dick Caskey Appearing In Theater

Dick Caskey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Caskey, 918 Allen Blvd. is appearing at the Starlight theater, a summer stock theater similar to St. Louis' municipal opera, in Kansas City this summer.

He is appearing in "The Unsinkable Molly Brown." Earlier he played the brother to Shirley Jones, Hollywood movie star, in "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever."

Caskey is a senior at the University of Kansas in Lawrence, in drama and lacks one semester of receiving his teaching degree in drama.

He appeared in productions in this high school and college career included "Music Man," "West Side Story" and "Tom Thumb."

The summer after his sophomore year at the University o Kansas he was among six students at the school selected by the state department to tour Europe and present dramatic productions. Six weeks were spent in countries behind the iron curtain.

A member of the chorus at the Starlight theater, Caskey was one of three selected to appear with the road company of "Music Man" during its run.

The oldest naval weapon, the ram -- an underwater beak for puncturing an enemy vessel -- had a curious career in modern sea warfare. Rams had worked well on ancient oar-driven galleys but not at all on sailing craft, too slow and unmaneuverable for ramming through the age of sail. In the 1860's, the ram made a comeback because steam propulsion gave ships new speed and control, and -- paradoxically -- because armor plating hardened them. When ironclads' cannonballs bounced harmlessly off each other, it seemed the only way to left to hurt an enemy was to ram him. After some Civil War use, ramming made a big hit in an 1866 Austrian-Italian battle. The Austrian flagship, though without a ram, drove its orn bow into the Italian flagship, which sank quickly. That smashing success set a fashion in warships. Every heavy ship launched thereafter in the world's navies bore a ram. This device was not the ancient sharp spike - which might jam immovably in a pierced hull --but a rounded bump of solid metal, weighing 20 tons, designed to crush the side in. Ironically, the only damage these massive bludgeons ever accomplished was by mistake. Half a dozen harbor collissions between warships and other craft proved lethal, culminating in an 1893 accident when one parading British battleship struck another, sinking it with crew and fleet admiral. But in war, torpedoes and shells now kept fighting ships far apart, making the ram useless. It was finally discarded forever in the early 1920's.

Robert the five-year-old son of an Army general and well aware that no one dared complain to his father, was the terror of the post and made life miserable for all the officer neighbors. But one day Robert met his Waterloo.

Colonel Jones was planting tulip bulbs in his yard. Robert was right behind him, digging them up. The colonel asked him to stop. Robert went right on digging up bulbs. Colonel Jones could stand no more and shouted, "Robert, get out of my yard!"

"I don't have to," retorted Robert. "You know why? Because my father's a general - that's why."

"Well," rejoined the colonel, "my father's a general, too."

"My father has two stars," said Robert.

"My father has four stars," said the Colonel firmly. Visibly shaken, Robert left the colonel's yard, never to bother him again.

Charlton-Hornback Vows Pledged in Kentucky

WINGO, Ky. -- The Methodist church was the scene June 23 at 7:30 p.m. for the candlelight wedding of Miss Marilyn Ann Charlton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Charlton, and David Hornback, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hornback of Charleston, Mo.

The Rev. John Boyd officiated at the ceremony.

The vows were pledged before an arch, entwined with greenery and flanked by twin baskets of white gladioli and wrought iron candelabra. A lighted taper was in each church window.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a white bridal satin empire style gown with an A-line skirt and elbow length bell sleeves. Hand applique rose designs accented with tiny pearls were on the sleeves and lower center skirt, matching the ones also on the train. This gown was fashioned by the mother of the bride.

Her bouffant elbow-length veil was attached to a satin pill box with pearls, and her bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white carnations, lily of the valley, with a detachable miniature white rose corsage in the center.

Mrs. Ralph Fite, pianist and Mrs. Howard Ward, soloist, presented the nuptial music.

Mrs. Gail Roberts, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Andra Wallace, Hopkinsville, and Miss Doris Elliott, of Wingo, sorority sisters of the bride.

They wore pale yellow crepe floor-length empire frocks, accented with matching flower trim. Their headpieces were of yellow net, attached to a yellow fabric rose.

Each carried one long stemmed yellow rose.

Shari Roberts, niece of the bride, was attired like the attendants, and she carried a yellow basket.

Bill Morgan served as best man. Ushers were Jerry Hamm and Dennis Stockman.

Chuck Roberts, nephew of the bride, lighted the candles.

The mother of the bride wore a pale blue lace sheath with a matching hat. At her shoulder was pinned an orchid corsage.

The mother of the groom chose a dark blue sheath with matching accessories. Her corsage was also an orchid.

The Fellowship Hall of the church was the scene of the reception.

The bride's table was covered with a hand crocheted white cloth over yellow with a centerpiece of yellow gladioli. Serving at the reception were Mrs. Donald Charlton, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Penny Kell, Mrs. Larry Chappell, Mrs. Thomas Mullins, Miss Deborah Mullins.

Miss Sue Ann Watson, sorority sister of the bride, kept the guest register.

Miss Mary Jane Wood caught the bride's bouquet.

For a wedding trip the bride wore a yellow and orange A-line ensemble. The bride and groom will make their home in Fort Eustis, Va.

Our Military Assistance Advisory Team in Konya, Turkey, had just finished dinner on December 7, 1959. Talk turned to where each man had been when the attack on Pearl Harbor was announced 18 years before. The officers and noncoms, mostly old soldiers, mentioned their whereabouts and reaction to the news. Only one NCO, a six-foot-five master sergeant, appeared reluctant to tell his story. "Sergeant," I asked, "where were you?"

"Well, sir," he replied, "I was in Columbia, S.C., and I think I was on weekend pass from the second grade."

When the Santa Ana Register published a story saying that girls in Thailand had been reprimanded for their "open kissing greetings" of GI's, I clipped the article and sent it to my nephew, who is now on detached duty with the Marines in Thailand.

He replied that he immediately posted the clipping on the company's bulletin board. The next day, as he walked past, he noticed that someone had tacked a carefully printed headline on the story, reading: "Love Thai Neighbor."

Dick Caskey Appearing In Theater

Dick Caskey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Caskey, 918 Allen Blvd. is appearing at the Starlight theater, a summer stock theater similar to St. Louis' municipal opera, in Kansas City this summer.

He is appearing in "The Unsinkable Molly Brown." Earlier he played the brother to Shirley Jones, Hollywood movie star, in "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever."

Caskey is a senior at the University of Kansas in Lawrence, in drama and lacks one semester of receiving his teaching degree in drama.

He appeared in productions in this high school and college career included "Music Man," "West Side Story" and "Tom Thumb."

The summer after his sophomore year at the University o Kansas he was among six students at the school selected by the state department to tour Europe and present dramatic productions. Six weeks were spent in countries behind the iron curtain.

A member of the chorus at the Starlight theater, Caskey was one of three selected to appear with the road company of "Music Man" during its run.

The oldest naval weapon, the ram -- an underwater beak for puncturing an enemy vessel -- had a curious career in modern sea warfare. Rams had worked well on ancient oar-driven galleys but not at all on sailing craft, too slow and unmaneuverable for ramming through the age of sail. In the 1860's, the ram made a comeback because steam propulsion gave ships new speed and control, and -- paradoxically -- because armor plating hardened them. When ironclads' cannonballs bounced harmlessly off each other, it seemed the only way to left to hurt an enemy was to ram him. After some Civil War use, rammin made a big hit in an 1866 Austrian-Italian battle. The Austrian flagship, though without a ram, drove its orn bow into the Italian flagship, which sank quickly. That smashing success set a fashion in warships. Every heavy ship launched thereafter in the world's navies bore a ram. This device was not the ancient sharp spike - which might jam immovably in a pierced hull --but a rounded bump of solid metal, weighing 20 tons, designed to crush the side in. Ironically, the only damage these massive bludgeons ever accomplished was by mistake. Half a dozen harbor collissions between warships and other craft proved lethal, culminating in an 1893 accident when one parading British battleship struck another, sinking it with crew and fleet admiral. But in war, torpedoes and shells now kept fighting ships far apart, making the ram useless. It was finally discarded forever in the early 1920's.

Robert the five-year-old son of an Army general and well aware that no one dared complain to his father, was the terror of the post and made life miserable for all the officer neighbors. But one day Robert met his Waterloo.

Colonel Jones was planting tulip bulbs in his yard. Robert was right behind him, digging them up. The colonel asked him to stop. Robert went right on digging up bulbs. Colonel Jones could stand no more and shouted, "Robert, get out of my yard!"

"I don't have to," retorted Robert. "You know why? Because my father's a general - that's why."

"Well," rejoined the colonel, "my father's a general, too."

"My father has two stars," said Robert.

"My father has four stars," said the Colonel firmly. Visibly shaken, Robert left the colonel's yard, never to bother him again.

Is Running The Ball Worth It?

LAKE FOREST, Ill. -- They don't pay Charley Johnson to be a coward on Sunday afternoon. But it's not a bad idea.

It's not exactly that the Cardinals want Johnson to run scared. They simply prefer that he not run at all. One - legged quarterbacks are hardly designed for broken field travel in the NFL.

But Johnson isn't ready to concere the point. "I can't do my job if I'm worrying about getting hurt," he says. "The only thing I can worry about is getting those first downs. "Sometimes, I'm going to have to run. There are going to be third down situations in tight games when I won't be able to stop myself."

On one such situation in the ninth game of 1966, Johnson did run . . . got the first down. . . and probably cost the Big Red a championship.

When he limped off the field at Yankee Stadium with a ligament damage to his right knee, the Cardinals led the Eastern Division by 1 1/2 games. Without him the rest of the way, they won only one of five and finished fourth.

"But I was hurt twice in 1965," he argues, "and on both occasions I had already thrown the pass and was standing still."

So whether they are moving or stable, quarterbacks make appetizing targets. But the Cardinals can't afford to allow Johnson to be a target. They must protect him. And he must cooperate.

During the past four seasons, a healthy Johnson has directed the Big Red to a 29-10-3 record - a victory percentage of .744. Only Bart Starr of the Packers (41-12-3 for .774) boasts a superior winning average.

Over the same period, Johnny Unitas is .709 and Frank Ryan .727.

The rub, of course, is that Johnson frequently has been injured during that four - season stretch. In '65, it was his shoulder and last year it was his knee. With their No. 1 quarterback in sub-par condition or sidelined, the Cardinals have won just two of 14.

With Johnson at the throttle in '66, the Big Red scored 212 points in nine games -- an average of 23-plus per outing. Without him in the final five, they scored 54 -- an average of 10.8.

During that final five - week stretch, the other league members averaged 24 points per game each. And the most ineffectual of the fraternity registered 30 points more than St. Louis.

In the last five games, the Cardinals twice failed to score even one touchdown -- and counted a total of four TD's in their exercises with Pittsburgh (twice), Atlanta, Dallas and Cleveland.

So Johnson's importance to the Cardinals can hardly be overemphasized. With him, they are contenders; without him, they're creampuffs.

In one way, the 28-year-old Texan is stronger than ever before. The results of a strenuous off - season weight program are obvious.

"I didn't put on any weight," he says. "I just rearranged it. But I feel a lot stronger. I can throw harder and for longer stretches. I've got a lot more stamina."

Still, there's the knee. "I'm going to wear a light brace of leather and aluminum," Johnson points out, "and it should protect from the shock of being hit.

"But my knee is still so loose that I could reinjure it myself just running or cutting on it. There's no protection against that."

Except discretion. Be intimidated, Charley. Hide behind Ernie McMillan. Don't run with the ball. Don't stand still without it. Be a coward. Win a championship.

The exhibition pro football season opens Saturday night in Akron, Ohio, which means the championship season in both the National and American Leagues isn't far off.

The Miami Dolphins and the Denver Broncos, two AFL clubs, are pitted against each other in a game that marks the return to the pro sport of Lou Saban.

Saban resigned as coach of the Buffalo Bills to become head coach at the University of Maryland, then left the Terps to become coach at Denver.

The NFL exhibition season opens next Wednesday with New Orleans playing Los Angeles at Anaheim.

Fullback Gene Foster, the last of the San Diego Chargers' three mutineers, returned to training camp Thursday. He was fined a total of $1,600 by Coach - General Manager Sid Gillman. That included $100 for each of six practice drills he missed.

Defensive backs Leslie Duncan and Kenny Graham, who had left camp with Foster, had returned Tuesday and were fined $1,200 each.

George Mira, one of quarterbacks for San Francisco, who had been excused because of illness in his family, arrived in the 49ers camp and said he was ready to scrimmage Saturday.

Donny Anderson scored the only touchdown as the offense beat the defense 10-0 in a Green Bay Packer squad tilt. A week from tonight the Packers face the College All-Stars in the annual game at Chicago.

Flood Hopeful Starter at Atlanta

Cards Open Series Tonight

ATLANTA, Ga. - The Cardinals were in a happy frame of mind as they arrived here Thursday night for a three-game series with the fourth place Atlanta Braves, starting tonight.

And why shouldn't the Red Birds be happy? They broke the spell of the second-place Cubs - at least temporarily - by beating the hot Chicagoans in two of the three games played at Busch Stadium to grap a two-game lead.

The day off Thursday was the first for the Red Birds since the All-Star game on July 11. Since that time they won six games and lost four as they battled the top three contenders. In addition to their 2-1 edge over the Cubs, the Birds split a four-game set with the Braves at St. Louis and nipped the Reds two games to one at Cincinnati.

A NEW DEAL

And now they start all over again. They'll play seven games on this trip, finishing their series with a Sunday afternoon game after meeting the Braves Saturday night. Then they hop up to Chicago for single games Monday and Tuesday and a doubleheader Wednesday.

Then the Birds return home next Friday for the start of the 13-game stand. Their first rival will be the Reds.

Dick (8-3) Hughes is scheduled to face the Braves in series opener, and will be opposed by southpaw Denny (7-4) Lemaster.

The start will be the sixth of the month for Hughes, who shows but one victory. However, he managed to get off the hook in the other games. He beat the Braves, 2-0, on a two-hitter on May 25.

MILD SLUMP

Lemaster, now on a three-game losing streak, hurled a one-hitter to beat Bob Gibson, 2-0, on May 21. He again faced the Cards on July 22, but dropped a 3-1 verdict to Steve Carlton.

Curt Flood, who was taken off the disabled list Thursday, probably will take up his old post in center field. The Cardinals can use his bat and his defensive skill.

"Flood has been working out," Manager Red Schoendienst said, "He's been taking batting practice and has played catch with anyone that has been around. We just want to see him make a long throw from the outfield.

Another bright feature in the last few Cardinal games is that Lou Brock is swinging, hitting and running again and that's enough to worry any rival.

MAKES POINT

"I've been swinging good," Brock said, "but right at some one. And now they are falling in, and that makes the difference," he said. He has slammed seven hits in his last 12 at bats. And when he gets on he runs.

"When Brock runs you have a chance to hit because he opens up the infield," Julian Javier commented. And Schoendienst had to agree with his infielder. "Brock can run," the Redhead said, "and when he does he makes the other guys hurry and when they do they are apt to make mistakes."

Detroit Moves Into Third

Last Place Astros Trim Pirates 5-4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Houston's dynamic duo, about the only thing that has kept the Astros from falling through the bottom of the National League this season, is showing signs of becoming a threesome.

Joe Morgan, now genuinely out of the hitting slump that plagued him through the early part of the season, won a game for the Astros with a run-scoring single in the bottom of the ninth for the second straight time as Houston trimmed Pittsburgh 5-4 Thursday night.

"Look at my roomie," Jim Wynn said when it was over, "taking all the glory."

"You don't want me in the act?" answered Morgan. "You and Rusty Staub have been taking all the glory all year. It's about time you leave a little room for me."

Staub, leading the league in hitting at .358 - he went three-for-four Thursday -- and Wynn, tops in runs batted in with 76, have been doing most of Houston's heavy hitting till Morgan's renaissance. But despite their best efforts the club is mired in the cellar, 18 games off the pace.

In other National League games, Atlanta beat Cincinnati 4-1, Philadelphia bounced San Francisco 8-3 and Los Angeles edged New York 7 - 6 in 11 innings.

Morgan, batting as low as .063 at one point in the early going, is now pounding the ball at a .295 clip and is riding an 11-game hitting streak.

Wednesday against Philadelphia, he singled in the winning run in the ninth and Thursday, after Ron Davis tied the game with a run-scoring single, Morgan came up with the winner.

The Braves got all their runs in the first inning, with Hank Aaron and Felipe Alou hitting homers that drove Sammy Ellis from the mound before he could get anybody out. Ken Johnson, 10-4, was the winner.

Billy Cowan and Bobby Wine hit homers in Philadelphia's five-run third inning and Richie Allen got his third homer in as many days in the first. John Boozer went the distance to win his third game.

Jack Fisher, the sixth Mets' pitcher wild-pitched Nate Oliver in with the winning run after the Mets had tied the score with a run in the ninth. Both teams scored three times in the eighth inning of the 3-hour, 50-minute contest.

It was Detroit's fifth victory in six games and lifted them into third place, 3½ games back of the leading White Sox. Baltimore's loss was its sixth in seven and sent the Orioles reeling into eighth place, one percentage point back of Cleveland.

Is Running The Ball Worth It?

LAKE FOREST, Ill. -- They don't pay Charley Johnson to be a coward on Sunday afternoon. But it's not a bad idea.

It's not exactly that the Cardinals want Johnson to run scared. They simply prefer that he not run at all. One - legged quarterbacks are hardly designed for broken field travel in the NFL.

But Johnson isn't ready to concere the point. "I can't do my job if I'm worrying about getting hurt," he says. "The only thing I can worry about is getting those first downs.

"Sometimes, I'm going to have to run. There are going to be third down situations in tight games when I won't be able to stop myself."

On one such situation in the ninth game of 1966, Johnson did run . . . got the first down. . . and probably cost the Big Red a championship.

When he limped off the field at Yankee Stadium with a ligament damage to his right knee, the Cardinals led the Eastern Division by 1 1/2 games. Without him the rest of the way, they won only one of five and finished fourth.

"But I was hurt twice in 1965," he argues, "and on both occasions I had already thrown the pass and was standing still."

So whether they are moving or stable, quarterbacks make appetizing targets. But the Cardinals can't afford to allow Johnson to be a target. They must protect him. And he must cooperate.

During the past four seasons, a healthy Johnson has directed the Big Red to a 29-10-3 record - a victory percentage of .744. Only Bart Starr of the Packers (41-12-3 for .774) boasts a superior winning average.

Over the same period, Johnny Unitas is .709 and Frank Ryan .727.

The rub, of course, is that Johnson frequently has been injured during that four - season stretch. In '65, it was his shoulder and last year it was his knee. With their No. 1 quarterback in sub-par condition or sidelined, the Cardinals have won just two of 14.

With Johnson at the throttle in '66, the Big Red scored 212 points in nine games -- an average of 23-plus per outing. Without him in the final five, they scored 54 -- an average of 10.8.

During that final five - week stretch, the other league members averaged 24 points per game each. And the most ineffectual of the fraternity registered 30 points more than St. Louis.

In the last five games, the Cardinals twice failed to score even one touchdown -- and counted a total of four TD's in their exercises with Pittsburgh (twice), Atlanta, Dallas and Cleveland.

So Johnson's importance to the Cardinals can hardly be overemphasized. With him, they are contenders; without him, they're creampuffs.

In one way, the 28-year-old Texan is stronger than ever before. The results of a strenuous off - season weight program are obvious.

"I didn't put on any weight," he says. "I just rearranged it. But I feel a lot stronger. I can throw harder and for longer stretches. I've got a lot more stamina."

Still, there's the knee. "I'm going to wear a light brace of leather and aluminum," Johnson points out, "and it should protect from the shock of being hit.

"But my knee is still so loose that I could reinjure it myself just running or cutting on it. There's no protection against that."

Except discretion. Be intimidated, Charley. Hide behind Ernie McMillan. Don't run with the ball. Don't stand still without it. Be a coward. Win a championship.

The exhibition pro football season opens Saturday night in Akron, Ohio, which means the championship season in both the National and American Leagues isn't far off.

The Miami Dolphins and the Denver Broncos, two AFL clubs, are pitted against each other in a game that marks the return to the pro sport of Lou Saban.

Saban resigned as coach of the Buffalo Bills to become head coach at the University of Maryland, then left the Terps to become coach at Denver.

The NFL exhibition season opens next Wednesday with New Orleans playing Los Angeles at Anaheim.

Fullback Gene Foster, the last of the San Diego Chargers' three mutineers, returned to training camp Thursday. He was fined a total of $1,600 by Coach - General Manager Sid Gillman. That included $100 for each of six practice drills he missed.

Defensive backs Leslie Duncan and Kenny Graham, who had left camp with Foster, had returned Tuesday and were fined $1,200 each.

Jack Fisher, the sixth Mets' pitcher wild-pitched Nate Oliver in with the winning run after the Mets had tied the score with a run in the ninth. Both teams scored three times in the eighth inning of the 3-hour, 50-minute contest.

It was Detroit's fifth victory in six games and lifted them into third place, 3½ games back of the leading White Sox. Baltimore's loss was its sixth in seven and sent the Orioles reeling into eighth place, one percentage point back of Cleveland.

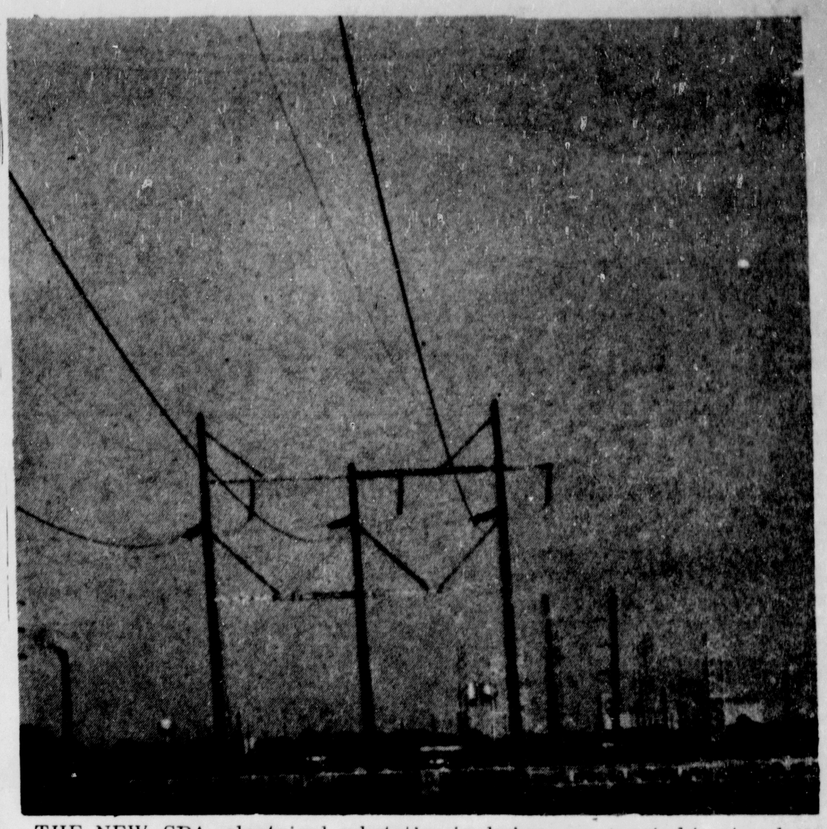
TWO PHASES OF CONSTRUCTION work underway at the site of an electrical power substation one mile west of the city steam plant are illustrated here. Floyd Wolferding, Sikeston, left, is sighting for the building of a concrete footing, while three unidentified men erect a steel support tower. Transformers and other power equipment will be installed before completion in November.



THE NEW SPA electrical substation is being constructed to step down power carried by these 161 KV lines to 69 KV. The power lines pictured come to Sikeston from Idalia. Another high transmission line is being constructed from New Madrid to Sikeston, and it, also, will tie in to transformers to be installed here. The site is a half mile east of Compress Road and Brown Spur Road, and one mile west of the city steam plant.

SPA Constructing Substation Here for High Lines

By Jerry Obermark

A massive electrical substation and power control house is under construction on a 10-acre site about one mile west of the city's electric generating steam plant.

The site is on the north side of Compress Road, one half mile east of the intersection of Compress Road and Brown Spur Road.

Southwestern Power Administration, a company that sells electrical power to municipal utilities and electrical cooperatives, is building the substation, A. D. Coleman, Tulsa, SPA resident engineer, said.

Construction began in early June, and completion is scheduled for November. Most of the concrete footings to support the equipment to be installed and the steel support towers have been built. Many of the towers have been fastened into their settings on the concrete, Coleman noted.

Lanscaping is being done for the control house, but construction on it has not begun yet.

A 37,500 KVA transformer and power control and switching equipment will be installed at the site.

The transformer will step down the current carried by two high voltage lines to the site, E. R. Inman, director of Sikeston Light & Water, said.

One of the high voltage lines, which now bypasses the construction site and carried 69 KV to the steam plant's substation, will be tied into the transformer at the construction site. When this is completed, the line load will be increased to 161 KV. The power will be stepped down by the new transformer to 69 KV.

The current then will be carried by a high voltage wire to the steam plant substation, where a 10,000 KVA transformer will step the voltage down to 13,800 KV, which is the level of the city operation's system.

The 161 IV line, which now carried 69 KV to Sikeston comes, most immediately from Idalia. The power source for the current is the electric generating turbines at Norfolk dam near the Missouri Arkansas border.

Another 161 KV line will tie into facilities at the construction site. It will come from New Madrid and Kennett. A substation served by the same power source was recently completed in Kennett. Another substation will be constructed in New Madrid after the one here is completed, Coleman said.

Power for the line to Kennett, which eventually will reach here, comes from generating facilities at Greer's Ferry in Arkansas, Inman said. The line comes to Kennett from Paragould and Jonesboro, Ark., he added.

While the substation will be owned and operated by SPA, it will benefit Sikeston, Inman said.

When completed, the city will be served by two sources of electrical supply in addition to its own generating facilities. The new substation will more than double the reliability of our power supply, he said.

And, if additional power is needed for new industry or unforeseen load growth, then the power is available through our purchase power contract with SPA, he said.

According to the last engineering study of the projected electrical power requirements here, no additional power purchase increases, or generating facilities will be needed before July, 1972, Inman said.

The Sikeston Light and Power has a power generating capacity of 16,200 KV. This is more than has ever been needed, but it is better to have more power available than to run short, Inman said.

The peak day for electrical usage by Sikeston customers this year to date has been July 11, when demand reached 15,350 kilowatts. Last year the peak demand of 15,500 KW occurred on July 20th.

Neither the 6,000 KV diesel-burning generating facility at the city's plant at 503 East Center, nor the 6,200 KV steam-operating electrical generating facilities, west of the Sikeston Compress, are required to operate at full capacity, Inman said. The city also has two 2,000 KW peaking units, which are used during peak load periods. The peaking units are behind the steam plant.

The city's contract with SPA provides that the city will buy 5,000 KW per month at a cost of $1.50 per KW, or $8,000 per month. The contract has provisions included, whereby the city will increase the amount of power purchased in July, 1968 to 7,000 KW. The contract provides for a 1,000 KW per year increase in subsequent years till 1972, except for 1970, when the increase is 2,000 KW. The city will be buying 12,000 KV per month from SPA in 1972.

The four-man governing board, of the Sikeston Light and Power Co. will decide in 1972, whether to increase the power generating facilities of the city, to increase the power purchase contract with SPA, or to continue the arrangement in force at the time, Inman said.

Radio Announcer Convicted of Molesting Minor

CHARLESTON - Ed Hill, an announcer for the Charleston radio station, was convicted in Scott County Circuit Court Tuesday of molesting a minor with immoral intent.

Hill was sentenced to six months in jail, fined $100 plus costs, and was given until Sept. 14 to appeal his conviction. The jury deliberated only 34 minutes before returning a verdict.

The alleged offense took place Oct. 3, 1966, at the East Prairie offices of radio station KCHR. The complaint signed by Prosecuting Attorney Roderic Ashby stated, in part, that "Ed Hill did . . .with specific criminal intent wilfully, intentionally, unlawfully, deliberately, feloniously, wickedly, and against the order of nature, take indecent or improper liberties with Ronald Wayne Radcliffe, age 16, . . . contrary to the form of statute.

Hill remains free on $2,500 bond pending appeal. He was arrested at East Prairie. A preliminary hearing was held Oct. 20 in magistrate court, and Hill was bound over to circuit court.

He later requested and was granted a change of venue to Scott county circuit court, where he was tried before Judge Marshall Craig Tuesday.

Jury Finds I-H Firm Liable in Suit

BLOOMFIELD -- When the jury handed in its verdict at 11:30 p.m. Wednesday Paul W. McClure, Gideon, was awarded $8,000 in a damage suit he had brought against the International Harvester Co. and the Gideon-Anderson Co., Gideon.

The suit began in New Madrid County and was transferred to Stoddard County on a change of venue. Judge Wm. H. Billings, Kennett, heard the case here. The decision was only against International Harvester.

Circuit Clerk Wm. K. Blue, Bloomfield, said today Mr. McClure's suit sought damages for injuries he sustained when the gas tank cap of an International Harvester tractor he was operating suddenly flew off, and gas, ignited by contact with the tractor's manifold, spewed out, burning Mr. McClure and completely destroying the tractor.

The accident occurred, the suit stated, on March 16, 1966. McClure claimed damages for burns he received on his head and other parts of the body.

Ten of the twelve jurors who heard the case signed the verdict awarding damages to McClure. Only nine signatures were required.

In another suit brought against the same companies by Mr. McClure's wife, Ruby, the jury decided unanimously Wednesday night not to award damages she had sought.

Mrs. McClure's suit asked payment for the loss of her husband's companionship and "services" during the period of his illness because of the burns he had received.

The circuit clerk said Mrs. McClure's suit asked $5,000. Mr. McClure's suit asked $10,000 damages for personal injuries and $5,000 in property damages.

The trial reportedly begun about 9:30 in the morning and was not concluded until 11:30 Wednesday.

Fall Fatal to 15-Year-Old Girl

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — A 15-year-old girl died in a Lawrence hospital Thursday after falling 64 feet from a catwalk to the floor of Hoch Auditorium at the University of Kansas.

Lorraine Kelvin of Clayton, Mo., and another student at the university's 30th annual Midwestern Music and Art Camp, had been walking along the catwalk between the roof and ceiling of the auditorium.

Miss Kelvin apparently blacked out in the 120-degree heat and plunged through the ceiling to the floor of the old basketball court. An unidentified person found her on the floor and notified the authorities.

Miss Kelvin was taken to a hospital were it was found she had suffered multiple compound fractures of both legs and arms and possible internal injuries.

She died a few hours later.

Camp officials said entrances to the catwalk are locked and they do not know how Miss Kelvin and her companion got onto it.

St. Louis political divisions were also active with Joseph B. Moore for the county of St. Louis reporting $4,982; Arthur Friedman for the mayor's office of St. Louis city slightly over $5,000; Leo Lying for the St. Louis Board of Education, $1,217; John B. Connaghan for the City of St. Louis $1,985 and Anthony F. Defillio for the St. Louis Board of Education $1,714.

The Missouri Farmers Association reported close to $10,000 in lobbying expenses most of which went for printing a legislative directory listing the name, home and business address and phone numbers of members of the legislature and sponsorship of a television news program about activities of the legislature.

Another of the larger expenditures reported was by James G. Trimble for the Greater Kansas City Chamber of Commerce of $5,315.

Possibly one of the largest expenses for a single bill was a $4,359 item by Al Bailey on behalf of the resort liquor bill for the St. Louis County Restaurant Association and Missouri Resort Areas Association.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

"The Church must get out of her stagnation. We must move out again into the open air of intellectual discussion with the world."
—Dietrick Bonhoeffer

Dr. David Randolph of Drew University Theological School in Madison, N.J., has taken Bonhoeffer's words very seriously and has acted upon them. He has conceived and carries on a ministry he calls "The Church Without Walls."

One night each week he and three or four theological students go to the corner of Eighth Avenue and 42nd street in New York City. Their purpose is to go "where the action is" . . . not to "save" or scare with the fires of hell, but to minister to the needs of people who otherwise have no church.

As one of the group is speaking, the others talk with individuals, quietly, forcefully, sometimes questioning, sometimes sympathizing. Dr. Randolph explains, "We have gone to Times Square to listen as well as to speak . . . we have sought to harken to reality as it expresses itself at this point of our culture." He feels that only when they truly understand another's point of view can they be of real service.

"Faith is an event with people, a relationship with God that you act upon in life," says Dr. Randolph.

Radio Announcer Convicted of Molesting Minor

CHARLESTON - Ed Hill, an announcer for the Charleston radio station, was convicted in Scott County Circuit Court Tuesday of molesting a minor with immoral intent.

Hill was sentenced to six months in jail, fined $100 plus costs, and was given until Sept. 14 to appeal his conviction. The jury deliberated only 34 minutes before returning a verdict.

The alleged offense took place Oct. 3, 1966, at the East Prairie offices of radio station KCHR. The complaint signed by Prosecuting Attorney Roderic Ashby stated, in part, that "Ed Hill did . . .with specific criminal intent wilfully, intentionally, unlawfully, deliberately, feloniously, wickedly, and against the order of nature, take indecent or improper liberties with Ronald Wayne Radcliffe, age 16, . . . contrary to the form of statute.

Hill remains free on $2,500 bond pending appeal. He was arrested at East Prairie. A preliminary hearing was held Oct. 20 in magistrate court, and Hill was bound over to circuit court.

He later requested and was granted a change of venue to Scott county circuit court, where he was tried before Judge Marshall Craig Tuesday.

Jury Finds I-H Firm Liable in Suit

BLOOMFIELD -- When the jury handed in its verdict at 11:30 p.m. Wednesday Paul W. McClure, Gideon, was awarded $8,000 in a damage suit he had brought against the International Harvester Co. and the Gideon-Anderson Co., Gideon.

The suit began in New Madrid County and was transferred to Stoddard County on a change of venue. Judge Wm. H. Billings, Kennett, heard the case here. The decision was only against International Harvester.

Circuit Clerk Wm. K. Blue, Bloomfield, said today Mr. McClure's suit sought damages for injuries he sustained when the gas tank cap of an International Harvester tractor he was operating suddenly flew off, and gas, ignited by contact with the tractor's manifold, spewed out, burning Mr. McClure and completely destroying the tractor.

The accident occurred, the suit stated, on March 16, 1966. McClure claimed damages for burns he received on his head and other parts of the body.

Ten of the twelve jurors who heard the case signed the verdict awarding damages to McClure. Only nine signatures were required.

In another suit brought against the same companies by Mr. McClure's wife, Ruby, the jury decided unanimously Wednesday night not to award damages she had sought.

Mrs. McClure's suit asked payment for the loss of her husband's companionship and "services" during the period of his illness because of the burns he had received.

The circuit clerk said Mrs. McClure's suit asked $5,000, Mr. McClure's suit asked $10,000 damages for personal injuries and $5,000 in property damages.

The trial reportedly begun about 9:30 in the morning and was not concluded until 11:30 Wednesday.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

"The Church must get out of her stagnation. We must move out again into the open air of intellectual discussion with the world."
—Dietrick Bonhoeffer

Dr. David Randolph of Drew University Theological School in Madison, N.J., has taken Bonhoeffer's words very seriously and has acted upon them. He has conceived and carries on a ministry he calls "The Church Without Walls."

One night each week he and three or four theological students go to the corner of Eighth Avenue and 42nd street in New York City. Their purpose is to go "where the action is" . . . not to "save" or scare with the fires of hell, but to minister to the needs of people who otherwise have no church.

As one of the group is speaking, the others talk with individuals, quietly, forcefully, sometimes questioning, sometimes sympathizing. Dr. Randolph explains, "We have gone to Times Square to listen as well as to speak . . . we have sought to harken to reality as it expresses itself at this point of our culture." He feels that only when they truly understand another's point of view can they be of real service.

"Faith is an event with people, a relationship with God that you act upon in life," says Dr. Randolph.

Scenic Rivers Bill Advances

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate's interior committee has approved a bill which would designate a national wild and scenic rivers system.

The scenic rivers would include the Eleven Point in Missouri and Arkansas.

The bill also would initiate studies to determine if 27 other rivers should be included in the system. Among the 27 is the Gasconade in Missouri.

Sen. Frank Church, D - Idaho, author of the bill, predicted the Senate will approve it promptly. Thirty-six other senators joined him in sponsoring it. It is a revision of a bill which passed the Senate in 1967 but died in the House.

A scenic river area is described as one "unpolluted and which should be left in its pastoral or scenic attractiveness, or that should be restored to that condition to protect, develop and make more accessible its significant national outdoor recreational resources for public use and enjoyment."

Scenic Rivers Bill Advances

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate's interior committee has approved a bill which would designate a national wild and scenic rivers system.

The scenic rivers would include the Eleven Point in Missouri and Arkansas.

The bill also would initiate studies to determine if 27 other rivers should be included in the system. Among the 27 is the Gasconade in Missouri.

Sen. Frank Church, D - Idaho, author of the bill, predicted the Senate will approve it promptly. Thirty-six other senators joined him in sponsoring it. It is a revision of a bill which passed the Senate in 1967 but died in the House.

A scenic river area is described as one "unpolluted and which should be left in its pastoral or scenic attractiveness, or that should be restored to that condition to protect, develop and make more accessible its significant national outdoor recreational resources for public use and enjoyment."

Ann Landers

Men Can't Be Lumped Together

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is presently serving in Vietnam. I have always trusted him implicitly and am confident that under normal conditions he would never stray. But now I wonder. Is it too much to expect that a healthy, virile, young husband will remain faithful while fighting in a combat zone?

I have heard that men who must face danger every day of their lives soon get to thinking, "Why not live it up? Tomorrow I might not be here."

When a fighting man returns, should his wife ask him if he has been faithful? What if he says "no"? And what if she doesn't ask him and he confesses to rid himself of the guilt? What should her attitude be? - MYRTLE BEACH

Dear Myrtle: You can't lump all men together (service or otherwise) and state flatly that they will all react the same way under any given set of circumstances. Some husbands remain faithful even though they are separated from their wives for years. Others go catting around when their wives check into the hospital for five days to have a baby.

A wife should not ask a husband if he has been faithful. If he confesses to an indiscretion she should listen, forgive him and never bring the matter up again.

Dear Ann Landers: A friend of mine who is also 17 has a brother who is semi-retarded. He is 23, nice looking and can carry on a fairly good conversation. According to his sister he has the mentality of a 14-year-old.

My friend takes her brother to meetings where teen-agers gather, and to some social events. I feel uncomfortable around this boy because he really doesn't fit into the group. Everyone is pleasant to him (I am, too, of course) but somehow I think his sister is not doing right by him because one of these days he is going to be in for a big disappointment.

What is your opinion? - R.I. MISS

Dear Miss: The boy's sister sounds like a fine girl and deserves praise, not criticism. Many retarded people progress beautifully when they are encouraged to move around socially. It gives them confidence and adds enormously to their general welfare and outlook. I hope you and the others will continue to treat this young man as you would anyone else.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a member of a swim club. We have several social events during the summer and the women, especially, enjoy putting on dances. I would never dream of going up to a man and asking him to dance with me. The idea of cutting in on a man who is dancing with another woman is simply revolting. Yet, Ann, it seems as if I cannot dance one entire number with my husband. Somebody always cuts in. I feel like a fool having him snatched away in that manner.

I would like to know how to put a stop to this. My husband is very handsome and an extremely good dancer. He knows I am irked about this but he says he can't do anything about it. Is there something I can do? - INDIGNANT

Dear In: Yes, you can grow up and be a gracious wife - or you can continue to do a slow burn and look like a jealous, insecure female.

Do you feel ill at ease . . .out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Women Block Voting Booths

50 years ago
July 28, 1917

Another reason why woman suffrage won't do. It took one Sikeston woman one and a half hours to go to the City Hall and register last Saturday. At that rate they would soon block the booths and mere man would not get in "hollering" distance.

Mrs. Mary Angel died at her home on Ruth street in this city last Friday morning after an illness of several years caused by a cancer.

A big part of the town of Diehlstadt was swept away Tuesday night by a fire that started in a small restaurant, from a gasoline stove. It is reported that everything on the north side of the railroad track was burned.

The Justrite Oil Co., in Sikeston is feeling mighty proud at this time. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. "Ichy" Arthur, Tuesday evening at St. Francis hospital, Cape Girardeau. The same evening a baby girl arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gentry. Both mothers and their babes are doing nicely.

The homes of Harry Pratt and Bill Swinney destroyed in the recent storm, have been rebuilt and were occupied by the respective familes Monday. Both homes were completely torn down and new plans were followed in the construction of the new ones.

Troop 1, Boy Scouts of America, will leave Sunday for a week's camp on Silver Dam. The members of the troup, under Scout Master "Wilbur Ensor, Assistant Scout Master, Wendell Ensor, and Aid, Linn Finley, will be driven to the camp by parents of the members. There are three patrols in the Sikeston troop. The Flying Eagle Patrol is under the leadership of Robert Struwe; the Bob White Patrol under Kendall Sikes; and the Wolf Patrol under Lyman Mitchell.

Among those present were: Eugenia Potashnick, Lillian Righter, Betty Lou Deneke, Mable Greenlee, Nadine Greenlee, Dorothy Ann Holt and Marilyn Joyce of Flint, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. James Turner of Sikeston are parents of a daughter born Thursday afternoon at St. Francis Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Funeral services will be conducted for Mrs. Hattie K. Wilson, 64 years old, at the Sikeston Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon.

Holdup Man on FBI List

ALFRED JOHNSON COOPER, JR.

WASHINGTON -- Alfred Johnson Cooper, a "mean tempered" holdup man who is currently charged with robbery, shooting a policeman and kidnaping, has been added to the FBI's list of Ten Most Wanted Fugitives.

On Sept. 28, 1966, in Cinnaminson Township, New Jersey, Cooper and two accomplices allegedly were robbing a gas station when a policeman drove up. A vicious gun battle ensued and the policeman was shot several times, losing the sight of one of his eyes. The officer's return fire wounded two of the robbers and the three bandits then fled in the car of a passing woman motorist whom they kidnaped and forced to drive them to Camden, New Jersey. The hostage was released there unharmed.

Cooper's two alleged accomplices have been apprehended and he is currently sought based on a Federal warrant issued at Camden, New Jersey, on October 20, 1966, which charges him with unlawful interstate flight to avoid prosecution for robbery, assault and battery of a law enforcement officer and kidnaping.

Cooper's first criminal conviction occurred in 1957 at Bordentown, New Jersey, when he was given an indeterminate maximum sentence on a charge of larceny.

In May, 1960, he was arrested for assault and robbery in New Brunswick, New Jersey, and attempted to escape confinement a month later. Upon conviction, he received concurrent terms of four to six years for assault and robbery and two to three years for escape and was incarcerated at the New Jersey State Prison at Trenton.

A Negro American, who was reportedly born in Camden, New Jersey, on Sept. 13, 1936, Cooper is 5' 8" tall, weighs 160 to 165 pounds, has a medium build, a medium complexion, brown eyes and black hair. He has two scars on the knuckles of his right hand, a burn scar on his right arm, a vaccination scar on his left shoulder, three scars on his left knee, a scar on his left forearm and a scar on the left checkbone. He may wear a mustache.

Described as "very mean" and not reluctant to harm anyone attempting to apprehend him, Cooper is said to enjoy gambling at cards and dice and frequenting bars. He is known to dress neatly, but does not like to wear a tie and although Cooper has never boxed professionally, he likes to box and works out in gyms to keep in good physical condition. He has been employed in the past as a bartender, cook, short order cook, kitchen helper, laborer, and bus boy.

Since Cooper is charged with the brutal shooting of a policeman, he should be considered armed and extremely dangerous.

Should any person have information concerning Cooper, he is requested to notify the nearest office of the FBI, the telephone number of which may be found on the first page of telephone directories.

Commission on Tourism Adopted

WARRENSBURG (AP) - The Commission on Tourism was signed into law Wednesday by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes at a dinner in honor of Will W. Davis, the governor's press secretary.

Davis, who is expected to become the commission's first director, drafted the first version of the bill enacted by the 1967 Legislature.

Upon receiving the "gratitude and appreciation" of several organizations, Davis said the bill was the result of efforts by many people who want to see Missouri attract more tourists.

The bill places tourist promotion under an independent state agency. Previously it was handled by the Division of Commerce and Industrial Development.

The dinner was at the Warrensburg motel where representatives of several organizations met more than three years ago to launch a broader program for promoting tourist business.

The Missouri Motel Association sponsored the dinner.

Nonfarm Employment Shows Increase

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Nonfarm employment showed a seasonal increase in June, Employment Security Director Herman Julian reported.

The June total was 1,594,100 compared with 1,577,400 in May. That was 26,000 more jobs than June of last year.

Julien attributed the increase to the usual influx of students and others seeking summer jobs.

The average weekly number of those seeking unemployment benefits dropped from 24,843 in May to 20,310 in June.

If You Were the Judge

No Need to Retreat from One's Own Residence

By Jack Strauss, LL.D.

When Margie retreated from Bill's advances, he took it like a sport. A bad one. He grabbed a nearby butcher's knife and went after her with a vengeance. But before she could become Bill's victim, Marge managed to reach a gun that she kept in her bedroom drawer and shot Bill dead.

Charged with murder, Marge pleaded "self-defense."

"That's no defense," responded the district attorney. "Under the law, a person who is under attack must make every effort to run away before killing her attacker. In this case, Marge made no effort to get away. She ran for a gun instead of the street."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you convict Marge of murdering her overly-aggressive boyfriend!

This is how the judge ruled! No! The judge held that there is a common-law duty to "retreat to the wall" when one is attacked, but there is no such duty when one is assaulted in his own home. A person's home is his ultimate sanctuary. (Based upon a 1965 Florida Supreme Court Decision)

Ann Landers

Men Can't Be Lumped Together

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is presently serving in Vietnam. I have always trusted him implicitly and am confident that under normal conditions he would never stray. But now I wonder. Is it too much to expect that a healthy, virile, young husband will remain faithful while fighting in a combat zone?

I have heard that men who must face danger every day of their lives soon get to thinking, "Why not live it up? Tomorrow I might not be here."

When a fighting man returns, should his wife ask him if he has been faithful? What if he says "no"? And what if she doesn't ask him and he confesses to rid himself of the guilt? What should her attitude be? - MYRTLE BEACH

Dear Myrtle: You can't lump all men together (service or otherwise) and state flatly that they will all react the same way under any given set of circumstances. Some husbands remain faithful even though they are separated from their wives for years. Others go catting around when their wives check into the hospital for five days to have a baby.

A wife should not ask a husband if he has been faithful. If he confesses to an indiscretion she should listen, forgive him and never bring the matter up again.

Dear Ann Landers: A friend of mine who is also 17 has a brother who is semi-retarded. He is 23, nice looking and can carry on a fairly good conversation. According to his sister he has the mentality of a 14-year-old.

My friend takes her brother to meetings where teen-agers gather, and to some social events. I feel uncomfortable around this boy because he really doesn't fit into the group. Everyone is pleasant to him (I am, too, of course) but somehow I think his sister is not doing right by him because one of these days he is going to be in for a big disappointment.

What is your opinion? - R.L. MISS

Dear Miss: The boy's sister sounds like a fine girl and deserves praise, not criticism. Many retarded people progress beautifully when they are encouraged to move around socially. It gives them confidence and adds enormously to their general welfare and outlook. I hope you and the others will continue to treat this young man as you would anyone else.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a member of a swim club. We have several social events during the summer and the women, especially, enjoy putting on dances. I would never dream of going up to a man and asking him to dance with me. The idea of cutting in on a man who is dancing with another woman is simply revolting. Yet, Ann, it seems as if I cannot dance one entire number with my husband. Somebody always cuts in. I feel like a fool having him snatched away in that manner.

I would like to know how to put a stop to this. My husband is very handsome and an extremely good dancer. He knows I am irked about this but he says he can't do anything about it. Is there something I can do? - INDIGNANT

Dear In: Yes, you can grow up and be a gracious wife - or you can continue to do a slow burn and look like a jealous, insecure female.

Do you feel ill at ease . . .out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Women Block Voting Booths

Another reason why woman suffrage won't do. It took one Sikeston woman one and a half hours to go to the City Hall and register last Saturday. At that rate they would soon block the booths and mere man would not get in "hollering" distance.

Mrs. Mary Angel died at her home on Ruth street in this city last Friday morning after an illness of several years caused by a cancer.

The Justrite Oil Co., in Sikeston is feeling mighty proud at this time. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. "Ichy" Arthur, Tuesday evening at St. Francis hospital, Cape Girardeau. The same evening a baby girl arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gentry. Both mothers and their babes are doing nicely.

The homes of Harry Pratt and Bill Swinney destroyed in the recent storm, have been rebuilt and were occupied by the respective familes Monday. Both homes were completely torn down and new plans were followed in the construction of the new ones.

Troop 1, Boy Scouts of America, will leave Sunday for a week's camp on Silver Dam. The members of the troup, under Scout Master "Wilbur Ensor, Assistant Scout Master, Wendell Ensor, and Aid, Linn Finley, will be driven to the camp by parents of the members. There are three patrols in the Sikeston troop. The Flying Eagle Patrol is under the leadership of Robert Struwe; the Bob White Patrol under Kendall Sikes; and the Wolf Patrol under Lyman Mitchell.

Holdup Man on FBI List

ALFRED JOHNSON COOPER, JR.

WASHINGTON -- Alfred Johnson Cooper, a "mean tempered" holdup man who is currently charged with robbery, shooting a policeman and kidnaping, has been added to the FBI's list of Ten Most Wanted Fugitives.

On Sept. 28, 1966, in Cinnaminson Township, New Jersey, Cooper and two accomplices allegedly were robbing a gas station when a policeman drove up. A vicious gun battle ensued and the policeman was shot several times, losing the sight of one of his eyes. The officer's return fire wounded two of the robbers and the three bandits then fled in the car of a passing woman motorist whom they kidnaped and forced to drive them to Camden, New Jersey. The hostage was released there unharmed.

Cooper's two alleged accomplices have been apprehended and he is currently sought based on a Federal warrant issued at Camden, New Jersey, on October 20, 1966, which charges him with unlawful interstate flight to avoid prosecution for robbery, assault and battery of a law enforcement officer and kidnaping.

Cooper's first criminal conviction occurred in 1957 at Bordentown, New Jersey, when he was given an indeterminate maximum sentence on a charge of larceny.

In May, 1960, he was arrested for assault and robbery in New Brunswick, New Jersey, and attempted to escape confinement a month later. Upon conviction, he received concurrent terms of four to six years for assault and robbery and two to three years for escape and was incarcerated at the New Jersey State Prison at Trenton.

A Negro American, who was reportedly born in Camden, New Jersey, on Sept. 13, 1936, Cooper is 5' 8" tall, weighs 160 to 165 pounds, has a medium build, a medium complexion, brown eyes and black hair. He has two scars on the knuckles of his right hand, a burn scar on his right arm, a vaccination scar on his left shoulder, three scars on his left knee, a scar on his left forearm and a scar on the left checkbone. He may wear a mustache.

Described as "very mean" and not reluctant to harm anyone attempting to apprehend him, Cooper is said to enjoy gambling at cards and dice and frequenting bars. He is known to dress neatly, but does not like to wear a tie and although Cooper has never boxed professionally, he likes to box and works out in gyms to keep in good physical condition. He has been employed in the past as a bartender, cook, short order cook, kitchen helper, laborer, and bus boy.

Since Cooper is charged with the brutal shooting of a policeman, he should be considered armed and extremely dangerous.

Should any person have information concerning Cooper, he is requested to notify the nearest office of the FBI, the telephone number of which may be found on the first page of telephone directories.

Rising Food Prices May Bring on New Wave of Housewife Protests

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The rise in food prices now under way is taking on some of the characteristics that last year stirred up housewife protests against the nation's foodstores.

Leading all price increases last month was the price of food. Fruits and vegetables were 3 per cent higher than in May, and poultry and fish prices showed increases of just slightly less.

As if this wasn't bad news enough, rising wholesale prices bar any optimistic hopes that the increase will level off next month.

Instead, food prices are almost bound to go higher, carrying with them the tempers of housewives.

Almost all consumers seem able to tolerate with a frustrated grumble the routine increases in the cost of living. To many people, higher prices seem almost inevitable.

It is when the high costs are most pronounced in the food sector, the area of greatest consumer spending, that the ineffective grumbling becomes active protest.

Unlike clothing, which may be purchased for a season, food usually is purchased in small quantities. It is a repetitive activity, and so price increases have multiple exposure.

But there is more to it than that. The great consuming public once was a disorganized mass. Now it is threaded together by various consumer groups and has found a sympathetic ear and even leadership in Washington.

Other factors are at work, also. The food consumer is constantly changing his habits as the variety of choices grows. He is, perhaps, less predictable. At least you may judge so by the number of studies now being conducted.

This week the National Industrial Conference Board—nonprofit, largely business supported—completed a study on how familes spend. It discovered a hint of why some housewives are more activist than before. A third of consumer buying, it said, is now represented by families with a working wife.

As in the past, much of this home-maker distress over rising food prices might lead to the usual reactions: more shopping for bargains, buying of lower-priced meats, denunciations of shopping games and trading stamps.

A good deal of the resentment will be reflected at the retail outlet, the contact point between the purchaser and the food industry, although rising costs often are not the retailer's fault.

In response, you may expect the retailers to countercharge that the American family today spends a smaller percentage of his income on food than ever.

There can be no quibbling with this percentage, In 1966, only 24.5 per cent of personal consumption spending was for food, beverages and tobacco. A century ago the percentage was well over 50. It has fallen steadily.

The real explanation is found in the nation's rising productivity. Take-home pay today is larger almost every year. The food percentage has dropped, not just because food might be a bargain, but because incomes are rising.

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — John Monroe Osborn, 21, was fitted with a new suit, new shoes and given money for a bus ticket and was released from the Missouri State Penitentiary Tuesday.

Woman's First Ladder Climb Saves 2 Lives

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Mrs. Emma Jean Henry's first attempt at climbing a ladder saved two lives.

The lives were those of two of her sons, who were trapped in the attic of their home Thursday after lightning set it on fire.

Both boys, Kevin Henry, 11, and Donald, 6, were taken to a hospital, where they are said to be in satisfactory condition. They have second and third-degree burns.

Mrs. Henry said the ladder didn't belong to her. A friend left it there a few months ago.

"There was no real use for it, but it sure came in handy this morning," Mrs. Henry said.

She remembered the ladder when flames broke out in the attic. Her four other sons and two daughters dashed to safety, but the other two boys said they couldn't get through the flames on the stairway.

Mrs. Henry grabbed the ladder and propped it against a second story window.

"When I got up there, the 11-year-old son was pushing the six-year-old towards me. I carried him down a couple of rungs, then dropped him and went back for the 11-year-old."

A sister, Jackie, 17, said:

"If we hadn't gotten that ladder, I don't know if we could have gotten them out at all."

Present rate for first class letters is five cents an ounce, for post cards four cents, air mail letters eight cents and air mail post cards six cents.

War Cripples Key Figure in Kennedy Funeral

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — In 1963 Army Lt. Samuel R. Bird commanded the eight-man military entourage that ushered President John F. Kennedy's casket to Arlington National Cemetery.

Today, Bird, now a captain, must be carried or wheeled wherever he goes through the long corridors of Kennedy Veterans Administration Hospital here.

Bird, of Wichita, Kan., is a casualty of the war in Vietnam. An enemy sniper's bullet last Jan. 27 left him with crippling brain damage, and he is unable to use his legs.

Only a quick evacuation by helicopter saved his life, and there still is doubt of a complete recovery.

"With all the drive Sam's got, he'll make it," said Richard E. Bird, a retired Kansas lumberman and father of the wounded soldier.

The elder Bird arrived in Memphis earlier this week, right after his son who was transferred from the military hospital at San Antonio, Tex.

"I had him brought here because this is known as the best rehabilitation center in the country," Bird said.

Woman's First Ladder Climb Saves 2 Lives

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Mrs. Emma Jean Henry's first attempt at climbing a ladder saved two lives.

The lives were those of two of her sons, who were trapped in the attic of their home Thursday after lightning set it on fire.

Both boys, Kevin Henry, 11, and Donald, 6, were taken to a hospital, where they are said to be in satisfactory condition. They have second and third-degree burns.

Mrs. Henry said the ladder didn't belong to her. A friend left it there a few months ago.

"There was no real use for it, but it sure came in handy this morning," Mrs. Henry said.

She remembered the ladder when flames broke out in the attic. Her four other sons and two daughters dashed to safety, but the other two boys said they couldn't get through the flames on the stairway.

Mrs. Henry grabbed the ladder and propped it against a second story window.

"When I got up there, the 11-year-old son was pushing the six-year-old towards me. I carried him down a couple of rungs, then dropped him and went back for the 11-year-old."

A sister, Jackie, 17, said:

"If we hadn't gotten that ladder, I don't know if we could have gotten them out at all."

War Cripples Key Figure in Kennedy Funeral

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — In 1963 Army Lt. Samuel R. Bird commanded the eight-man military entourage that ushered President John F. Kennedy's casket to Arlington National Cemetery.

Today, Bird, now a captain, must be carried or wheeled wherever he goes through the long corridors of Kennedy Veterans Administration Hospital here.

Bird, of Wichita, Kan., is a casualty of the war in Vietnam. An enemy sniper's bullet last Jan. 27 left him with crippling brain damage, and he is unable to use his legs.

Only a quick evacuation by helicopter saved his life, and there still is doubt of a complete recovery.

"With all the drive Sam's got, he'll make it," said Richard E. Bird, a retired Kansas lumberman and father of the wounded soldier.

The elder Bird arrived in Memphis earlier this week, right after his son who was transferred from the military hospital at San Antonio, Tex.

"I had him brought here because this is known as the best rehabilitation center in the country," Bird said.
